NO DEBT ACTION: ROOSEVELT

Bond Issue, Sales Tax Win in State Senate

IGOE AND TICE BILLS PASSED IN NIGHT SESSION

Horner and Cermak Watch Action.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 23 [2 a. m.]—[Special.]—The Illinois senate early this morning completed the passage of the legislative program for the relief of the idle of the state. It passed the Igoe bill authorizing Cook county to issue $17,000,000 in relief bonds and the Tice optional county sales tax bill.

This action marked what is considered the actual windup of the fourth special session of the general assembly. The technical sine die adjournment may not come until late in December but no further legislation is looked for because of the difficulty of obtaining attendance sufficient for the two-thirds vote required for emergency measures.

Tice Bill Has Tight Squeeze.

The closing hours of the senate meeting, which really began its work with the arrival of a new legislative day at midnight, was one of the tightest squeezes seen in either house in many years. That battle came on the Tice bill which first was defeated, then was reconsidered and finally was passed with exactly the 34 votes necessary.

At an afternoon session this chamber concurred by 40 to 0 in house amendments to the Meents bill permitting counties to issue bonds financed by the issuing counties' share of the 3 cent state gasoline tax and favorable action on the remaining two bills of the relief program was considered certain.

Trouble Appears Ahead.

That action was taken on the Igoe bill with no outspoken opposition, the vote being 38 to 0 with three senators silent in their seats. This was the first warning there was trouble in sight for the Tice bill. And the opposition to the second measure appeared as soon as it was called up for passage.

It was said to have been organized by Senator Harry G. Wright, who was a disappointed contender for the office of state auditor and who has been given the nickname of "duck" because he avoids voting on many important roll calls. He has been silent on the Igoe bill and soon was heard predicting the defeat of the Tice bill.

Cermak Urges Action.

Governor Elect Horner and Mayor Cermak of Chicago attended the midnight session and the Chicago mayor and Edward L. Ryerson Jr., chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, addressed the senators urging the passage of the sales tax bill as the fulfillment of one of the assurances given the Reconstruction Finance corporation at Washington.

Senator Henry M. Dunlap of Savoy, a lame duck, opened the oratorical fight by insisting that the sales tax measure was unnecessary, and he rallied a number of other lame ducks to his side, including John R. Hamilton [Rep., Mattoon], Louis Hanna [Rep., Monmouth], Charles E. Lee [Rep., Decatur], and Harry Wilson [Rep., Pinckneyville].

Courtney Saves the Bill.

But the first roll call totaled 29 to 9—the affirmatives falling five votes short of the goal. Then began a protracted series of maneuvers, started off by Thomas J. Courtney, minority leader and state's attorney elect of Cook county, with a change of his vote to the prevailing side in order to move a reconsideration. Then he moved reconsideration of the resolution adjourning the assembly today [Wednesday] until December 6.

This brought protests from many who did not wish to change the plan of holding merely perfunctory sessions until a sine die adjournment shortly before New Year's, and senators who had voted against the bill or had been silent began to indicate a willingness to change their votes if the previous action were reconsidered.

Wright, believing his activities had defeated the bill, had taken his hat and coat and disappeared. With him off the scene Courtney's motion to reconsider the apparently fatal action was passed, 34 to 1, and the new roll call was begun.

Bertrand Arnold, 16 year old Riverside high school student, who killed his grandmother when she refused to let him have her car, was lodged in the county jail last night.

Before entering his cell in the jail block reserved for pickpockets, auto thieves and hoodlums under legal age, the youth was again examined by three state alienists, who are seeking to determine whether he was legally sane last Friday night, when he beat to death Mrs. Ellen Saxe, 60 years old, and dropped her body into a cistern.

The alienists are Dr. H. Douglas Singer, psychiatrist of the University of Illinois; Dr. Francis J. Gerty, superintendent of the psychopathic hospital, and Dr. Harry Hoffman, director of the Criminal court behavior clinic.

Withhold Findings.

Exploring the boy's mind with subtle questions and seeking an explanation of his act in some complex of his childhood, the alienists were unprepared last night to make public their conclusion as to whether Arnold knows the difference between right and wrong. Their report will be made today.

Reiterating their determination to abide by the report, whether it pronounces the boy sane or mad, Assistant State's Attorneys Harry Ditchburne and Thomas Johnson Jr. hinted that they expect an opinion affirming his sanity.

"If the report affirms his ability to distinguish between right and wrong we will be ready to present the case to the grand jury Wednesday afternoon or on Thursday at the latest," Mr. Johnson said. "In accordance with the recommendation of the coroner's jury, we will ask a murder indictment. It will be time enough to decide what penalty we shall ask when the case goes to trial."

Plan Insanity Defense.

Regardless of the finding of the state alienists, the defense will maintain that Bert is insane, it was indicated. His father, C. B. Arnold, president of a Chicago woodenware company, has retained the law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin. They, too, have an alienist, Dr. James Whitney Hall.

Mr. Arnold conferred in the afternoon with Weymouth Kirkland, head of the law firm, and with David Jacker, junior member, who represented the boy at the coroner's inquest, and with Dr. Hall. The alienist, who has also examined the boy, declined to announce his opinion, but said he would submit a report today.

State's First Move.

"It's their first move," said Attorney Jacker, referring to the prosecution staff. "They may not indict him at all. I might say that if they do indict, the issue may be raised as to the credibility and sufficiency of the motive the boy advanced for the crime. It seems hardly possible that a boy of normal mind would kill his grandmother for the trivial reason advanced in this case."

Refreshed by nine hours' sleep in the Hotel Sherman suite engaged by his father, the prisoner arose at 10 a. m. yesterday and shared breakfast with his guards, Policemen Francis Caraher and Edward Powers. At 1:30 p. m. his father came to visit him, accompanied by a family friend.

The father remained 15 minutes and then departed for a conference with Attorney Kirkland. Attorney Jacker and Dr. Hall also visited briefly with the boy.

Plays Cards With Guards.

"These policemen are pretty nice fellows," the boy said. "I used to think all officers were hard boiled, but Frank and Ed, here, have been mighty considerate. We played cards together until after midnight."

One new angle to the case came out in the boy's visit with Dr. Hall. He told the alienist that after killing Mrs. Saxe, driving off to the dance, and returning to drop her body in the cistern, he had reëntered the house a third time.

"I was about two blocks on my way when I decided to go back to get a keepsake of my father," he said. "It was hard and I was scared, but I turned back and went to its room and

Rob Wieboldt's Highland Park Home of Gems

An armed bandit entered the home of Werner A. Wieboldt, president of the Wieboldt Stores, Inc., at 700 McDaniels avenue, Highland Park, last night, and after terrorizing a maid with his pistols escaped with jewelry of undetermined value.

Police said that the loss was at least $2,000, but it was believed possible that the loot would amount to more than that estimate. An inventory will be made today to determine what gems were taken.

Family Away from Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wieboldt were away at a dinner party in Lake Forest, and the maid, Florence Gilligan, was in her room when the robber entered. He got into the house through a locked door. He went directly to the servant's room.

The bandit forced Miss Gilligan to show him Mrs. Wieboldt's room. While he ransacked the place, the maid ran outside and notified H. S. Galley, the gardener, and his son, Herbert. They armed themselves and started for the house. They intercepted Werner Wieboldt Jr., 14 years old, who was just returning home.

Bandit Escapes Into Woods.

A moment later Policeman Roland Demgen appeared. He entered the house through the rear. The bandit fled through the front, too swiftly for the Galleys to fire at him. He disappeared in the Skokie valley woods. Early this morning Police Chief Edward Moroney and his men were still looking for him.

24 MILES APART, TALK WITH AID OF LIGHT BEAM

It was the longest narrow casting experiment on record. During a part of the experiment John Bellamy Taylor, who developed transmitting sound over light waves, was interviewed by Heywood Broun, newspaper columnist, who was at Schenectady while Taylor was at Lake Desolation.

Taylor's voice came over the beam slightly distorted, but occasionally it was heard clearly.

The longest previous narrow casting experiment was last spring from Schenectady with the navy dirigible Los Angeles two miles away.

House to Pass Bill for Beer, Garner Pledge

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Speaker John N. Garner [Dem., Tex.] pledged today the full force of his leadership to give the country beer this winter. He predicted the Volstead act would be amended at the short session of congress starting on Dec. 5.

The speaker returned to Washington to greet President Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt and actively to resume his duties as manager of the house during the "lame duck" session. At the end of that he will leave the house after 28 consecutive years there and will become Vice President, presiding officer of the senate.

House to Vote Beer.

"The house will pass a beer bill in the short session," he said flatly.

The speaker declared the most bitter fight against a beer bill will come in the senate.

Mr. Garner was confident, however that the procession of pledges of support from dry southern senators promised enough votes to assure the adoption of beer legislation in the upper house.

With present prospects pointing to the introduction of modification legislation early enough in the session to forestall a sustained filibuster by senate drys, congressional leaders were of the opinion that the question of beer this winter finally would hinge on whether President Hoover would veto it. The White House remained silent on that point following its rebuke yesterday of Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.] for coming direct from a conference with the President and predicting Mr. Hoover would not veto a beer bill.

Predicts 3% Beer.

Speaker Garner said he expected the beer bill presented to the house would provide for "about 3 per cent alcoholic content." He referred to 3 per cent by weight, which is equivalent to about 4 per cent by volume. The legislation he declared, would be "within constitutional limits" and would assure the federal government from 250 million to 300 million dollars annually in taxes.

The speaker added that if business picks up and beer is legalized, there should be no further need for additional taxes, declaring tax rates now are high enough.

8,000 Pupils Rebel Against 'Terror Rule'

The 8,000 pupils and more than 100 members of the faculty of the J. Sterling Morton High school, 24th street and Austin boulevard, Cicero, were in revolt yesterday against what was termed "hoodlum terrorism" in the school.

Forty men, paid at the rate of $140 a month, were patrolling the corridors of the school building which covers an entire block. They were there to maintain discipline, it was claimed. Several teachers complained that these men had proved themselves objectionable in their attitude towards the girl and boy pupils and the teachers.

Members of the faculty declared that the "house dicks," as they are called, slapped pupils and knocked them about for minor infringements of the school rules. These men are said to be political appointees.

Unite to Change Conditions.

Both pupils and teachers have organized to correct the conditions about which they complain, it was said. The town is in the throes of a revolt against the board of education, according to the complainants.

A circular was distributed. It was signed by the "Morton Students' Protective association," and teachers said yesterday that it was being paid for by faculty members under the name of "The Secret Four."

"Down with the dicks" is the heading on the circular, after which it reads:

"The next time a house dick snatches anything out of your hands, curses you, or makes any insulting remarks to your girl friend get a gang of your pals and show the hoodlum that it is safer to be hustling beer for Capone.

Object to "Police Methods."

"The only supervision Morton High school needs is that given us by our regular teachers, as it always used to be. We object to the police methods now being forced upon us.

"Tell your folks to:

"1. Ask the board where the $7,000 interest money the teachers had coming went to. The bond house didn't get it; the teachers didn't get it. Who did?

"2. Ask the board where the $6,000 night school tuition money went to. Night school teachers didn't get it. Who did?

"3. Ask the board why between 35 and 45 wholly unnecessary teachers, teacher-clerks, and clerks have been shoved into the high school since Sept. 19 with orders that jobs be found or made for them? Who are their sponsors? Is this economy in politics?

Charge Untrained Teachers.

"4. Ask the board why they are replacing well trained teachers with untrained or inexperienced teachers? Tell your parents what will happen if Morton is taken off the accredited list because of these new teachers.

"5. Tell your parents that by joining a parent-teacher association they can protect our school from the blood suckers who are bleeding our district white."

Frank A. Svoboda, president of the Cicero board of education, said the charges are political propaganda. The board members are elected by popular vote each year and President Svoboda is up for reëlection next spring.

"The school is being run right," Svoboda said. "The so-called hoodlums are men of family and were put in the school building to maintain order. There are some matrons there also, and all are needed because of the size of the building and the number of pupils."

Charge Politics Reigns.

Teachers charged that Svoboda is trying to make places for Republicans discharged last spring when the city elected all Democratic officials to office, ousting the former president of the town board, Joseph Z. Klenha, who had held sway for twelve years. All the former political jobholders were discharged and most of the present school policemen were former employés of the Klenha administration, the teachers said.

"One of my best pupils was knocked down this morning by a house dick," said a teacher yesterday afternoon.

The high school district is a separate entity, not under the control of the president of the Cicero town board. It includes the town of Berwyn and other communities, it was explained.

Inasmuch as there is no one superior to President Svoboda to whom an appeal could be made, teachers said, the present plan is to wait until Thomas J. Courtney takes office as state's attorney and then ask him to investigate all the conditions, including the charges of pay roll padding.

TELLS HOOVER HE CANNOT ACT UNTIL IN OFFICE

Hints He Opposes Any Reduction.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—In his two hour conference with President Hoover today President Elect Roosevelt flatly declined to join in action looking to a revision of the 11 billion dollar war debts downward.

President Hoover strove in vain to persuade his successor to co-operate in urging congress to reconstitute the war debt funding commission for the purpose of reopening the debt settlements and reviewing the present capacity of the debtors to pay.

Holds Aloof Until March.

Gov. Roosevelt adhered unswervingly to his previously assumed position that he would not associate himself with any action on the debts prior to taking office on March 4 and that the responsibility for action in the meantime rests exclusively with the present administration and the present congress.

Moreover, the President elect indicated that he is unconvinced that the debtors are unable to discharge obligations that constitute only 2 or 3 per cent of their annual budgets.

White House Sees Progress.

"The President and Gov. Roosevelt traversed at length the subjects mentioned in their telegraphic communication. It is felt that progress has been made. The President confers with the members of the congress tomorrow, when the subject will be further pursued."

Puzzled by Hoover Report.

This statement, it transpired, was issued on the authority and at the direction of President Hoover, Gov. Roosevelt having declined to be a party to a joint statement.

After returning to his hotel from the White House and being shown the President's statement the governor declined to discuss the conference for publication or to comment on Mr. Hoover's version of it.

It was evident, however, that Mr. Roosevelt was puzzled by Mr. Hoover's report that progress had been made. On behalf of the President it was explained later that Mr. Hoover felt he had succeeded to some extent in "softening" the resistance of Mr. Roosevelt to the proposition of reopening the debt settlements.

Leaders Cool to Proposals.

An equally cold reception of his proposals is in store for the President when he meets with Vice President Elect Garner and the ranking members of the senate finance and house ways and means committees tomorrow.

The Democrats of this group called on the President elect at the Mayflower hotel tonight following the National Press club dinner to the governor and came away applauding Mr. Roosevelt's stand.

As a result of his failure to obtain support in any quarter the President will be compelled to return a reply to the petitioning debtors blasting their hopes of suspension of the 125 million dollars of payments due the United States on Dec. 15 and of a reopening of the debt settlements at an early date.

The President, however, is expected to make the gesture of recommending to congress the revival of the debt funding commission although realizing that no action will be taken thereon by the present congress and that the whole question of the debts will go over to the Democratic administration and the new congress.

In Red Drawing Room.

The meeting between the incoming and outgoing executives took place in the red drawing room of the White House. They sat at a table on which reposed a pitcher of ice water and four glasses. At the right of President Hoover sat Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills. At the right of Gov. Roosevelt sat his economics adviser, Prof. Raymond Moley of Columbia university.

Messrs. Hoover and Mills smoked cigars, Messrs. Roosevelt and Moley cigarets. Mr. Roosevelt addressed Mr. Hoover as "Mr. President." Mr. Hoover addressed the President elect as "Governor." To Mr. Mills the President elect was "Frank," to Mr. Roosevelt the treasury secretary was "Ogden."

Roosevelt Remains Adamant.

The discussion was informal and unconstrained. Although addressing each other with formality, Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt got on famously, according to all accounts. Mr. Mills and Dr. Moley took a great liking to each other.

The social amenities, however, did not influence the result. Gov. Roosevelt remained adamant against the arguments the President employed to obtain his successor's support of debt revision.

When it became apparent that the President elect would not recede from the attitude he assumed in his reply to the President's invitation the other participants in the conference withdrew and left the two central figures alone. With no witnesses they thus talked for 15 minutes at the end of which time Mr. Hoover opened the door of the drawing room, signifying that the meeting was at an end.

Greets Democratic Leaders.

Twenty-two Democratic senators and representatives composed the group that met with the President elect at his hotel late tonight. They were:

Senators Harrison, King, Thomas of Oklahoma, Ashurst, Hull, McKellar, Swanson, Costigan, George of Georgia, and Speaker Garner, Representative Rainey [Ill.], Collier [Miss.], Jones [Tex.], McDuffie [Ala.], Byrns [Tenn.], Ragon [Ark.], Johnson [Tex.], Vinson [Ky.], McReynolds [Tenn.], Pou [N. C.].

At this meeting there was a protracted discussion of the debts. Mr. Roosevelt informed his fellow Democrats that he had not committed himself on the question of debt revision in the conference with the President, and assured them that he did not wish to dictate to them what course they should pursue.

They informed him that they are unanimously opposed to any extension of the moratorium and to reduction, much less cancellation of the debts.

Discuss Many Subjects.

The discussion ranged over many other subjects, includnig beer, revenue, economy, and farm relief. There was much debate on the matter of an extra session of the new congress in the spring. Most of the Democratic legislators evinced opposition to an extra session.

A prevalent opinion was that whether an extra session would be required would depend on whether a beer bill is enacted before March 4 and the budget balanced. If these things are not accomplished an extra session would be imperative, it was agreed.

According to one version of the historic meeting at the White House this afternoon, President Hoover sought to enlist Gov. Roosevelt's indorsement of debt revision by the same tactics that he found successful in obtaining Democratic support of the Hoover moratorium in June, 1931.

The President painted an alarming picture of economic chaos into which the world will be plunged still more deeply unless the United States lightens the debt burdens of the debtor nations. From such postponement of recovery the United States will suffer as much as other nations, according to the Hoover view.

Gov. Roosevelt, this version has it, was not greatly moved by the President's efforts to inspire fear of the future. He indicated that in his view economic recovery will be prompted by the Democratic program of tariff reduction and removal of exchange restrictions whereby the debtors will be enabled to pay their debts in goods.

The discussion covered several subjects in addition to war debts, though related thereto. Among them were disarmament and the projected international economic conference. The former came up in connection with the view held by many Democrats and Republicans that debt revision would be warranted if the European debtors would reduce their budgets by reduction of armaments. The economic conference figured in discussion of the question of including war debt revision in the agenda.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 22.—While the French government is balking at paying the $19,261,432 due the United States on Dec. 15 on its war debt, it has not hesitated to push ahead with a number of costly national pegawa, of which the most striking is the new superluxury liner, Normandie.

The Normandie, which will repair the blow to French maritime pride inflicted by the success of the German liners, Bremen and Europa, takes enough out of the treasury by itself to pay the entire debt installment this year and part of next year's—$30,000,000 to be exact.

A Promotion Stunt.

Among other luxuries the French government is offering itself this year are the new capital ship Dunkerque and an ambitious program of public works. While these might be justified as indispensable, the Normandie appears chiefly as a monster promotion stunt intended solely to maintain French prestige.

The French, unlike the British, do not claim they are too broke to pay their debts. On the contrary, the tendency of the government is to minimize a really serious financial mess and exaggerate the significance of that $3,200,000,000 pile of gold in the Bank of France, which is only about half of the gold boardings.

The French demand for revision is based to a great extent upon economic considerations, but the nation's unwillingness to shell out $19,000,000 next month is based on a purely juridical idea. The French take the stand that the diplomacy of President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson caused America to intervene directly in the affairs of Europe—notably at the Lausanne reparations conference—and that as a result of this intervention they were bulldozed into surrendering Germany's reparations payments.

No Qualms of Conscience.

Consequently, they argue that the United States has at least a moral obligation to let France off on her debt payment after having forced the French to let the Germans off. As a result the average French citizen has no qualms of conscience when he reads that the government is spending millions on a new ship while trying to renege on its debts.

It should also be pointed out that, while the total estimated cost of the Normandie is $30,000,000, only a small part is being paid this year. Construction of the ship began two years ago and will not be completed until the spring of 1934. Payments will be made in several installments.

(The 75,000 ton Normandie was launched on Oct. 29, 1932, and is the largest liner in the world. Italy's two new entries in the race for the blue ribbon of the Atlantic are the 52,000 ton Rex, which made its maiden voyage to New York on Oct. 7, and the 45,000 ton Conte di Savoia, which will sail for New York on its maiden trip at the end of this month. England's Cunard line suspended work on a 73,000 ton liner on Dec. 12, 1931, after spending more than $3,000,000 of an estimated cost of $20,000,000 on the vessel's hull. Germany's 46,000 ton liners, Europa and Bremen, cost $15,000,000 each. The Bremen on Nov. 19 set a new east to west crossing. Government subsidies of one kind or another figure largely in the cost of all these luxury liners.)

Supports U. S. Attitude.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Lord Reading, former ambassador to the United States, pleaded for an understanding of America's attitude toward war debts in an address before the English Speaking union tonight. He urged his countrymen to say nothing or do nothing which would strain relations between Great Britain and the United States. Americans are also taxed heavily, he said, and many of them feel that a reduction of the war debt burden and its assumption by themselves would be unjustified.

At the same time a cry of "usury" in reference to war debts was raised by George Lansbury, Labor party leader, in the house of commons. He demanded to know what the government proposed to do regarding the debt to the United States and the debtor nations at large.

"The entire world is facing the nemesis of usury," he said, "and the depression is due to the same cause."

		Total.
Belgium—
Interest	$ 2,125,000	$ 2,125,000
Czechoslovakia—

Principal	1,357,000
Grand total		$124,984,421

Must Add 184 Millions Interest.

According to the figures quoted by the President, the funded debt of the fifteen nations is $11,229,968,706, to which later will be added $184,000,000 in interest which was postponed because of the Hoover moratorium for the fiscal year 1932.

Since the debts were contracted the debtor governments have paid to this country a total of $2,627,580,897, of which $953,343,602 was received before the debts were funded and $1,674,237,295 since the agreements were reached.

The latter sum is made up of $1,230,926,551 in interest and $443,310,745 in installments paid for the reduction of principal.

Under the funding agreements, the amounts still owed by the four principal debtor nations were: Great Britain, $4,398,000,000; France, $3,863,650,000; Italy, $2,004,900,000, and Belgium, $400,680,000.

Reductions Made by Payments.

Interest and principal reduction payments made by the four since the agreements were reached were:

	Interest paid.	Principal paid.
France	38,650,000	161,350,000
Italy	2,521,250	37,100,000
Belgium	14,420,000	17,100,000

If the funding agreements were carried out on the present basis and full payments were made the United States would receive in all $22,259,070,058 in interest and payments for liquidation of the principal.

Democratic senators and house leaders now in Washington staged a conference shortly before Mr. Roosevelt's arrival. They were guests at a luncheon given in the senate naval affairs committee room by Senator Pat Harrison, who, as ranking Democrat on the senate finance committee and its chairman at the next session, will be among those to meet with President Hoover tomorrow morning.

Others at the luncheon who will attend the White House meeting were Senators William H. King [Dem., Utah] and Walter F. George [Dem., Ga.], members of the senate finance committee, and Representatives James W. Collier [Dem., Miss.], chairman of the house ways and means committee, and Henry T. Rainey [Dem., Ill.], house majority leader and second ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee.

Will Oppose Cancellation.

The meeting, according to Senator Harrison, was the scene of a general discussion of the policies to be followed during the coming session with particular reference to the debt question and the attitude to be taken by the Democrats at tomorrow morning's meeting.

Every Democratic member who goes to the White House tomorrow will go with the avowed intention of opposing cancellation or revision of the debts or the re-creation of the debt funding commission.

Others at the luncheon were Senators Cordell Hull [Dem., Tenn.], Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.], Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.], Duncan U. Fletcher [Dem., Fla.], Henry F. Ashurst [Dem., Ariz.], and Edward P. Costigan [Dem., Colo.]; Representatives, John McDuffie [Dem., Ala.], and Joseph W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.], and Bernard M. Baruch and John A. Johnston of New York, and Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, retired.

Twelve Victims Identify Slain Youth as Robber

Twelve holdup victims yesterday identified the body of Ernest Gallo, 22 years old, 3036 Taylor street, who was shot and killed trying to escape arrest on Monday, as that of a robber. Gallo, riding in a stolen automobile, was overtaken at Sacramento avenue and Arthington street by Policemen John Daly and Thomas Stapleton. When he leaped out of the car and fled on foot, Daly shot him. At the inquest yesterday a coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

CUBA WILL ASK U. S. FOR A MODIFICATION OF PLATT AMENDMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 22.—A renewal of efforts to modify the existing commercial and political status between Cuba and the United States, which would include the drawing of a new reciprocity treaty and abrogation of the Platt amendment immediately after President Elect Roosevelt is installed in the White House, was announced today by Orestes Ferrara, secretary of state.

Ferrara added that Ambassador Oscar Cintas has been instructed to return from Washington as early as possible for a conference with President Machado and other Cuban officials.

Cuba seeks from the United States reductions in tariff on sugar, tobacco, and citrus fruits in exchange for granting a tariff reduction of possibly 40 per cent on all imports from the United States. Politically Cuba seeks absolute independence by the annulling of certain conditions in the Platt amendment, under which the United States has the right to intervene here, Ferrara announced.

LIBERTY OF PRESS AT STAKE IN ROW IN BUENOS AIRES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 22.—Two law cases involving the freedom of the press may follow the criticisms by the Buenos Aires Herald [an English language newspaper] of the city council's treatment of the Anglo-Argentine Tramway company.

The council threatens to sue for libel because the newspaper characterized as "spoliation" the council's rigid enforcement of the terms of the street car company's pre-war concession. The newspaper said that the terms now entail an inevitable working loss, while simultaneously fostering the omnibus and "taxi bus" competition under far more favorable conditions.

The postoffice today withdrew the Herald's mail rate privileges, thereby forcing the publisher to pay the rate applicable to ordinary printed matter. Junius Rugeroni, the publisher, who is an Argentine citizen, lodged a formal protest on the grounds that the postal authorities are not endowed with judicial powers. He intends to sue for damages.

COUNTY TOWNS MEET TO OPPOSE RULE BY CHICAGO

Officials ad represetatives of eighty Cook county communities met in Oak Park last night to form an organization to be known as the Cook County Municipal league. Its principal purpose will probably be to oppose the enactment of House Bill 275 at Springfield which would create a municipal area around Chicago.

The general opinion as expressed by speakers was that such an area would give Chicago dominance over suburban affairs. It was also stated that most of the suburbs are and will be better off financially as independent units. State Representative Frank Foster, one of the speakers, urged that public opinion against any consolidation be created through civic organizations. He opposed direct lobbying.

Mayor Henry W. Tolsted of Maywood was elected chairman of the league. T. R. Leth, Oak Park comptroller, was chosen secretary. On the motion of Mayor Charles H. Bartlett of Evanston, the meeting adjourned subject to a call for another meeting by Mayor Tolsted in ten days.

Washington Crowds Cordial in Greeting President-Elect

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Franklin Delano Roosevelt rode to the White House today along streets of the national capital lined with thousands of citizens who accorded the President elect an enthusiastic welcome.

So cordially was he received that it almost seemed he might have been arriving to assume the actual control of the government, instead of coming as he did, informally and somewhat prematurely, to confer with President Hoover upon the issues of the debts of the world war.

The President elect, officially greeted upon the arrival of his special train by Warren Delano Robbins, protocol officer of the state department, and a cousin of Mr. Roosevelt, waved to the crowds as he rode past in an open White House automobile.

The people called to him, cheered him, returned his salutations, and some clasped their hands together in handshaking fashion in token of their good will. One veteran Washington news correspondent declared the demonstration to be unusual from people of this city which has grown so accustomed to seeing and receiving great dignitaries of the world.

At White House Grounds.

Upon his arrival at the gates of the White House grounds Mr. Roosevelt found another large gathering awaiting him and its cheers must have been wafted across the smooth green to where Herbert Hoover awaited his successor.

At the railway station a hundred policemen had been assigned to hold back the crowd, and they were needed. Ropes had been stretched across several blocks of the lane leading from the station. Held back by the lines were several thousand Washingtonians.

Riding with the President elect were Mr. Robbins, Capt. Walter N. Bernou, chief White House naval aid, and Prof. Raymond T. Moley, the economic expert who accompanied Mr. Roosevelt into his conference with the President.

In another car in the procession rode the Vice President elect, John N. Garner, who had boarded the Roosevelt special train at Baltimore and spent an hour with his chief. Other companions of the President elect who came down to Washington with him and rode in the parade were James A. Farley, national Democratic chairman; Louis McHenry Howe, the governor's chief personal adviser, and Frank C. Walker, the Democratic national treasurer.

Goes to Georgia Today.

Tomorrow Mr. Roosevelt plans to see as many Democratic congressional leaders as may be possible before his train leaves for Warm Springs, Ga., in the early afternoon. He plans to spend two weeks in his winter retreat at Warm Springs, and will devote part of his time there to additional conferences with congressional leaders in planning a Democratic policy for matters scheduled to come before the December session of the lame duck congress.

PRESIDENT PLUNGES INTO JOB OF DRAFTING MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Immediately following his conference with Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, President Hoover plunged into the task of whipping into shape his annual message to congress. Secretary of the Treasury Mills, who participated in the debt discussions, conferred on the message with the President after the Hoover-Roosevelt discussions.

Fiscal matters will headline the President's final message to congress, according to those who have talked with him during the last few days. The President, in this document, will submit his recommendations for balancing the budget during the 1934 fiscal year.

These are expected to include recommendations for cuts in routine expenditures, the elimination of certain laws which are obstacles to reductions in the cost of government and the voting of a new revenue bill.

Number of German Idle Rises 156,000 in 2 Weeks

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—The number of idle in Germany has risen 156,000 in the first half of November, due mainly to seasonal recessions, especially in farming. The increase is less than the corresponding periods of 1930 and 1931 when it was 220,000 and 230,000 respectively. The idle totaled 5,265,000 on Nov. 15.

ITALY RIDICULES IDEA OF HOLDING WORLD PARLEYS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 22.—While the utmost secrecy is being maintained on the discussions last night before the Fascist grand council, particularly on Premier Mussolini's long report on the Italian foreign policy, some idea of the nation's attitude on the more urgent problems is indicated by the semi-official Rome Tribuna. It said in an editorial tonight that "President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt conferred on debts today and it cannot be said whether the result of the conversations was a unity of purpose or two negative preoccupations reflecting the special state always prevailing in the United States between the presidential election and the inauguration."

(A dispatch from Rome Monday night said Italy plans to pay the United States $1,245,437 on Dec. 15 as interest on its war debt.)

"While at Washington the debt question is aired in a very unfavorable atmosphere," the editorial went on, "at Geneva the most pressing questions of Manchuria and disarmament appear in a state of paralysis. In spite of this negative experience in matters of international importance, amid bitter indications of obstinate resistance, and while all governments show an utter incapability for any constructive activity, there are still people who speak of the great world economic conference.

"But if there is no possibility for any understanding on the problems under discussion now, what is the use of holding conferences, the sole effect of which is to show the inability of reaching solutions on an international basis?"

Fire Sweeps Spanish Movie; 1,000 Patrons Led to Safety

MADRID, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Music Palace, the most elaborate motion picture theater in Spain, was swept by fire tonight. Prompt action by attendants in leading out 1,000 spectators resulted in only minor injuries being reported. It caused a temporary panic, however, in the adjoining Avenida theater. The Music Palace was valued at about $320,000.

TEST RELIEFS FOR HEAD-COLDS
Unbiased Medical Research Laboratory Finds Vapex Is Safe and Effective

Recent tests made by a prominent laboratory give the first worth-while facts about relieving head-colds.

An inhalant is recommended to cold-sufferers in preference to drops, salves, and sprays, because it is more likely to bring relief.

The seat of a head-cold is in the breathing-passages. And breathing a soothing vapor like Vapex is the safe, sure way to reach them. Sprays, drops, and salves cannot penetrate these inner-passages naturally and bring the same pleasant relief.

Breathing Vapex relieves a cold swiftly . . . clears the head . . . stops sniffles . . . refreshes you. And, above all, gives you extra protection at very little extra cost. For tests prove that the Vapex vapor has a remarkable power to kill germs always present in a head-cold.

So be sure to ask for V-A-P-E-X. The price is now 75 cents at any drug store. Millions of people breathe Vapex for colds. Approved by Good Housekeeping.

Because it gets better results the Chicago Tribune during the first ten months of 1932 printed more than 450,000 more lines of want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper.

KING PLEDGES AID TO IDLE; 'HUMBUG,' RETORTS LABOR

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—King George opened parliament today with all the usual dignified and ancient pageantry, but as soon as the ceremonies were over the house of commons had a rough-and-tumble debate on the pressing problem of what to do about the idle.

This issue was discussed at considerable length in the King's speech and subsequently in Prime Minister MacDonald's exposition of the government's policies.

The attack came from George Lansbury, leader of the Labor party, who declared that the speech from the throne "was not worthy of parliament or of being put into the king's hands."

Attacks Show of Splendor.

The ancient pageantry of the ceremonial opening of parliament provided the labor leader with his text. Comparing the ceremony with the distress in London's slums, he said:

"I would like to take the king and that whole assembly down two or the streets in my division."

Mr. Lansbury characterized the government's plans for dealing with the jobless problem as "humbug" and "downright cant."

It was in gorgeous setting that the king read the speech, which was written for him by the cabinet. There was, incidentally, no mention of the war debt negotiations with the United States in the speech from the throne.

Sit on Golden Thrones.

In the vaulted chamber of the house of lords the king and queen sat on new golden throne chairs, the queen a little lower than the king. The Prince of Wales was seated below the dais. Ranged before the dais was Britain's brilliant array of princes, bishops, peers in scarlet and ermine, peeresses in rich gowns and jewels, and diplomats in gorgeous uniform or, like the American ambassador, Andrew W. Mellon, in formal evening dress.

As the king and queen came in, garbed in resplendent royal robes and surrounded by ceremonial officers, the massed peers and their ladies rose as one. Peeresses curtsied low as the royal procession passed. King George bowed slightly and he and his queen took their seats.

"My lords, pray be seated," spoke the monarch.

King Anxious Over Idle.

The lord high chancellor, Lord Sankey, handed the ruler the address. In that part of it which referred to the idle, he said:

"Large numbers of my people are still unable to find employment, and the persistence of this situation causes me the greatest anxiety. Unemployment as we have known it for some years is undoubtedly the gravest of social problems.

"In particular I am distressed that many young men and women have never in their lives had an opportunity of regular employment. In the view of my ministers, any provision for unemployed persons should not only afford material assistance, but should also be designed to maintain their morale and fitness to resume work when opportunities can be found.

"My government intends to bring forward measures to deal comprehensively with unemployment insurance and with the treatment of those unable to obtain work, and the considerations I have mentioned will be borne in mind in framing their proposals."

MacDonald Makes Pledge.

Prime Minister MacDonald, in the house of commons, pledged the government to face the unemployment question resolutely and to seek not for a temporary but for a permanent solution.

Particular interest attached to MacDonald's exposition of the cabinet's policies because of rumors that he has been in ill health. These rumors have been vigorously denied in Downing street. Labor members of the house repeatedly interrupted th prime minister as he spoke of the unemployment question.

Mr. MacDonald also referred to the impending world economic conference, admitting that obstacles had been encountered. Britain would continue, he said, to press for the earliest meeting possible.

There was a picturesque ceremony at the houses of parliament before the formal opening when, dressed in medieval costumes but riding in modern automobiles, the veteran yeomen of the guard or "beef-eaters" went there from the Tower of London in traditional search of the "gun powder plotters." They have never found anybody since Guy Fawkes' gangsters were apprehended back in 1605 and the gun powder plot thwarted, but the search goes on year after year. The dungeons are electrically lighted nowadays, but the leading beef eater carries an oil lamp and all of them have their halberds ready for action. At the conclusion of a half hour's search the beef eaters reported everything was well for the royal opening.

PRINCE OF WALES TO OPEN INVESTIGATION OF THE IDLE TODAY

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The prince of Wales will leave tomorrow for Lancashire, where he intends to see for himself the grim realities of unemployment and what is being done to relieve them.

The trip will be similar to his visit to the Durham coal mining region in 1927, when he returned to London shaken by the suffering he had seen. On that occasion the prince made bitter comments to the cabinet ministers in charge of the unemployment problem and it was partly due to his visit that relief work was speeded up.

This time the prince is going to six typical Lancashire cities where thousands have been struggling for years to keep their homes and families together on the government's dole. The cities he will visit are Bolton, Wigan, Liverpool, Widnes, Warrington, and St. Helens.

ONE JUDGE JAILS LAWYER; FREED BY ANOTHER

William G. Anderson, a Negro attorney, was sentenced to six months in the county jail for contempt yesterday by Judge Thomas A. Green of the Municipal court. Instead of being taken to jail by the bailiff in charge Anderson was taken to another judge's home and freed on bond. Last night Judge Green announced he would investigate the matter.

Anderson was found guilty by Judge Green of tampering with court records and perjury in the case of Ray Hall, a Negro bondsman. Some time ago Judge Green sentenced Hall to the Bridewell for reckless driving. Anderson represented him and appealed the conviction to the Appellate court. This court recently reversed Hall's sentence. Judge Green investigated and discovered the original records of the case had been altered and that the reversal was based on the alteration.

Judge Green cited the Negro lawyer for contempt and yesterday's sentence resulted. Anderson was turned over to Edward Powers, the judge's personal bailiff, when he could not put up a $1,500 appeal bond. Powers turned over custody of the prisoner to Deputy Bailiff William Bloom and Chief Deputy Woods. Later Anderson went to the home of Judge James F. Fardy of the Municipal court and was released on a $1,500 appeal bond.

"GUY MANNERING" MANUSCRIPT OF SCOTT IS STOLEN

It Disappears While on Exhibition.

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—An announcement that police headquarters is seeking 200 pages of manuscript, about 10 by 13 inches, in the handwriting of Sir Walter Scott and forming part of his novel "Guy Mannering," was made today. The stolen manuscript was one of the literary treasures of the late J. P. Morgan.

The missing pages, part of the first manuscript bought by Mr. Morgan when he began assembling the priceless collections now housed in the Morgan library, was stolen Oct. 24, while on exhibit at Columbia university. Since that time, private negotiators have waited in vain to establish contact with the thieves, and the New York police have organized an international search for the stolen pages.

Taken from Glass Case.

Refusing to place a value on the pages, but intimating that a reward might be paid for their return, Roger Howson, Columbia university librarian, said the theft apparently had occurred during the hours when the exhibit was open to the public.

Numerous Scott works, collected from the Morgan library and other sources in commemoration of the centenary of the death of the author, were placed on display in Avery hall, on the Columbia campus, early in October, to remain there until the end of the month. Most of the exhibits were in glass topped cases, so placed as to be under the eye of the custodian. Each case was locked, the key being somewhat similar to the ordinary desk or trunk key.

The case containing the 200 pages of "Guy Mannering" manuscript was near the south end of the hall, not far from a large window before which many students pass.

Believes Thief Had Duplicate Key.

Describing the manner in which he believed that the thieves had operated despite this handicap, Mr. Howson said:

"Apparently, an accomplice leaned forward upon the case, as if inspecting the manuscripts inside, in such a way as to shield the man who did the theft. The thief must then have used a duplicate key which he had obtained in some fashion to open the case, and slide out the part of the manuscript, which was bound."

In support of this view, Mr. Howson pointed out that the lock of the case had subsequently been found to be jammed. The only keys were in the possession of Mr. Howson and his assistant, Miss Jean McAllister.

WINDSOR, ONT., VOTES TO TURN CITY OVER TO BOARD OF CONTROL

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The city council of Windsor today approved a resolution seeking the appointment of a board of control to take complete charge of the municipal government on Jan. 1, 1933.

Aldermen who supported the action pointed out that the city owes $2,500,000 to the Windsor branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and has $350,000 in principal payments and interest on debentures falling due Dec. 1, which they said the city could not meet.

The law provides that two members of the board of control shall be named by the council, two by the debenture holders and the fifth by the government. Seven other border cities already are under supervision of boards of control.

U. S. Plane Drops Building Cargo at Cabin Site

HONOLULU, Nov. 22.—(AP)—An army bombing plane today lifted a heavy load of sheet metal, lumber, nails and other building material over the Waianae mountains, a few miles from Honolulu, and dropped the cargo at a spot where the territorial board of forestry wished to build a cabin. Services of the air corps were obtained because the vegetation was too dense and the mountain sides too steep to permit surface trasportation.

"REDUCE ARMS TO PAY DEBTS," DAVIS ASSERTS

Senator Talks at A. F. of L. Convention.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—If the nations indebted to the United States were to reduce their armaments "they could in a short time pay their debts without any discomfort to them," Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania told the American Federation of Labor convention today.

Senator Davis, formerly secretary of labor, discussed idleness and the economic situation and expressed the opinion that the American people "do not want to assume the burden of the billions of foreign debts, but on the other hand they want their taxes reduced."

Sees Payment as Restraint.

"If our foreign debtors continue to pay us what they owe, and that over a period of sixty-two years, they will not be anxious to start a new war among themselves during that time," he said. He added that though the United States has scaled down the war debts those nations have "paid out money in doles and public improvements."

Repeal of the eighteenth amendment, immediate modification of the Volstead act, and creation by the government of a "sinking fund" to finance public works in times of depression, were some of the recommendations proposed by the Pennsylvania senator.

Prelate for More Pay.

Archbishop John T. McNichols of Cincinnati in an address this afternoon explained that the Catholic church strongly approved of the right of workers to form trade unions. He declared that if the unions at this time had a much larger membership they could in some measure have prevented the present social and economic debacle. He urged the five day week as a measure to control the output of modern machinery. He also urged that wages must be increased so workmen shall receive enough to support their families in decency and comfort.

Mary Anderson, chief of the women's bureau of the U. S. department of labor, said higher wages were necessary to increase purchasing power and so help overcome the depression. In the last two years, she said, the cost of living has declined 18 per cent, but employment has dropped 33 per cent and wages 54 per cent.

FARMERS OF IRELAND ASSAIL GREAT BRITAIN IN MESSAGE TO U. S.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Nov. 22.—(AP)—In a statement addressed to "our people at home and, particularly, in the United States," the United Farmers' Protection association, an organization supporting the De Valera government, said today that Great Britain has "declared war" on the Irish farmers and "hopes to crush" them and the young Free State.

"She does not realize," the statement said, "the powers of a peasant state united in a national effort to rebuild and reorganise our own resources and defend our hard-won liberty against her new form of attack."

The Farmers' association urged a separate currency for the Free State and prohibition of all British imports. It also suggested that representatives be sent to the United States "to expose England's attitude."

LABOR FAVORS REVISION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Revision of the war debts was advocated today by the American Federation of Labor in its monthly survey of business for November. The survey found the international debt situation one of the chief obstacles to economic recovery in the United States.

"A readjustment of war debts, especially if it involved favorable concessions to American trade," said the federation, "would go far to stimulate economic recovery."

The labor organization declared that if unemployment in this country increases by even the normal seasonal amount in the next month the United States will face "the greatest unemployment crisis of all time," with 12,700,000 persons out of work by January. Already, it was said, one-third of all the wage and small salaried workers in this country are idle.

Pointing to the growing number of persons living through contributions of relief agencies, the federation asserted that nearly "half our population is now living below the minimum necessary to maintain health and efficiency."

The federation asserted that price declines in foreign nations have been equal to the slump in this country.

"We are intimately concerned in this international price decline," said the labor organization, "for we sell many of our important products on the world market and our prices must follow world price trends. Also, the price decline has greatly increased the burden of debts owed to us by foreign countries. At present prices these countries would have to sell half as much again to pay us in gold."

MAKES APPEAL FOR DONATIONS TO CHARITIES

Need $16,000,000, Head of Welfare Fund Says.

Robert A. Gardner, director of the campaign for $7,800,000 being conducted by the Emergency Welfare Fund of Cook County, Inc., made a statement yesterday emphasizing that solicitations for funds made by the established charities of the city should not be confused with solicitations by the emergency fund.

"Our charity problem this year is complex," Mr. Gardner said. "In normal years about $12,000,000 is donated to the private charities for welfare work. This year the needs of the private charities are much higher—about $16,000,000. Meanwhile the contributions of regular supporters of those charities are expected to be reduced to about 75 per cent of normal.

Seek Fund for Charity Deficit.

"That is where the need for the Emergency Welfare Fund lies. The fund is being raised in addition to the regular donations to the private charities to cover the deficit and the overload imposed upon the private charities under present conditions. That deficit and overload combined will amount to about $7,500,000, we have estimated.

"The needs this year are more acute than ever before. It is imperative, in our minds, that the regular supporters of our private charities repeat their normal contributions this year, and, when it is possible, make an additional contribution to the Emergency Welfare Fund to help carry the deficit and overload.

Money for Welfare Work.

"The Emergency Welfare Fund is to be spent for welfare work and will not be applied to the relief of the idle. That problem is being left to the city, state, and federal authorities. Hence every penny that is given to the Emergency Welfare Fund will go to the alleviation of hunger, cold, and suffering of our fellow citizens whose condition has been aggravated by general conditions."

John F. Delaney, secretary to President Emmett Whealan of the county board, issued a statement yesterday in which he urged that the funds realized by the sale of $17,000,000 of county bonds for relief, which have been approved by the legislature, be turned over to the county authorities for administration, instead of being applied through the state relief board.

LAUNDRYDRIVERS' AGENT SEIZED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Mortimer B. Cooke, business agent for the Laundry Drivers' and Chauffeurs' union, was arrested yesterday by Evanston police at the union headquarters at 629 South Ashland boulevard. Chicago police aided in the arrest. Cooke is 41 years old and lives at 1133 Linden avenue, Oak Park.

The police carried warrants charging assault which were sworn out by David Smith, 3214 West 19th street, driver of a laundry wagon, and Samuel Kipnis, owner of the University Laundry at 2142 Ashland avenue, Evanston. Smith operates an Evanston laundry route and gives his business to Kipnis. He formerly worked the same territory for a Chicago concern which is now out of business. The Way Wet Wash Laundry took over the old concern's business and now demands, it is said, the right to the route which Smith continued to work.

Smith told police that Cooke and three other men stopped him in Evanston on Monday, and ordered him to give up the territory, threatening him with bodily harm. The four then met Kipnis and warned him, police were told. Cooke denied the charges on his arrest. He was released on $400 bond, and will appear before Justice Harry Porter in Evanston Saturday.

Woman Killed by Plunge From Window in Home

Mrs. Mary Beal, 48 years old, was fatally injured last night when she fell or jumped from a third floor window of her home at 4023 Ellis avenue. She died in the Mercy hospital. Mrs. Beal had been suffering from nervous disorders and was under the care of Miss Rose Wilson, a private nurse. Shortly after Miss Wilson retired, Mrs. Beal walked to the window and fell. Police said that she was the widow of a silk buyer for a downtown store who was drowned in the lake ten years ago.

Arms Envoys Give Up Hope of Getting Germany Back

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Nov. 22.—Hopes of an early meeting of the general commission of the disarmament conference were abandoned today when the American and British delegates, acting in the rôle of mediators, failed to bring the French and Germans together on Germany's demand for equality in armaments. Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, announced that he is leaving for Berlin Saturday.

Chicagoans Come Home.

Judge Horner, Mayor Cermak, Chairman Ryerson and other Chicagoans who had remained here for the windup were anxious to make a 2 o'clock train for home. As the battle dragged out they "stuck" at the risk of missing it, but the Alton system held the train for thirty minutes and they made it feeling much cheered up by the outcome of the fight.

All of the relief bills are now ready for Gov. Emmerson's consideration and they probably will reach his desk today. He is expected to sign them. Then the next relief step must be an application to the R. F. C. for an additional loan. Chairman Ryerson expects to take up this subject with Gov. Emmerson in a few days.

HIGHLAND PARK SCHOOL CLOSED TO SAVE MONEY

The old Elm place school in Highland Park will be closed at the end of the regular classes today as an economy measure. This is the first drastic curtailment of school services in the suburb and is a direct result, it was explained, of the refusal of the voters in District 107 to approve a school tax increase of 30 cents.

Announcement of the closing of the school was made last night by Howell W. Murray, president of the district school board. He said that $5,000 will be saved in heating, water, lighting and other expenses.

There are 337 pupils and 12 teachers affected. All will be provided for as long as possible during the present school year, Mr. Murray said. The most noticeable effect of the curtailment, he pointed out, will be the resultant overcrowding of the Green Bay road school and the new Elm place school which must absorb the pupils and teachers. The new Elm place school adjoins the old one.

"The board and faculty of District 107 are closing the old Elm place school because we will not go into debt," Mr. Murray said. "We have operated on a cash basis only, and we will continue to do so."

GUARDSMEN TRY FREE "L" FARE STUNT; NABBED

Thirteen members of the 122d Field artillery, Illinois National Guard, were arrested last night because they allegedly tried to evade paying fare on the rapid transit lines. They were seized on the platform of the Thorndale avenue station near Broadway.

Police said that the guardsmen climbed on the platform from the roof of a building adjoining the Broadway armory. Four private detectives watched them and then herded them together under arrest. This practice of evading fare has gone on weekly, it is said. The militiamen were taken to the Summerdale station and released on their own bonds with orders to appear in Boys' court this morning.

Those arrested were Ralph Bardie, Herman Schacke, Frank Bawlicki, Matthew Stachowiak, Anthony Seller, Joseph Miller, Harry Wendt, Anthony Peters, Donald C. Ruby, Alexander Jocks, Daniel Wasni, Andrew Millich, and Leroy Franke. All were in civilian attire at the time.

6,620,000 WOMEN IN INDIA TO BE GRANTED THE RIGHT TO VOTE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Indian women are to be enfranchised in the proportion of one woman to 4.4 men. This decision was reached at the third round table conference on India today. It will add 6,620,000 women to the list of voters for the provincial legislatures.

The woman voters will be of three classes—women with a property qualification, women with a literary qualification, and wives and widows of men qualified by property to vote.

The conference this evening began discussion of the federal franchise and the method of election. These matters will be continued tomorrow.

2 HONEYMOONING BANDITS AND TWO BRIDES ARRESTED

Two honeymooning robbers, with their brides and a third man, were arrested yesterday by Policeman Frank Conway and William Moran in an apartment at 5341 North Mulligan avenue. At the Irving Park police station six robbery victims identified the three men.

Anthony Dombrowski, 19 years old, and Joseph Gjonola, 18 years old, are the bridegrooms. About three weeks ago Anthony married Florence Osborne, then of 4720 Armitage avenue, and Joseph wed Violet Novak, who came from New York, in Crown Point, Ind. The girls are 17 years old. Thomas Bederman, 21 years old, 1519 North Springfield avenue, was the third man arrested.

Gjonola was wearing a $5 necktie and the police took him to a store at 5333 Fullerton avenue, where he asserted he had purchased it. The proprietor, Walter Ostorek, said he had gotten the tie there, but hadn't paid for it. It was taken in a stickup.

Boy of 17 and Man, 64, Jailed on Girls' Charges

Max Stronke, 17 years old, 715 North Paulina street, was arrested yesterday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of two girls, one 10 and the other 9 years old. Employes of the city board of health, who had examined the children, suggested that the police take action against Stronke. In Midlothian a 63 year old man was arrested on a similar charge. He is Otto Nelson, owner of a roadside stand at 46th avenue and 147th street. The girl he is alleged to have annoyed is 15 years old.

THE TIME TO KILL A COLD

—is in the First Stage, While it is Yet a "Dry" Cold!

Now it is known that a cold ordinarily passes through three stages. The first is the Dry Stage, the first 24 hours. The second is the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days. WINKLERS TO TRY RECONCILIATION ON THANKSGIVING

Mrs. Effie Winkler, 1014 Elmwood avenue, Wilmette, who has filed suit for divorce against her husband, George F. Winkler, plumbing contractor, met him in the courtroom of Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday afternoon. After hearing her husband's pleas that she return to him she agreed to attempt a reconciliation.

The couple told the judge they would dine together on Thanksgiving day and try to settle their differences. Judge Finnegan then continued the hearing of Mrs. Winkler's motion for temporary alimony until next Friday.

In her divorce bill drawn by Attorney Frank Cantwell, Mrs. Winkler charged her husband with cruelty. She also demanded that he be restrained from recording deeds to his $500,000 in property which he had placed in a trust fund.

GILMAN PARKER, NEWSPAPER MAN, DIES IN BOSTON

Boston, Mass., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Gilman Moncure Parker, staff writer of the Boston Daily Record, died in his Beacon Hill apartment today from accidental carbon monoxide poisoning caused by a heater in his room. He was 45.

His mother, Mrs. Mary Moncure Parker, an author, came from Chicago to Boston by airplane after learning of his illness and was at his bedside when he died.

Born in Chicago, the son of the late William Reynolds Parker, once clerk of the Cook county Criminal court, Gilman Parker worked on several Chicago newspapers and in New York and San Francisco. In his subsequent newspaper career he traveled extensively. He came here from New York several months ago.

MOVIE WORKERS' SUIT IS THROWN OUT OF U. S. COURT

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday dismissed the suit brought against officials of the Chicago Moving Picture Operators' union by members on the charge that the officials discriminated against union members in the matter of employment. Judge Wilkerson ruled that there was no diversity of citizenship in the suit to warrant its trial in the federal court.

The International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Moving Picture Operators in the United States and Canada was named co-defendant in the suit. Judge Wilkerson held, however, that there was no service on the International Alliance and that both complainants and defendants lived in Illinois. The court ordered that the books of the union, seized last Saturday when the suit was started, should be returned immediately to the union officials.

The suit charged that the union officials allowed non-union operators to work under the permit rule, which gives a larger percentage of the operators' salary to the union, while legitimate union men were unemployed. Attorneys for the complainants refused to say whether they would start suit in the state courts.

MILITARY SCHOOL HEAD TESTIFIES AT STONE TRIAL

Col. William Cleary, head of the Illinois Military academy at Aledo, Ill., took the witness stand yesterday in the federal court of Judge Charles E. Woodward and told of the philanthropy of Claude C. Niles, vice president of H. O. Stone & Co., defunct real estate concern. Niles and eight other former officials of the Stone company are on trial on charges of using the mails to defraud.

Cleary, called by the defense, testified that Niles donated Niles hall to the academy three years ago. Niles gave the academy $50,000 worth of Stone debentures which were taken to an Aledo bank and used as collateral to borrow $25,000, Cleary said. On cross-examination he said the bank still has the debentures.

JARECKI REFUSES DELAY IN HOTEL FIGHT ON TAXES

Criticizes B. F. Lindheimer for Nonpayment.

Demanding why B. F. Lindheimer, Democratic politician and receiver for the Chicago Beach hotel, 1660 Hyde Park boulevard, has made no payments on the hotel's delinquent tax bills, County Judge Jarecki yesterday refused a three months continuance of hearing on objections which have protected the property from tax judgments. He ordered George Worden, attorney for the receiver, to be ready to try the case Monday.

The hotel company has entered objections to payment of $615,000 in taxes for 1928, 1929 and 1930. Mr. Worden explained that in 1928, while the shore line of the hotel property had been determined by the city and south park board, the land had not been filled in, and the hotel was taxed in that year for land which was still under water. He had not prepared the case, and asked a three months continuance to do so.

Refuses Special Favor.

"This is a summary hearing," replied Judge Jarecki. "We can treat you no differently from a small tax payer. You've had since the 1928 objection was filed to prepare this case. Why haven't you done so? I think a full hearing can be had in half an hour. And by the way, how much cash has the receiver on hand?"

"I don't know," said Mr. Worden.

"Why hasn't the receiver paid any taxes at all?" demanded Judge Jarecki.

"I don't know about that, either," said Mr. Worden.

"Taxes are a prior lien to bonds, salaries, and everything else on that property," said Judge Jarecki. "They must be paid. I'll give you until Monday and we'll dispose of the case then. Bring in a figure showing exactly the amount of cash which the receiver has on hand."

Attacks Another Receiver.

When attorneys for the receiver of the Pure Oil building, 35 East Wacker drive, appeared before him, Judge Jarecki demanded of them, also, why the receiver has not paid a portion of the $469,968 which the building corporation owes in taxes for 1928 to 1930. In that case Judge Denis E. Sullivan in the Superior court ordered the receiver last week to apply $160,000 which he has on hand on the 1930 tax bill, which amounts to $165,000. The lawyers failed to answer Judge Jarecki's query yesterday.

Judge Jarecki entered judgment last week against the Midland Club building, 172 West Adams street, for $143,149 in unpaid 1928, 1929, and 1930 taxes. Yesterday attorneys for the receiver asked him to remit 50 per cent of the penalties on the delinquent taxes, which he may do under the law. They told him that since the receiver has been in control of the building during the last year he has paid $60,000 in taxes, but asserted that earnings now are not sufficient to meet current taxes, let alone clear up arrears.

Refuses to Waive Penalty.

"I'm not going to waive any penalty," Judge Jarecki told them.

Yesterday and Monday Judge Jarecki dismissed objections entered by some 400 property owners, covering taxes in excess of $100,000, which he was promised will be paid within the next few days. Since he dismissed the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers' objection to 1930 taxes on Nov. 14 the county treasurer has collected $813,748 in delinquent taxes, of which $678,226 was in 1930 taxes.

SUBURBAN CITIES TO OPEN FIGHT ON UTILITY RATES

A fight for the reduction of gas rates charged by the Western United Gas and Electric company for service in communities near Chicago will be started before the Illinois commerce commission in Chicago next Tuesday.

Plans for the fight were completed yesterday at a meeting in Aurora. Present were members of the executive committee of an association of mayors of towns and cities in the region affected. This committee has been raising a fund to retain attorneys and engineers to present their pleas.

Among those at the conference were Mayor Conrad M. Bjorseth of Aurora, chairman; Mayor Myron H. Lehmann and City Attorney Perry Wells of Elgin; Mayor Edward H. Blatter of Elmhurst; Mayor William R. Burns, Aldermen H. A. Stone and George Calloway and City Attorney C. W. Whiting of Woodstock; Mayor Fred Herrod and Truman Crowell of Sandwich, and City Attorney Malcolm Mehartney of Hinsdale.

BEAT CASHIER, ROB MARENGO BANK OF $3,500

Four bandits yesterday robbed the Marengo State bank of Marengo, taking between $3,500 and $6,000, and escaped in an automobile in which a fifth man waited. G. A. Larsen, cashier, resisted when ordered to open the safe and was beaten unconscious by one of the bandits who struck him with a pistol.

Miss Frieda Cassle and Miss Gladys Wilson, employés, and Miss Ruby Sheahan and Clifton Echtermach were in the bank when the bandits entered. The women were forced to lie on the floor while one of the bandits stood guard over the men. After taking the money the bandits escaped in a sedan.

Turkeys Stolen

Seymour Mills of Casper, Wyo., brought five barrels of turkeys last week from ranchers in that vicinity. He loaded the dressed birds on a truck, and with himself and his wife, Irma, alternating at the wheel, drove the nearly 1,200 miles into Chicago in 30 hours. They finished their journey yesterday in front of a poultry house near Fulton and Halsted streets, locked the truck, and both Mills and his wife went into the building to seek a purchaser for their cargo. When they returned to the street 15 minutes later the truck and turkeys were missing.

IOWA WILL CUT 20% OFF REAL ESTATE TAXES

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A real estate tax about 20 per cent lower than that adopted in 1931 will be fixed by the state board of assessment and review when it equalizes assessments made for 1933, the board announced today.

The decision, reached after a conference with city assessors from most of the larger cities of the state, takes into consideration the reduced valuations of real estate in Iowa during the last two years, board members said.

The board estimated that the lower rate will bring about a reduction of about $700,000,000 in assessed valuation on farm and city real estate.

Members of the board said the reduction in valuation will result in some "very serious complications" in the finances of the various tax raising bodies of the state.

CITY PREPARES FOR BOUNTIES OF THANKSGIVING

Dinners to Be Given to Thousands of Needy.

Chicago will take the day off tomorrow to observe Thanksgiving day in the traditional manner. Generally fair and colder weather is forecast for the holiday.

As usual, shops, offices, and public buildings will be closed throughout the day. The post office and its stations will be closed. No mail delivery will be made by letter carriers, but for the accommodation of the public all day lock box and special delivery service will be continued at the main office. The general delivery window will be open from 8 to 10 a. m. and one collection for all street letter boxes will be made before 9:30 p. m.

One of the features of this Thanksgiving day will be the dedication of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller carillon in the tower of the University of Chicago chapel. The carillon is one of the largest in the world and will be played for the first time at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow by Kamiel Legevere, carilloneur of the Riverside church of New York.

Low Prices in Hotels.

The promise of reduced prices for Thanksgiving dinners will bring many large gatherings and family parties to the downtown hotels. A survey of these hotels revealed yesterday that prices will be 20 to 30 per cent lower than last year's and a good dinner may be had from $1 to $2. Preparations are being made to take care of a few thousand extra guests and each hotel.

The housewife also will find the ingredients of her Thanksgiving dinner cheaper this year and will be able to serve the holiday feast for much less money than last year. Turkey prices range from about 20 to 30 cents a pound and the trimmings for the dinner are much cheaper than last year.

A simple observance of Thanksgiving in order that the savings thus made may be shared with the unemployed and needy, has been advocated by the Golden Rule Foundation. The plan was adopted by the Greater New York Federation of Churches. Economy menus were distributed, suggesting Thanksgiving dinner for a family of five, costing $1. This included tomato cocktail, roast stuffed breast of lamb, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, baked onion in butter, cole slaw, pumkin pie, bread, butter and coffee.

Dinner for 400 Families.

Harry Block will entertain 400 needy families tomorrow with a turkey dinner at his restaurant at 120 West 22d street. RUMOR GROWS THAT FIFI WIDENER WILL BE WICHFELD'S BRIDE

Reno, Nev., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Rumors of a romance between Aksel C. P. Wichfeld, former attaché of the Danish legation in Washington, and Josephine (Fifi) Widener, Philadelphia heiress, were given impetus today when Wichfeld obtained at Carson City a divorce from Mrs. Mabelle Swift Wichfeld of Boston.

Mrs. Wichfeld is the daughter of the late E. C. Swift, who was a brother of Gustavus Swift, Chicago packer. She was married in 1900 to Clarence Moore, who was drowned when the steamship Titanic sank. Her marriage to Wichfeld occurred in 1915.

Miss Widener, daughter of Joseph E. Widener, has been twice married and twice divorced. Her first husband was Carter Randolph Leidy and her second Milton W. Holden. Miss Widener and Wichfeld have been seen together frequently in Reno during the last few weeks.

THREE BOMBINGS LINKED TO GANG WAR ON UNIONS

Third Blast of Day Wrecks Steam Shovel.

Three bomb explosions directed against contractors doing work in the suburban area were regarded by police last night as incidents in a campaign being waged by William [Three Fingered Jack] White, Marcus Looney and other hoodlums to gain control of all the teamster and chauffeur unions operating in and about Chicago.

To the same cause was attributed a tear gas bomb tossed into the offices of the Excavating, Grading and Asphalt Teamsters' union yesterday morning.

Wrecks Steam Shovel.

One of the blasts, set off last evening, wrecked a steam shovel owned by John Yackley, contractor, which was set in a gravel pit near Lisle, not far from Wheaton. Yackley has been employing union labor, but not men belonging to the outlaw bodies headed by White.

At Libertyville, in the morning, a steam shovel of the North Shore Materials company was damaged by a bomb. A second bomb was found in another shovel and was tossed by a watchman into a pit shortly before it exploded.

Discharge Old Workers.

Officials of the company said that last week they were compelled to discontinue the services of employés belonging to the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, and employ in their places members of the Chicago Teamsters' union, local 782, an outlaw organization.

The two branches of the teamsters unions have caused difficulties before, officials recalled. It was the aim of the late George "Red" Barker and Al Capone to unite the rival branches under hoodlum control, Chicago police said. When Capone went to prison and Barker was killed, they were succeeded in this effort by White, Looney, and other gangsters who, at the same time formed the Trucking and Transportation exchange, forcing truck owners to join it.

Bomb Looney's Office.

Looney is head of the excavating teamsters' union. He was in court yesterday when the tear gas bomb was tossed into his offices at 184 West Washington street from the "L" platform at Wells and Washington streets. Last week a stench bomb was thrown into the headquarters of the Ice Wagon Drivers' union at 637-39 South Ashland avenue.

"All this indicates some dissention in the affairs of White and Looney," commented Chief of Detectives Schoemaker.

RULES EX-HUSBAND MUST PAY $3,300 SHE PICKETS BANK FOR

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A former film actress, Viora Casady, who started out to collect $3,300 from her former husband, Wayne A. Casady, bank teller, by picketing the bank in which he worked, won another point in Superior court today.

Superior Judge T. C. Gould denied Casady's motion to set aside a $3,300 judgment Mrs. Casady won against him.

Mrs. Casady claimed that in a property settlement prior to their Reno divorce in 1929, Casady promised to pay her $3,300 in alimony. When he failed to pay, Mrs. Casady made herself comfortable with a book in a bank where Casady was forced to see her throughout the day.

U. S. Asks Chile for Trade Rights Given Other Nations

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 22.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Culbertson today requested the Chilean government to grant the United States the same trade advantages as are contained in new agreements with Argentina and Peru. He suggested that the rights accorded those countries be incorporated in the present trade arrangement with Washington, which is temporary, until a commercial treaty can be negotiated.

SAXE KILLER IS LOCKED IN CELL IN COUNTY JAIL.

Alienists to Give Sanity Report Today.

got his signet ring. I didn't think I would ever see him again and took the ring to remember him by."

In midafternoon the state's attorney's office decided Arnold had enjoyed sufficient special consideration and notified Attorney Jacker that the boy would be removed to the Criminal court building. His guards took him there in a police car.

In the state's attorney's office he was counseled by Mr. Johnson to be cautious of the acquaintances he made in the county jail and instructed as to the jail routine. His large eyes roved around the room as Mr. Johnson spoke to him. Observing the assembled newspaper men, he asked to be left alone.

Lights a Cigaret.

"How do you feel now?" he was asked.

"As well as could be expected," he replied, lighting a cigaret.

"Do you think you're crazy?"

"I don't know," he said, dropping his eyes.

"Have you anything to say about the case?"

The youth turned appealingly to Mr. Johnson, saying: "I'd rather not say anything with the reporters present. Can't I talk to you in private?"

The reporters withdrew, but he encountered the photographer a half hour later when, after being fingerprinted and given a shower in the jail, he entered the office of Warden David Moneypenny. The warden advised him that he need not pose unless he wished. The boy posed willingly.

For supper he was given a ham sandwich and coffee, contrasting with the hotel lunch of soup, roast beef, two vegetables and ice cream, which he ate at noon. With lights out at 9 p. m., he fell into an apparently untroubled sleep.

Will go to Jail School.

This morning he will be sent to class in the schoolroom maintained by the board of education for juvenile prisoners. One of his classmates will be James [Iggy] Varecha, a prisoner about his age, who has confessed a string of murders, rapes and robberies.

A suspicion that Mrs. Saxe had been attacked before her death, first advanced by Dr. Harry Kearns, coroner's physician, was dispelled yesterday with the receipt of a report from Dr. Clarence Muehlberger, chemist at the Northwestern university crime laboratory. Dr. Muehlberger found no evidence to support Dr. Kearns' suspicions.

Arnold's crime was the paramount topic yesterday at Riverside High school, where he had been an average student in the junior class. In the corridors between classes and at noon in the school cafeteria, the talk was all of the killing of Mrs. Saxe.

The students recalled how eager Bert had always been to have the family car and how often he spoke of hoping to get more pocket money than the dollar his father allowed him weekly. But they could not understand how his grandmother's refusal to lend him her car should provoke him to kill her with a hammer.

Blinds Drawn in Home.

The blinds were drawn all day at the Arnold residence, 264 Shenstone road, Riverside. A friend of the family answered all calls, explaining that Mr. Arnold was away and that Bert's stepmother, Mrs. Frances Arnold, daughter of Mrs. Saxe, could see no visitors.

A neighbor of the Arnolds recalled something of the boy's childhood and, from his knowledge of the boy's home life, advanced an explanation of the crime.

"Even as a little tot of 3 or 4 years he was rebellious," the neighbor said. "His mother died soon after he was born, and soon after he was able to walk he used to run away, sometimes getting lost until late at night. That was before he had a stepmother.

"There was no ill-feeling on his part toward the new Mrs. Arnold so far as I observed," the neighbor said. "It was his father who was the strict disciplinarian, and I think the boy was more afraid of him than of Mrs. Arnold.

"But he was still self-willed. As I see it, he was 'car crazy,' just as he himself says. He figured that when his grandmother came to live with them his longing for use of a car would be satisfied, his father having forbidden him to use the family machine. Then when she refused him also he had a brain storm, and so he killed her."

Loan Society Secretary Held to Jury for Fraud

Daniel Henrici, former secretary of the Arnoldsville Building and Loan association, 6239 South Ashland avenue, was held to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of embezzlement. He is alleged to have diverted association funds, to the amount of $7,800, to his own use. Assistant State's Attorney Russell Root said the amount of his speculation probably was much larger and might reach $50,000.

STEAL STUFFED SACRED IBIS FROM YALE RECORD

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Theft from the office of the Yale Record, the humorous magazine of the university, of the stuffed sacred Ibis, which was presented to the Record by the Harvard Lampoon, was today reported by the Yale Daily News, which stated that is believed the larceny was undertaken to embarrass the board of the Yale Record, which tendered a banquet to the Lampoon board before the Yale-Harvard football game here Saturday.

The News said that the Ibis disappeared from the office of the Record only the previous day and that its absence when the editors of the Lampoon visited the office, was unfortunate, but unavoidable.

In token of the good fellowship between the Lampoon and Record boards, the Lampoon presented the Record board with a large white owl, the patron bird of the Record, draped with crimson ribbons.

The Harvard humorists, the Yale News said today regretfully, were depressed at the absence of the Ibis from their banquet with the Record, but eventually joined in the jollity of the dinner.

Two years ago, the historic Yale fence was stolen from the gallery of Pach brothers, the Yale photographic firm, by Lampoon editors, and was returned at a dinner given by the Lampoon to the Yale Record editors, who restoried it to the Pach brothers gallery, where it had remained for sixty years.

WOMAN REPORTED SLAIN APPEARS AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

Mrs. Ida McCutcheon, a former school teacher of New Kensington, Pa., who has twice been reported murdered, was found yesterday at the home of a daughter near Greensburg, Pa. The body of a woman found beaten to death early Saturday at 193d and Halsted streets was at first believed to be that of Mrs. McCutcheon.

John Miller of the Salvation Army headquarters in Chicago Heights said the dead woman had once received aid under that name. Then officials of Hammond came forward with the information that the body of a woman who was shot to death there in 1924 had been identified and buried as that of Mrs. Ida McCutcheon.

Mrs. McCutcheon appeared at the home of her daughter yesterday, it was learned. She said only that she "had been in Chicago and was going back in a few days."

Identification of the body appeared near last night when Mrs. Roy Davis of New Kensington telephoned Chicago Heights police that the description of the woman fitted that of her daughter, Charlotte Davis. A member of the Davis family will come from New Kensington to look at the body.

ASKS LOWER GAS RATES.

Manitowoc, Wis., Nov. 23.—[Special.]—An appeal to the state public service commission for a reduction in gas rates here will be made by the city on grounds that there has been no decrease in rates while wages of the company employes were reduced long ago and coal from which the product is made costs less.

TROTZKY'S FRIEND RECEIVES SLAP IN THE FACE IN PARIS

DUNKIRK, France, Nov. 22.—(AP)—With a couple of unpleasant incidents as souvenirs of his hurried dash across France from Marseilles, Leon Trotzky, exiled Russian revolutionary, embarked on the steamer Bernstorff today for Copenhagen.

Both the unpleasantries occurred in Paris. An argument developed between a young man in Trotzky's party and another traveler over the ownership of two valises, and the Russian's friend suffered a face slapping. The trouble was straightened out at a police station. The other difficulty arose when police ousted a passenger from a second class compartment in the Dunkirk train to make room for Trotzky. The passenger protested volubly.

When the train reached here the Russian exile hurried with short, quick steps to the steamer, where he immediately secluded himself in his cabin. He declined to make any statement.

FIND LAW HOLDS NO SPECIAL HOPE FOR BOY SLAYERS

Recall Minors Who Have Been Executed.

The youth of James [Iggy] Varecha, 17 years old, and Bert Arnold, who is 16, both confessed slayers, does not entitle them to any special consideration under the law, it was declared yesterday at the state's attorney's office. There are plenty of instances, the prosecutors said, where youths have been executed for murder. Others have been sent to the penitentiary for life.

"Youth is no excuse under the law for murder, nor is it any reason why punishment should be mitigated," said Assistant State's Attorney Edwin J. Spiro, who has had charge of the grand jury department in the prosecutor's office for more than 15 years. "In my time the grand jury has been called on to indict many youths for murder and the records show that some were executed and others given long penitentiary sentences."

The Age of Reason.

The statutes hold any person over the age of reason should be punished according to the character of the crime. The age of reason has been held by the courts to be upwards of eight years. The punishment for murder ranges from 14 years in prison to the death penalty.

The most recent youthful murder case in Cook county was that involving Warner Corry, 15 years old, who shot and killed Policeman Edward Smith, when the latter surprised him in the John Marshall High school. Corry was sentenced to the penitentiary for 20 years. However, because of errors during the trial the Supreme court reversed the case.

The retrial of the Corry case is scheduled to start Monday morning before Judge Thomas J. Lynch. The defense attorneys have already announced that a jury trial will be demanded this time. The first trial was before Judge Joseph Sabath without a jury. Assistant State's Attorney Harry Busch said that the prosecution is ready to proceed with the trial according to schedule.

"Smiling Jack" O'Brien, the boy police killer and bandit, was still in his teens when he was hanged a dozen years ago for shooting Sergt. Richard Burke. O'Brien's career of banditry closely rivals that of Varecha. The youth of O'Brien was pleaded in vain as a reason why he should not be hanged.

The Cardinella Gang.

Several members of the Cardinella gang, which in the period just prior to 1920 terrorized the city by ruthless murders and robberies, were youths under 20. Some were hanged and others, who gave evidence for the prosecution and helped to convict the leader of the gang, were given life sentences. Nick Viana, 17 years old, who attracted attention because of his singing abilities, was executed.

Charles Rocco and John Popescue, who were electrocuted in 1931 for the murder of Courtney R. Merrill, South Chicago banker, were just a little older than the two youths now occupying the attention of the authorities. Popescue was 20 and Rocco 22. They were ordered executed by Judge Philip Finnegan even though they pleaded guilty.

Loeb and Leopold.

Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, the slayers of Bobbie Franks, were just out of their teens when they were given life sentences in the penitentiary. Loeb was 19 years old and Leopold 20 when they were sentenced in 1924.

The prosecutors pointed out that under the law convicted murderers, no matter what the age, must be sentenced to the penitentiary, in cases where the death penalty is not imposed. The Pontiac reformatory is not for this clas of criminals. Criminally insane murderers are sent to the Chester asylum at Menard, Ill. This institution also has no age limit.

Danish Convicts Mutiny; Prison Buildings Set Afire

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Police and soldiers put down a mutiny in the century old Akershus prison today, but the institution was badly damaged by fire started by the mutineers. The prisoners used clubs as weapons in bitter fighting which lasted more than an hour. Buildings were ignited with red hot iron bars from the smithy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Sixteen year old Bertram Arnold and 17 year old James Varecha, whose murder confessions startled Chicago and the nation this week, stood revealed today, not as youthful prodigies of crime, but as average criminals of average age.

One fifth of all the persons arrested and fingerprinted by police of the nation in the last nine months were youths between the ages of 15 and 19, according to statistics made public today by the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. Persons between their fifteenth and nineteenth years constitute only 9 per cent of the nation's population.

19 Year Olds Worst Offenders.

The 19 year old boy, the figures showed, was the most frequent offender of all the 232,000 persons apprehended by police in the nine months' period. More than 12,000, or 5 per cent of the total arrested, were in their nineteenth year, the highest percentage of any single age group.

One out of every ten persons arrested for felonious homicide was less than 21 years old, the statistics disclosed, while more than 21 per cent of those charged with homicidal crimes were between the ages of 20 and 25. For crimes of this character police arrested 8 persons under 15 years of age, 9 who were in their fifteenth year, 39 who were 16, 67 who were 17, 113 who were 18, and 139 who were 19, according to the statistics.

Burglary Most Common.

The most common crime among 19 year olds was burglary. For this offense 3,104 youths of that age were arrested in the nine months' period. Next in order was larceny and theft, for which 2,034 were taken into custody. Of all persons of all ages arrested for burglary in the period, the department said, 38 per cent were under 21; of all arrested for robbery, 37 per cent were minors.

Of the total of 232,094 persons arrested during the period, the figures showed, 90,735, or 39.1 per cent, were less than 24 years of age. The total number of arrests in each age group under 24 were tabulated by the identification bureau as follows: Under 16, 801; 15 years, 812; 16 years, 2,899; 17 years, 7,547; 18 years, 11,049; 19 years, 12,188; 20 years, 10,484; 21 years, 11,349; 22 years, 11,845; 23 years, 10,785, and 24 years, 10,528.

URGES CONTEMPT ACTION AGAINST THOS. R. CONDON

Master in Chancery Harry Smits recommended yesterday to Judge James J. Kelly in the Superior court that Thomas R. Condon, head of Condon Industries, Inc., a public utility concern, be held in contempt of court because he is $4,000 in arrears in his alimony payments to Mrs. Mary G. Condon, 893 Hawthorne place. She divorced him in July, 1930.

Judge Kelly ordered a master's hearing on Condon's resources after he had petitioned to have his alimony payments cut from $400 to $75 a month. Master Smits reported that the total of Condon's earnings and of the loans which he received from his mother and from the company which he heads was $78,574 during the twenty-eight months ending May 1, 1932.

Attorney Benjamin H. Davis, representing Mrs. Condon, asked that Condon be committed to jail for failure to pay the alimony as soon as the master's report had been submitted. It was then discovered that Condon, who had been present earlier, had left the courtroom. His brother informed Judge Kelly that he had gone to a hospital to have a minor operation performed.

Attorney Davis protested that the hospital visit was merely an excuse to evade the court hearing, but Judge Kelly continued the matter until Nov. 30.

SEIZED ON CHECK CHARGES.

KILLER BANDIT MAY CHANGE HIS PLEA TO GUILTY

Prosecutor Will Demand Death Penalty.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Leonard Connors, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary. Walter Tarnowy, Robert Fleming and Mattie Rizzo, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Rudolph Desort.

The prosecution of James [Iggy] Varecha, 17 year old rapist and killer, met an obstacle yesterday with the appearance of Attorney Joseph Nosek as counsel for the defense. Attorney Nosek, retained by the Varecha family, will replace the public defender today when Varecha is taken before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court on a charge of murdering Frank F. Jordan. Jordan was shot to death a week ago in an attempted robbery. The murder was followed by the kidnaping and rape of Miss Lillian Henry, niece of Deputy Police Commissioner John H. Alcock.

Court attachés predicted that the appearance in the case of Attorney Nosek would delay the trial until after the first of the year. It was believed that he would demand a jury trial and obtain the 30 days' delay allowed by the state Supreme court for preparation of a case. Before Attorney Nosek entered the case, Varecha was reported yesterday to have decided to make a plea of guilty today in an effort to escape the electric chair, even though he pleaded not guilty when he was arraigned before Judge Prystalski on Monday.

To Demand Death Penalty.

Assistant State's Attorney Walker Butler said yesterday that he would demand the death penalty regardless of whether Varecha stood by his plea of not guilty or changed it. The prosecutor seemed pleased with the prospect of having the case heard by a jury.

Robert De Mille, usher in the burlesque theater at 536 South State street, who said that he was fired because he brought about the capture of Varecha in the theater, told his story yesterday to the grand jury. After hearing De Mille, the jurors demanded that Sol Fichtenberg, manager of the burlesque house, be brought before them. Fichtenberg was reported to have been denounced by the jurors, who were unable to find any charge on which he could be indicted.

Police said yesterday that action would be started immediately to revoke the license of the theater. They discovered that Fichtenberg's license was revoked four years ago and that since that time he has been operating the place in the name of Max Schwartz, his brother-in-law.

Patron Causes Arrest.

The capture of Varecha came about, the grand jurors were told, when Bill Harmon, a patron of the theater, told his story to De Mille.

"Get me another seat," he is said to have told the usher. "I don't want to sit next to that crazy man. He told me he had two guns and had killed a guy and raped a woman on the south side. He says he has a man out buying him another gun so he can shoot it out with police."

De Mille went to the manager's office and told Fichtenberg of his suspicions. "I don't care if Varecha is here," the manager said, according to De Mille. "We don't want any cops around here."

After the arrest, De Mille said, Fichtenberg fired him with the remark that "we don't want any one around here that plays with the cops."

Frank Varecha, 19 year old brother of the killer, was held yesterday at the detective bureau, where police said they would charge him with being an accessory after the fact. Frank Varecha confessed that he disposed of the revolver his brother used in the murder of Jordan.

Police Patrol Loses Race with a 7 Lb. Boy

Jacob Leimann, 7720 Patterson avenue, sent a hurry call to the Cragin police station for an ambulance last night. A patrol wagon in charge of Policeman Patrick McInerney was sent to the home. Mrs. Hulda Leimann, 35 years old, wife of Jacob, was hastily placed in the vehicle. Swiftly the patrol wagon was driven to the county hospital. But not swiftly enough. On the way Mrs. Leimann gave birth to a boy. At the hospital it was said the baby and the mother and the father were all getting along well. The baby weighed seven pounds.

Mark Anniversary on Thanksgiving

The Thomas Nelsons in Reminiscence.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Tonight—Thanksgiving eve—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson, of 334 North Laramie avenue, will have been married sixty-three years. And tomorrow, Thanksgiving day, they will observe the occasion fittingly at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Grace Hanson, 5213 Lake street. But yesterday was a time for reminiscing in their own home about all the exciting things that have happened to them since they were a bride and groom in a San Francisco boarding house.

Mrs. Nelson, who is 81 years old, smoothed back her bobbed white hair and, with a sentence or two put in now and then by her 91-year-old husband, she told their story.

Wed in San Francisco.

"We attended a ball in Glasgow, when I was 16, but I didn't know Thomas and he didn't know me then," Mrs. Nelson began. "We first met right here in Chicago, but we got married out in San Francisco where Thomas had gone to work—he was a carpenter. We were married on Thanksgiving eve in 1869. The boarding house made a big party of it. They had a big dinner and I remember we had turkey and an eight story cake and I was too excited to eat.

"We came back to Chicago a short time later because I was afraid of the earthquakes. And we hadn't been back so very long before the Chicago fire occurred. I remember I carried my first daughter up and down all night wrapped in a Scotch plaid shawl and my husband got lost on the other side of the river and didn't come back for two days. His carpenter shop burned."

Helped Build Chicago.

Mr. Nelson, who was sitting by the window, laid down his pipe and continued: "I helped build some of the big loop buildings. I worked for Clark & Sons and in '67 we built the water works tower, which escaped the fire. I was foreman. And I helped build the Sherman house, too. I was down working in St. Louis at the time of the great cyclone. Yes, I guess I've been through a lot—earthquakes, cyclones, the great fire, and watching Chicago grow up."

There are ten living children, forty-three grandchildren and nine great grandchildren. In previous years the Nelsons rented a hall for the Thanksgiving feast so the youngest among them wouldn't have to eat at second and third table and draw all the turkey necks and wings. This year, however, seven sons who follow the building trades are without work.

"But I have a lot to be thankful for," Mrs. Nelson resumed. "Mr. Nelson and I have good health, and we can thank God for that. We can still keep house alone. We can read our Bible every day and listen to the radio, too. Besides that, I often go shopping downtown.

"Our sons still come to their father for advice on building. We watch for THE TRIBUNE every morning, and follow all the news. We really have a lot to be thankful for."

DISCOVER PAINTINGS OF ANCIENT MEXICAN TRIBE ON TOMB'S FLOOR

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The tombs of Monte Alban in the state of Oaxaca, scene of the richest archaeological discoveries of this continent, today yielded evidence that the ancient Zapotec tribe of southern Mexico was expert in the civilized art of relief painting.

Dr. Alfonso Caso, government archaeologist, announced that paintings had been found on the floor and door jam of a dust filled tomb. The paintings were done in brilliant greens, reds, and yellows, and the colors were well preserved, he said. It is not yet possible to determine what the ancient artists portrayed or what significance their work may have.

Near the door of the burial place was a skeleton without a skull and in a corner were a heap of bones and four large pottery dishes filled with an unknown substance mixed with the bones of a small animal, perhaps those of a dog. The archaeologist also found two dipper-like incense burners, two small translucent green axes, several ear ornaments, numerous bits of jade, the skull of a bird, and several hollow engraved bones.

CZECH MIDWIVES WRECK TALE OF STORK AND BABY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 22.—Mothers of Czechoslovakia no longer can tell their children that the stork brings babies. Dissatisfied with their pay, members of the midwives' union from all parts of the country today held a demonstration in the streets of the capital. Traffic was paralyzed for more than an hour.

Czechoslovakian, Hungarian, Ruthonian, and Polish midwives carried banners reading: "We brought you into the world. We want better pay!" and "Sick insurance and insurance for the idle are recognized by our union."

The ministry of interior reported a willingness to consider the demands of the midwives who returned home late tonight to resume their tasks.

POLICE OFFICER TAKES BLAME FOR KUHN'S ARREST

Lieutenant Is Witness in $100,000 Suit.

Lieut. Leo Carr of the police department yesterday assumed the blame for the arrest of William S. Kuhn Jr. two years ago which resulted in Kuhn's suit for $100,000 damages on a charge of false arrest. Lieut. Carr testified in the court of Superior Judge Peter H. Schwaba that he alone was responsible for the arrest of Kuhn on charges of having written extortion letters to Marion Wright, daughter of William Van Doren Wright, steel company executive.

Kuhn's suit is against Miss Wright, her father, Alexander Jamie, chief investigator for the Secret Six, and two others.

Earlier in the suit Wright had asserted that he was not answerable on the charges of "false arrest and malicious prosecution," because Edgar Dudley and other Secret Six operatives had taken the initiative in the matter and "I was just led around." Former Assistant State's Attorney C. Wayland Brooks took the stand on Monday to corroborate the fact that Miss Wright had signed a complaint against Kuhn, at his direction, without reading the document.

Takes Blame from Secret 6.

Lieut. Carr's testimony yesterday apparently removed the blame from the Secret Six, since Carr explained that he was connected with that group "only indirectly." He "represented the police department" as a contact man with the Secret Six, he said.

While Kuhn's counsel, Frederic Burnham, tried to prove that Carr had been placed in charge of the Kuhn case by Jamie and Dudley, Carr refused to concede the point on cross-examination. He insisted that he was justified in arresting Kuhn, even though his lack of a warrant was protested then by Burnham, because he believed he was in possession of sufficient evidence to connect Kuhn with the felony.

Another Policeman Testifies.

Another defense witness who submitted testimony on behalf of Jamie was Edward Farr, 1219 West 71st place, a policeman employed by the Secret Six during a leave of absence from the police department. He asserted that Jamie had given most of his efforts at the time of the Kuhn case to the Clearing bank robbery.

Defense Attorney Edward Everett declared that Burnham had "sought to stigmatize "the Secret Six by referring to the organization by that name. The real title of the group, he declared, is the crime prevention and punishment committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Some mild hilarity was occasioned in the courtroom by Everett's efforts to avoid reference to the Secret Six as such and substitute the formal title he had mentioned. He was finally advised by the chuckling Burnham to stick to the shorter phrase.

Effort to Trap Writer.

Donald L. Kooken of 6934 South Harper avenue, assistant to Jamie, told of inserting an advertisement in a newspaper on Nov. 25, 1930, in an effort to trap the extortioner. It read, "McKay—Everything done as per instruction. —M. S. W." The initials were Miss Wright's, and McKay was the name signed to the extortion notes.

Miss Wright is not expected to take the stand before Monday, as Judge Schwaba gave notice that he would adjourn court this noon until after the Thanksgiving holiday.

ROBINS RESTS AFTER STRAIN OF REGAINING MEMORY OF NAME

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Raymond Robins, 59 year old reformer and friend of Presidents, who regained his memory here yesterday, suffered a relapse today. He had to be kept in bed.

When he arose this morning he complained of feeling dizzy. He immediately returned to bed, where he remained all day. He told his physician he felt weak and exhausted from the strain he has been under since he was found last Thursday in Whittier, a mountain village sixty miles from here.

Mrs. Margaret Dreier Robins, his wife, whom he finally recognized yesterday afternoon, spent the day in his room.

Late this afternoon Mrs. Robins gave out a statement through her nephew, John C. Dreier of Brooklyn, who has been acting as press representative for the family.

Mrs. Robins said her husband did not remember anything that he did between 7 o'clock the night of Saturday, Sept. 3 when he disappeared from the City club in New York, after dinner with Mr. Daniel A. Poling, New York prohibition leader, with whom he was associated, and the time he arrived in Whittier as Reynolds Rogers. That was on Friday, Sept. 9 according to the best information now available.

FOUR CLEARED OF CIRCULATION FRAUD CHARGES

Youngstown, O., Nov. 22.—[AP]—Four newspaper executives today were cleared of charges of fraudulent advertising through alleged "padding" of circulation figures of the Youngstown Telegram in 1931.

A tribunal of three judges, who heard the trial without a jury, granted a defense motion for dismissal with the statement, given by Common Pleas Judge David Jenkins, that they "were not convinced beyond a reasonable doubt" after a careful scrutiny of the state's case.

Those discharged were John T. Watters, business manager of the Telegram; James Morrisey, circulation manager; Joseph Finster of Dallas, Tex., former circulation manager, and Thomas Dowling of New York, national circulation adviser for Scripps-Howard newspapers. None of the defendants had any statement to make immediately.

The defense charged the indictments were the outgrowth of a conspiracy between Ola R. Scott, former circulation manager of the Telegram and a leading witness for the state, and Walter Test, circulation manager for the Youngstown Vindicator, to "get" Finster.

Zack Miller Convicted for Failure to Pay Alimony

Newkirk, Okla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A District court jury today convicted Zack Miller, pioneer ranchman, of contempt of court for failure to pay temporary alimony to Mrs. Margaret Blevens-Miller, his estranged wife. Judge Claud Duval, presiding, set Nov. 26 as date for rendering judgment.

INQUEST ADDS NEW MYSTERY TO REVELER'S DEATH

Seen Day After Supposed Date of Death.

New mystery was injected into the investigation of the death of Edward Book, 24 years old, who was found dead Nov. 4 beside Salt creek in the forest preserve at La Grange Park when a witness at a coroner's inquest yesterday testified that he had seen Book alive 24 hours after he supposedly had met his death from alcoholism and exposure.

When the inquest was reopened yesterday in La Grange Park the jury was told that poison liquor, first blamed for Book's death, had played no part in it. Book, a step-son of Albert W. Youngblood, instructor at Lyons township high school in La Grange, disappeared after a Halloween drinking party held by a group of young people at a barbecue stand in Ogden avenue near Hinsdale.

Recalls Finding of Body.

His body was not found, however, until four days later. At the inquest yesterday William Foxarty, 18 years old, a student at St. Joseph's institute in La Grange Park, and two of his playmates testified that on Nov. 1, the day after the party, they had been within 25 feet of the spot where the body was found later and that they were sure it was not there then.

Deputy Coroner Matt Tychsen also pointed out to the jury that Book's body was in a cramped position as if he had been seated in a chair when he died, and that there was no mud on the clothing despite the muddy ground where it was found. Both circumstances indicated that Book had died at some other spot and that the body had been carried to the creek.

Seen Day After Party.

The jury had already retired and was drawing up its verdict when Youngblood suggested to Deputy Coroner Tychsen that he summon as a witness Eugene Karnes, clerk in a haberdasher's shop at 104 West Burlington avenue, La Grange. Karnes when called, testified that he had seen Book walk past the store on Nov. 2 which was more than 24 hours after he had left Sieling's automobile.

"He was walking with his head low, as if downcast," said Karnes.

Prosecutor Gets Subpoena for C. L. Strauss Records

A subpoena duces tecum for the records of the C. L. Strauss Investment company, whose head, C. L. Strauss, is a fugitive, was obtained yesterday by the state's attorney's office from Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court. The records are in the office of the Strauss company at 33 North La Salle street. After Strauss fled the prosecutors discovered that he had defrauded many of his customers in bucket shop operations. No trace of the fugitive broker has been found.

GRAMMER SUCCEEDS JONES AS SENATOR FROM WASHINGTON

Olympia, Wash., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Gov. Roland Hartley today appointed E. S. Grammer, Seattle lumberman and Republican, to succeed the late Senator Wesley L. Jones of Seattle, thus assuring a Republican majority in the senate during the coming short session of congress. The lineup will be: Republicans, 48; Democrats, 47; Farmer-Labor, 1.

Grammer is an executive of the Flora Logging company of Seattle. During the world war he was connected with the spruce products division of the war department.

Mr. Grammer declined to comment on his attitude toward the prohibition question, the bonus or war debts.

The new senator was born in Hickory county, Missouri, and married Emma Kindley of Bentonville, Ark., Jan. 21, 1904. Ten years after coming to Washington in 1887 he had charge of construction of the Chilkoot pass aerial tramway in Alaska.

He has been engaged in logging activities in this state since 1906. He is a member of the F. & A. M. and the Shrine. He is a Presbyterian.

INDICT TABLOID EDITOR; CHARGE EXTORTION PLAN

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Owen Remington, publisher of "Brevities," a weekly tabloid newspaper, today was indicted on a charge of extortion by the Hennepin county grand jury.

Indictment of Remington, former police reporter for a Minneapolis newspaper, came after the grand jury heard witnesses tell of an alleged attempt to "shake down" a Minneapolis girl for $500 on the threat of revealing in "Brevities" the story of a night she was alleged to have spent in a nearby town with a man.

Remington has been held in jail since his arrest Friday after the girl is said to have paid $50 to a go-between. Arraignment probably will take place tomorrow.

Colds can be ABORTED
(with lemon juice)

Don't waste time with cold remedies that only relieve a cold. If you want to end your cold, abort it. The lemon juice treatment will do it. Squeeze two full-size lemons in a large glass of very hot water and drink without sugar. First, take three tablets of Pape's cold compound an hour apart. This clears the head, dries the nasal passages, reduces any fever. The lemon juice then drives all cold symptoms right out of the system. Bedtime is best. This treatment will abort the worst cold, overnight. One cold compound tablet will check a cold at any time, for several hours; then when night comes you can get rid of it by abortion. Any druggist has Pape's cold compound. It's perfectly safe. Try it, and you'll never go back to half-way remedies.

Because it gets better results the Chicago Tribune during the first ten months of 1932 printed more than 450,000 more lines of want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper.

VALLEY STATES BATTLE TO SAVE GULF WATERWAY

Fight Diversion Joker in St. Lawrence Treaty.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The United States senate was urged by the Mississippi Valley association late today to modify article 8 of the pending St. Lawrence seaway treaty with a view to preserving the Illinois waterway, now on the verge of completion, and the lakes to gulf water route.

The association, which represents 24 states in the valley, took the ground that in its present form the proposed treaty, by 1939 would leave the $108,000,000 Illinois waterway without sufficient water to float the barges and operate the locks. Its legal counsel, Cleveland Newton, is to appear before the Borah committee to set forth the objections of the valley to the treaty.

Minority Report Included.

For the purposes of the record, the upper Mississippi delegates put in a minority report dissenting from the opposition to the treaty voiced in the majority resolutions.

The northerners, largely from Minnesota and Iowa, indorsed St. Lawrence seaway and expressed "confidence" that congress would protect inland waterways.

By an overwhelming majority the association approved the St. Lawrence project, but stipulated that the treaty needs amendment if the Mississippi inland waterway system is to retain water enough to operate as a traffic route between the great lakes and the Gulf of Mexico.

As the treaty stands, article 8 gives control of Lake Michigan, which is inside the United States and not a boundary water, to an international commission, and it limits diversion for the waterway to 1,500 cubic second feet, to which the sanitary district of Chicago must reduce the flow by Dec. 31, 1938, under a ruling of the United States Supreme court.

Need 5,000 feet as a Minimum.

Army engineers have testified in various hearings that unless the waterway has a diversion of at least 5,000 feet, barge commerce would be driven from the waterway. The Mississippi valley, straining against the competition of the Panama canal, would be in the wierd position of having a waterway, but not enough water to operate it. The resolutions adopted by the convention read:

"We reaffirm our faith in the merits of a St. Lawrence waterway from the lakes to the Atlantic.

"We insist, however, upon modification of the St. Lawrence treaty now pending before the U. S. senate, which will provide for a continuation of a sufficient amount of the existing diversion of water from Lake Michigan to insure a commercially navigable waterway from the lakes to the gulf in conformity with the project adopted by congress."

Adopted Without Debate.

Leaders of twenty years standing and more in the lakes to gulf waterway movement, before the resolutions committee insisted strongly that in its present form the treaty would simply hand over to Canada, flowage advantages already recognized in the treaty of 1910.

This treaty, dealing with water power diversion at Niagara Falls, recognized a diversion of 10,000 cubic feet at Chicago by the sanitary canal, but Elihu Root, then secretary of state, refused to let is be written into the treaty on the ground that it would serve to make Lake Michigan a boundary water.

Assail Railroad Rate Cuts.

The association likewise criticized the railroads for "cut throat" rates to drive commerce off the waterway. The resolution said:

"We note with concern and hostility the recent attitude of the interstate commerce commission towards the disposition of railroad managements to abandon precedent and precaution, and indulge in a frenzy of rate cutting, on a limited number of commodities and in limited areas, apparently to gain, at heavy cost to themselves and to the public, such business as other forms of transportation have been carrying with evident satisfaction to shippers, with the ill disguised purpose of destroying other forms of transportation."

Attacks Bureaucratic Policies.

During the sessions Congressman Joseph B. Shannon of Kansas City, chairman of the committee investigating government competition with private business, made an address outlining the evidence so far taken against bureaucracy.

"O, for an Andrew Jackson," said Mr. Shannon, "who would make active war against bureaucracy, which, like the old guard, never surrenders, but is always trying to expand its scope."

Maj. Gen. T. G. Ashburn, president of the Inland Waterways corporation—federal barge line—denied a charge of the railroads that the barges are costing the taxpayers millions.

LOSING BATTLE TO SAVE N. Y. WORLD IS REVEALED IN COURT

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—At the time of its sale, 18 months ago, the New York World had reserve funds that would have permitted its publication only 90 days more, the appellate division of the Supreme court was told today.

Vincent L. Leibell, counsel for minor grandchildren of the late Joseph Pulitzer, told the court that if the World and the Evening World had not been sold quickly the Pulitzer heirs would have seen the assets of the papers "evaporate before their eyes."

Leibell appeared in opposition to efforts of former World employes to have the sale rescinded.

Gustavus Rogers, counsel for James W. Barrett and Foster Gilroy, former city editor and business manager respectively of the World, had criticized the financial arrangements under which the papers were sold to the Scripps-Howard chain.

Leibell said the most drastic economies proposed by experts were tried without success.

"We finally sold it to the Scripps-Howard newspapers at a $5,000,000 selling price," he said. "Already $1,000,000 in cash has been paid. Instead of wasting money by trying to continue the World the trustees stopped the loss and got cash for the World's assets."

Rogers said he had made an offer to purchase the papers on behalf of the World employes under the Pulitzer will but that it was not considered.

CANADIAN CLAIMS SEAWAY PROJECT WOULD AID U. S.

CALGARY, Alberta, Nov. 22.—(AP)—That a report on the St. Lawrence waterways project, prepared by a United States commission and rejected in that country, had been accepted by the Candian government without question, was the statement made today by Prof. C. P. Wright of Acadia university, Wolfville, N. S.

In an address before the league of social reconstruction, Prof. Wright declared the project would not be of advantage to the Canadian wheat growers, but would aid the American producer.

He said ships would be able to reach Chicago and Milwaukee and dispose of large cargoes, then load wheat, making the round trip profitable. On the other hand, he thought ships would journey to Fort William and Port Arthur for wheat mostly in ballast as they would not be able to dispose of cargoes in these smaller centers. He also believed transportation costs from Chicago to the seaboard would be much les than those from the Canadian lake head, which he termed a further drawback to Canada.

MAYOR HAGUE TO BECOME CZAR OF SILK INDUSTRY

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, New Jersey's Democratic boss and an important figure in the last campaign, has accepted the offer of a group of silk dyers to become "czar" of the industry, it was reliably reported today.

The offer, made last summer and now supposedly accepted, will bring the mayor, a close friend of Ex-Gov. "Al" Smith, a salary of $100,000 a year, according to the report, but will not retire him from politics.

Final agreement on the offer was reached, it was learned, at a conference this afternoon in which the mayor and his counsel, John Milton, met former Judge John Evans and Alexander Paterson, representing the industry.

An executive for the industry has been urged among a group of dyers, for some time, to iron out the troubles over price-cutting wars and overstocking of the market.

SENTENCED FOR MURDER.

La Salle, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—August Ferne, 45, of Cherry, today was sentenced to 30 years in state prison for the murder last May 18 of Ignats Dziech, 50, Cherry miner. Charges against two brothers, Jacob and Benjamin Court, were dropped. The case against a co-defendant, Joseph Gaspari of Ladd, was continued until Monday.

CHARGE FARMERS OF NEW ZEALAND IMPERIL STATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Nov. 22.—The farmer has suddenly become the target of political leaders in this country. It is charged that instead of being the conservative backbone of the country, he has gone radical. He is accused of being a hacker and user of politics in every field.

With produce values crashing all round him the farmer sought two things. Political leaders here charge he struck at the system of an interlocking government of wage scales and working conditions under the state industrial commission and that he struck at his own creditors. They allege the unions were forced to enter the open labor market and take what the employers would give unless the employers showed themselves willing to accept the industrial commission's intervention. Few regional organizations of employers and no national organization of the front rank have yet agreed to this intervention.

Hits Protection of Workers.

The farmer, it is charged, did this on purely academic grounds.

"He saw or thought he saw that high wage rates in sheltered industries were increasing his production costs and he dealt a blow at these costs through the abolition of the protection which the workers had received for more than 30 years," politicians said.

"But along with this the farmer protested that he was unable to meet interest payments on his farm to private banks, state lending institutions or ordinary financiers. The farmers' government then passed a moratorium which means that any farmer may live on his farm without paying rent."

This moratorium not created an organization to which farmers might apply if they were unable to meet the interest due on loans made before the passing of the legislation. This organization, working under the provisions of the mortgagors' and tenants' relief act, has wide powers. In some cases it has reduced the farmers' interest to the level of one-fifth of a cent on each $100 loaned. It is payable yearly "if demanded."

These two factors are regarded in some quarters as typical of the farmer in politics. It is charged that he has cut the receipts of his employes and of his bankers, and that he has not realized that he has done anything unusual.

"To him it is merely one step in the route to make safe the agricultural backbone of the country," politicians allege.

Ahead on Exchange Rate.

The farmer's efforts to dig himself have not stopped here. During the last year he has been prominent in a controversy over the question of the exchange rate between New Zealand and London. This rate is now 10 per cent against this country. According to political chiefs, this means that the farmer, who supplies more than 90 per cent of the total exports, has been winning a rich bonus.

However, through their organization, their officials and their representatives in the national assembly, the farmers have made it clear that they consider the rate of exchange should be at least 20 or 25 per cent, and that the nation owes this to the agriculturists.

They are also demanding the prohibition of free state dental clinics for city school children and of aid for young mothers, while they collect subsidies on fertilisers and railway freights. They are accused of denouncing the number of state departments on one hand and calling upon the government to create a national pension fund on the other.

TUBERCULOSIS TESTS FOR 500,000 PUPILS TO BEGIN IN JANUARY

Examinations of Chicago's half million public school children for tuberculosis cases will be started after the Christmas holidays. Plans were announced yesterday following a conference between William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools; Dr. W. A. Evans, chairman of the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute's committee in charge of examinations, and Mrs. Theodore B. Sachs, superintendent of the institute.

The first step will be preliminary tests of school children by teachers and principals acting under the direction of the institute. The children who exhibit symptoms of the disease will undergo thorough examination by three doctors and two nurses, who will make a diagnosis and prescribe treatment.

Funds for the program will be obtained through the receipts from the sale of Christmas seals, which finances the work of the tuberculosis institute. Dr. Evans said that an initial fund of $15,000 will be provided to start the service.

Mr. Bogan pointed out that in examinations conducted last spring by the Chicago Medical society 821 suspected cases of tuberculosis were discovered among children under 10 years. Ninety cases were subsequently diagnosed as active tuberculosis.

SPAIN PUTS 26 AIDS OF PRIMO DE RIVERA ON TRIAL FOR COUP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Nov. 22. — In a half empty salon of the former senate, 23 generals and three civilians sat today before the "sovereign people" as represented by 20 members of the Cortes, who will pass on their guilt or innocense in connection with the dictatorial coup d'état of 1923.

The deserted benches and empty galleries testified to the public indifference to this unusual trial of former cabinet officials who helped Primo de Rivera rule 22,000,000 Spaniards over six years without a mandate.

Garcia Prieto, premier in 1923, was the first witness. He explained the futility of his efforts to check the military conspiracy. One of the defending lawyers was José Antonio Primo de Rivera, eldest son of the late dictator, who sat with his head bowed as the prosecutor blamed his father.

HITLER MAKES FINAL PLEA FOR GERMAN RULE

Seeks to Have Hindenburg Remove "Strings."

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—Declaring it is impossible to form a parliamentary cabinet under the conditions prescribed by President Paul von Hindenburg, Adolf Hitler, National Socialist leader, tonight drafted a memorandum which will be submitted to the president tomorrow. In this note he makes a last effort to induce Von Hindenburg to grant him the chancellorship without any strings attached to it.

It is a conciliatory document. Hitler carefully explains why he finds the conditions attached to his appointment "in conflict with the spirit of the constitution." He also leaves the door open for his possible coöperation in a government chosen by the president.

Hitler Attends Opera.

While Germany is anxiously waiting to hear whether Hitler will accept the reins of power, the Nazi chief went to the state opera tonight to hear Wagner's "Die Meistersinger." Capt. Hermann Goering, Nazi speaker of the old reichstag, and Wilhelm Frick, worked on the text of the memorandum.

In the first part they analyze the conditions by which the president tied up Hitler's chancellorship from legal and historical viewpoints. The conclusion states that practical work would be impossible under the restrictions imposed upon Hitler.

In the second part Hitler, in the name of the strongest party in the land, outlines for the president how he believes the nation should be governed. He indorses the idea of a presidential cabinet, thus leaving a loophole open for his own participation.

Work All Day.

Hitler and his aids worked on the memorandum all day long in reply to the message received from the president's office this morning, reiterating Von Hindenburg's conditioned offer. Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the reichsbank, Wilhelm Cuno, a former chancellor, the duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha and emissaries of the reichswehr [army] called at the Nazi leaders' headquarters to urge him to accept the chancellorship offered by Von Hindenburg.

"Only one man in Germany can be chancellor today and he is Hitler," Schacht exclaimed.

Schacht called on Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, Nationalist leader, and tried to pave the way for a reconciliation between the Nazis and Nationalists in order to secure a majority in the new reichstag for a government headed by Hitler. Hitlerites said that the negotiations with Hugenberg are progressing satisfactorily.

Hindenberg Resents Delay.

Von Hindenberg, it was learned today, resents the slowness with which Hitler is making his decisions. The president conferred with Chancellor von Papen this afternoon. Later a semi-official communique was issued. It warned against rumors alleging that officials are trying to prevent the formation of a new cabinet.

"Rumors greatly hamper the work of the negotiators," the communique said.

Nazi storm troopers, who in recent weeks have not showed themselves in uniforms, are reappearing on Berlin streets in full military equipment on their way to training camps. Great unrest prevails at storm troop headquarters, but the leaders state that the men are fully under control.

Authorities are closely watching radicals of all groups. In Ludwigshafen sixteen communist leaders were arrested today. They were charged with plotting an unrising.

BANK ORDERED TO PAY DEPOSITS OF $2 OR LESS

Circuit Judge Joseph Burke yesterday ordered the receiver of the North Avenue State bank, which closed in 1931, to pay off in full all the depositors whose accounts amounted to $2 or less. An audit of the books disclosed that 8,352 of the 26,000 depositors were within the $2 classification. They will be paid $9,867 out of the funds now in the receiver's hands.

The judge explained that his order was given in an effort to save costs of bookkeeping and to cut down postal charges.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively has no equal for quick, lasting relief.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and heals the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

RIOT PICTURES FAKED! BRITISH WAR CHIEF SAYS

Assails Stories of London Disorders in U. S. Press

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Reference to recent faked pictures and to an Associated Press dispatch published in the United States about the march on Buckingham palace by the hunger marchers during the London riots on Oct. 30, was made by Lord Hailsham, British secretary of war, and president of the Pilgrim society, at a luncheon today. The luncheon was in the form of a welcome to Robert Frazer, new United States consul general in London.

[The Tribune, the New York Times and other American newspapers maintaining correspondents in London used the Associated Press dispatch because the story appeared to be more adequately and colorfully covered than those received from their own men. The pictures to which Hailsham objected were used by the New York Mirror, a tabloid.]

Lord Hailsham in his address spoke on a consul's duty to promote trade relations and travel between the two countries.

No Danger of Riots.

"Although Frazer has been here only a few days, he may be able to give useful information to his own countrymen," he said. "He may, for instance, tell them that they may come to London without any serious danger of riots.

"Although it is quite true that the pictures of crowds of thousands were in fact photographs of huge mobs crowded around Buckingham palace, it can be shown that those pictures were not taken in 1932, but in 1928. Instead of representing a riotous, starving mob attempting to enter Buckingham palace in an effort to make protests to their sovereign, the pictures represent in fact the anxiety of many thousands of British citizens when the health of their king was in danger—that king whose strongest throne lies in the effections of his subjects.

Points to Cheering Crowds.

"Frazer may be able to tell those persons representing newspapers that a truer picture of the sentiment of his majesty's loyal subjects may be found by portraying the enthusiasm with which thousands welcomed his majesty, now happily restored to health, on his journey to open parliament today, and his return through lines of cheering citizens to Buckingham palace, where he reigns secure."

Lord Hailsham made an appeal to the United States and Great Britain to stand together, as they did in the dark days of the world war, in the almost darker days of the present to protect the economic world. The two nations are equally certain of disaster if they fail to coöperate, he said.

CALIFORNIA VICTIMS OF STATE'S DRY LAW NOW FACING PARDONS

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—District Attorney Buron Fitts today received a request from the office of Gov. Rolph at Sacramento asking a complete list of all state prohibition law violators confined in Los Angeles county. The letter was signed by William Smith, the governor's private secretary.

Fitts directed County Jailer Clem Peoples to make a canvass of the jails here. That official said 140 to 150 prisoners are now serving sentences for violation of the Wright law, the state prohibition measure. Gov. Rolph has issued a public statement that pardons should be granted to such persons, following the 2 to 1 repeal vote at the Nov. 8 election.

MANCHURIAN WAR REOPENS; 21 JAPS SLAIN IN BATTLES

Struggle for Possession of Province Under Way.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 22.—Chinese and Japanese guns blazed away today northwest of Harbin, Manchuria, in three clashes which, it is feared, are the forerunners of an impending major battle for the possession of Heilungkiang province.

A strong body of Japanese and Manchukuo troops set out last week from Harbin to stop the advance southward or an army of 30,000 Chinese loyalists reported to be under the command of Gen. Ma Chan-shan, the "ghost general," about whose existence the contending forces are unable to agree. This army has Tsitsihar, capital of Heilungkiang province, as its objective. The two major forces at last reports were about ten miles apart.

21 Japanese Slain.

In the three clashes yesterday the Chinese claimed that the Japanese suffered a loss of 21 dead and 275 wounded in an engagement near the town of Yaokula.

A Japanese dispatch reported that a cavalry detachment advancing northward from Anta, on the Chinese Eastern Railway, encountered 1,800 loyalists. It is claimed the Chinese were defeated with heavy losses.

Japanese reports claim that the Chinese troops are without munitions and food supplies and will be unable to resist the Japanese advance effectively.

Japs Transfer 6,000 Troops.

Gen. Su Ping-wen, commander of the Chinese loyalist troops on the western branch of the Chinese Eastern railway, sent a wireless message to Nanking in which he asserted that the Japanese have transferred 6,000 more troops to Tsitsihar, including artillery and cavalry, and that Gen. Nobuyoshi Muto, Japanese commander-in-chief in Manchuria, will soon move his headquarters from Changchun to Tsitsihar to take personal command.

Gen. Su, who is still holding more than 100 Japanese prisoners as hostages in Manchuli, yesterday released 42 Japanese women. They crossed into Siberia.

Notorious Bandit Surrenders.

The Japanese today released details of the annihilation of their Kawasaki cavalry detachment. It was stated that Chinese loyalists killed and badly mutiliated 57 Japanese cavalrymen. A funeral service is scheduled on Nov. 26 at Tsitsihar for the victims.

Wang Yung-cheng, notorious Chinese bandit chief, who with 6,000 followers has been terrorizing the Corean frontier, was reported by the Japanese today to have surrendered and agreed to assist them.

U. S. GETS CHINA POST IN PLANNING WORLD PARLEY

Seen as New Move Against Japan.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Nov. 22.—At the instigation of the United States, China today was invited to join the select group of nations forming the league of nations council's committee of organization for the world economic conference.

Germany's request a month ago to have Russia participate in the preparations was overruled, but when the United States sponsored China, the latter was received with open arms. Ostensibly the idea behind the invitation is that the country which is the largest consuming unit in the world and also the largest user of silver ought to be consulted regarding arrangements for the world conference.

See Ulterior Motive.

But diplomats here see in it the first overt move by the United States since the enunciation of the Stimson doctrine of refusal to recognize any change in the status of Manchuria achieved through a policy of aggression, to give Japan a further sense of isolation.

China is potentially the greatest market in the world, but its present rôle in international trade, except with Japan, is negligible, economic advisers here say. Therefore the American move is interpreted as a desire to enhance China's prestige, reinforce the Nanking government, and intimidate Japan.

The Americans are credited with the eventual intention of bringing the world to aid in the economic organization of China not only to create a new market but to resist Japan.

Japs Scoff at Move.

The Japanese member of the committee said nothing when Norman Davis, American representative, put over the invitation, but later a Japanese spokesman said that, although "the American intentions were obvious," they were not important because the economic conference will never be held anyway.

Davis told the committee that the technical organizers ought to be given a free hand and that the conference ought to stress all kinds of "unwise commercial policies" undoubtedly responsible for the crisis.

The British press representatives immediately jumped to the conclusion that Washington had abandoned its stand against a discussion of war debts. Davis spent the day denying he said anything of the kind.

$225,000 DAMAGE SUIT FILED BY 9C MILK DAIRY

Damages totaling $225,000 were asked by the Meadowmoor Dairies, Inc. in a suit filed yesterday in the United States District court. The bill names seventy-nine defendants, including the Pure Milk association, the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, the Milk council, several supply houses and most of the old time milk distributing concerns in this area.

The bill, filed by Attorney Arthur F. Albert, was a supplemental action to that brought last week in which the dairy officials asked for a federal injunction to dissolve the "dairy trust." The damage suit charges violation of section 15 of the Clayton act.

Specific allegations of violence and intimidation in restraint of trade will be set forth, the bill states, in employes' affadavits to be filed later. The bill charges that specific acts of terrorism, false representations and threats caused the dairy company to lose 5,000 customers at a loss of $66,500 to the company.

The Meadowmoor company has been selling milk at 9 cents a quart, 2 cents under the price, charged by the distributors employing organized help.

WORK—or unemployment? Honest value—or shoddy goods? High standards of living—or low?

These are the things you decide when you choose between cheap foreign-made goods and quality goods of American manufacture.

American markets today are being invaded with inferior foreign imitations of American merchandise. In times like these low first cost may make such imitations seem like a good buy. But poor workmanship and bad materials make them many times more costly in the end!

In addition—every dollar you spend for foreign-made merchandise helps throw an American worker out of a job.

We know that these things are true today in the electric lamp bulb industry. And that they are also true of many other important American businesses.

That is why we ask you to . . Buy American . . get more for your money . . help a worker hold his job!

NEW YORK'S 13 MI. SPEEDWAY OPEN TO PUBLIC TODAY

Links Broadway to Jersey —Great Time Saver.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 21. — [Special.] — The 40 million dollar speedway linking the Holland tunnel with Newark has spun its steel web across the Jersey meadows and will be opened to the public tomorrow. With its completion Times square has been placed within an easy 30 minutes of Newark, transcontinental air transportation has been brought to within twenty-five minutes of Broadway, and an open road has been provided to the west for cross-country motorists.

The elevated motor speedway, which was built under the supervision of the New Jersey state highway department, is described as one of the world's outstanding engineering triumphs. The elevated section is 3½ miles long, crosses two rivers at a height of 135 feet, and has an average elevation of 75 feet above the swamp land.

Free to Public.

More than 32,461 tons of structural steel — 20,000 more tons than went into the George Washington bridge across the Hudson—have been riveted into place. The viaduct alone cost $18,000,000, and that represents a saving of $3,000,000, for the original estimate called for $21,000,000.

The speedway, with its approaches and elevated spans, is 13 miles long and was paid for mostly by New Jersey, federal aid amounting to about $600,000. The money obtained from the government, however, made a free road out of the speedway, as a taxpayers' association found out last month when it went to court in a futile effort to obtain a toll permit.

Railroads and automobile travelers have looked out across the meadow wastelands at the skeleton of the elevated road for the last two years.

Shows Lightness and Strength.

The viaduct is built upon pairs of reinforced concrete towers, those on either side of the Hackensack and Passaic rivers being 255 feet high. The towers are lined by reinforced concrete and are capped by steel "shoes." Upon the "shoes" rest arched spans of latticed steel. These carry the roadway from one pair of towers to the next. The entire effect is one of lightness and strength. The spans over both rivers are of the cantilever type.

The necessity of clearances of 135 feet over the rivers in order to eliminate draws brought the engineering problem of limiting the highway grade. It was worked out, however, so that the greatest grade at any point is 3.5 per cent. The speedway ran the range of engineering problems as it included bridges, highway, railroad overpasses and viaduct.

The roadway is 50 feet wide, providing five traffic lanes and along each side is a two foot emergency sidewalk It can carry 20 million vehicles a year

Clear Sweep Ahead.

The motorist entering the Holland tunnel on the New York side will encounter only one traffic light until he has sped over the entire thirteen miles at 35 to 45 miles an hour and has reached the Lincoln highway with a clear sweep ahead for Philadelphia and the west or south. Ramps on Hudson boulevard permit users of the George Washington bridge to enter the elevated speedway. There are also entrance and exit ramps at Jersey City and in the industrial center of Kearny.

The superhighway will be of great benefit to air transportation, speeding up both passenger and mail traffic. Mail trucks have already made test runs of 29 minutes from Manhattan's midtown postoffice to Newark airport cutting the old time just about in half.

Gov. A. Harry Moore, two former governors of New Jersey, mayors, bishops and army officers will take part in a dedication ceremony midway on the new road tomorrow afternoon. Water from the Caribbean, the St. Lawrence and the Atlantic and Pacific, brought here by airplanes, will be used in the ceremony.

HUNGRY SCHOOL PUPILS' FUND HAS A RED LETTER DAY

One Contribution Is for $100.

Days like yesterday are red letter events in the history of the Hungry School Children's fund—days that make opening the mail an adventure. There was the check for $100 that will have fed 1,000 youngsters before it has done its last good deed. There was the poignant donation of $1.00 with its accompanying terse message, "In memory of Billy Glader's birthday." And there was the triumphant announcement from the Kenwood-Loring school of the successful sale for the fund conducted there.

Testify to Holiday Spirit.

There were plenty of others, testifying to the holiday spirit abroad in Chicago at this Thanksgiving season. Each one carried its own generous spirit, down to the two dimes that arrived anonymously from one of the junior high schools. Every one will count, for the number of hungry boys and girls in this metropolis continues to be reckoned by the thousands, and every nickel helps.

"Maybe you think we sophomores and freshmen of the Kenwood-Loring school didn't work hard, getting ready for our food sale Thursday," ran one missive. "But egged on by our motto, 'Feed yourself and another hungry child,' and by the high standard set in previous sales, we persevered, and take pleasure in sending you our check for $7.33. One dollar was given us by a Chicago Heights friend—the rest we earned."

Right Sort of Spirit.

Isn't that the sort of spirit to raise a warm and friendly glow among youngsters who can't depend on the home larder for their next meal? We submit that more such letters and more such sales would make the depression a dead issue in short order if the enthusiasm were contagious.

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—Another link will be added to the system of commercial airlines of the German Lufthansa that stretch to all parts of Europe and several overseas countries when regular mail service between Berlin and Shanghai is begun next spring.

The line will be the longest commercial airline in the world. The 6,250 miles will be flown in five days. It is hoped later to reduce the flying time to three days by using faster types of planes which are now under construction and by equipping still more stretches of the line with facilities for night flying.

The mail line will run as a joint service of four companies. The Lufthansa and the German-Russian company, Peruluft, will run planes from Berlin to Moscow, where the mail will be picked up by planes of the central Russian air lines. No passengers will be carried at the beginning. Mail now travels 17 days by train from Berlin to Shanghai and six weeks by boat. Lufthansa's mail and freight line to South America will be opened at the same time.

BEST PROSPERITY NEARS, ASSERTS HENRY C. LYTTON

Optimist, 86, Warns U. S. Must Cut Expenses.

BY AL CHASE.

An 86 year old optimist—Henry C. Lytton—came back to State street yesterday aglow with enthusiasm for his company. Henry C. Lytton & Sons [The Hub], of which he has just regained control through purchase, and for business in general. He predicted, with the gusto of a youngster of 30 or 40, prosperous times both for the nation and his State street store.

Mr. Lytton announced that Henry C. Lytton & Sons have purchased the four Hub stores—the one in the loop and the ones in Evanston, Oak Park and Gary—from Fashion Park Associates of New York, who bought them from the Lytton interests three and a half years ago. The price paid by the Lyttons for the stores and their contents, leases, good will, etc., was not disclosed. It is known, however, that when the Fashion Park Associates purchased The Hub stores an exchange of stock was effected which resulted in the Lyttons being paid $7,000,000 in stock of the eastern concern.

Retired, But Still Chairman.

Although Henry C. Lytton, who celebrated his 86th birthday on July 13, retired from active business ten years ago, he still remains the chairman of the board. His son, George Lytton, is president of the concern. Both retained these positions even during the ownership of their stores by the Fashion Park Associates.

"We're going to come out of this depression with flying colors," said the elder Mr. Lytton. "It can't last much longer. Of course, it may be six months or a year before we actually notice we're getting out, but the future will be greater than ever before. I'm an optimist and always have been. I'm the only State street merchant alive today who is anywhere near my age."

Mr. Lytton declared there must be a cut in federal government expenses of three-quarters of a billion or the budget will never be balanced. He advocates a retail sales tax and was smilingly optimistic over the return of beer. With a beer tax, a sales tax and some common sense economy in Washington, things look extremely hopeful to this 86 year old merchant.

Believer in Advertising.

Mr. Lytton started in business on April 27, 1887, at the northwest corner of State and Jackson with a capital of $12,700. He spent $2,500 in fixtures and $3,500 in newspaper advertising. He declared that he is one of the greatest believers in newspaper advertising in Chicago. His first store was 50x100 and a basement.

The growth was so rapid that in a short time he had the entire block of State street frontage between Jackson and Quincy. In 1912 The Hub moved across to its present quarters in the eighteen story Lytton building, where it occupies nine floors and employs 600 men and women.

Mr. Lytton spends his winters at Cap d'Ail, in southern France, three and a half miles from Monte Carlo, to which resort he often strolls. His American home is in New York City.

Gus Carney, 27 years old, admitted bigamist, yesterday was taken to the Navy pier and in his own automobile reënacted for the police the murder of his second wife, Idema Mitchell Carney. He confessed the killing on Monday.

Carney demonstrated for the police how he had struck the girl on the head with a spring leaf from the car. The murder occurred in Los Angeles and Carney carried the body in the car to a lonely spot on the Mojave desert, where it was found on Oct. 18.

So far the killer has refused to disclose his motive. The police believe that he became angered when he learned an inheritance of $8,000, which Idema promised him she was to get, shrank to $800. Carney will be taken to Los Angeles for trial. His first wife, from whom he has never been divorced, lives in Carbondale, Ill.

Look 10 Years Younger Brushes Away Gray Hair

Now you can really look years younger. Simply brush away those unsightly streaks or patches of gray. It is so easy to do—and at home—with Brownatone. Over 20 years of success recommend this proved method. With an ordinary small brush you just tint your hair back to its natural shade—whether blonde, brown or black. Guaranteed harmless. Active coloring agent is purely vegetable. Does not coat the surface. Actually penetrates the hair. Defies detection. No tell-tale, flat "dyed" look. Cannot affect waving of hair.

No need to guess. First cut a lock of hair from your head and apply a little of this famous tint. If Brownatone does not give your gray, streaked, dull, or faded hair its natural color, youth and sheen, your money back. Only 50c.

NOW! PILES MEET THEIR WATERLOO!

No more pain! No more itching or scratching! No more torture when you sit or walk! No more torture at the stool! The relief of Piles has now been solved. No matter what the form of Piles you suffer from—genuine relief for you lies in Pazo Ointment.

Pazo not only stops the pain and itching and makes defecation easy but it tends to correct the condition of Piles as a whole. This is because Pazo is threefold in effect. It is (1) soothing, (2) healing, (3) absorbing. Thus, it not only allays the inflammation and repairs torn tissue, but actually reduces the swollen blood vessels, which are Piles. The method of application makes Pazo doubly effective (see picture below). Thousands say it saved them the need of a painful operation. Try Pazo yourself and realize from one trial that your days of pile suffering are over. All drug stores sell Pazo in Collapsible Tube with special Pile Pipe, complete for 75c.

Perforated Pile Pipe attached to Collapsible Tube Makes Application Correct and Easy

The PAZO Collapsible Tube and Perforated Pile Pipe makes it very easy to apply the Ointment high up in the rectum where it can reach and thoroughly cover all the affected parts. Complete interior treatment in all cases of Piles is plainly important.

Plenty of Credit

There are plenty of credit facilities available to the man of moderate means. He can borrow money, or buy almost anything—"on time." Installment credit, well understood, is universally offered—available to almost everyone.

That "puts it up" to everyone, particularly the man of curtailed income. He must shop—he must discriminate—he must choose. He should make sure that what he buys or what he borrows is costing not one cent more than it is necessary for him to pay—for money if he borrows money "on time," or for goods if he buys goods "on time."

May we give anyone who is desirous of borrowing from $50 to $1,000 or more an "open" invitation—call us up, come in, or write—to get the cost, the terms, and the conditions on whatever amount you may wish to borrow. Then you will be able to judge for yourself—and decide.

Robt. M'Laughlin Heads New Cab Company.

A new set of petitioners, the owners of the Century Cab company, have directed to Mayor Cermak and the city council a request that they be issued licenses for 1,500 taxicabs to be operated at rates considerably lower than those now in force in Chicago.

Officers of the new company are Robert E. McLaughlin, Harry I. Gordon, Max Railfman, and Clifford J. Gordon, all of whom were connected with the Checker Taxi company when that concern was, in form, a coöperative association of owner-drivers. They propose, their petition to the mayor recited, to establish a rate of 15 cents for the first one-third mile and 5 cents for each additional one-third mile. The prevailing rate now is 25 cents for the first quarter mile and 10 cents a half mile thereafter.

Charge a Monopoly.

Charges were made in the petition that the cab business in the city is now on a monopoly basis and is controlled by a taxicab manufacturing company in New York. It is further declared that the petitioners are confident this so-called monopoly is in violation of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust acts.

"A driver who seeks employment in the taxicab business," it was stated, "must seek this employment from the taxicab companies in this city which are under the control of the Checker Manufacturing company. It is a public matter that the majority stock of the Parmalee Transportation company is owned by the Checker Cab Manufacing corporation. It is a public matter that the controlling stock of the Yellow Cab company of this city is controlled in turn by the Parmalee company or by the Checker Cab Manufacturing corporation or by the officials of those corporations."

Less than 3,000 Taxicabs.

Figures were quoted to show that less than 3,000 cabs are now operating in the city, that Yellow and Checker have 2,500 of these and that only 200 are running under other sponsorship. It was asserted also that 700 cab licenses, which had been held by the Chicago Cab company, were withdrawn by the "Parmalee system" in the last few months.

The petition holds that 6,000 cabs, as provided in the last ordinance, should be the maximum number permitted to operate in the city. Issuance of 1,500 licenses to Century Cab, it was claimed, would not in any way endanger this figure.

Chicago taxicab control, McLaughlin and his associates charged, is in the hands of a group seeking a national monopoly, with branches in all large cities. They stated that in the Seabury-Walker investigation in New York it was brought out that they controlled half the 25,000 cabs now operating in that city.

FLYER UNCONSCIOUS FROM GAS, CRASHES; 2 PASSENGERS DEAD

Wharton, Tex., Nov. 22.—(AP)—An unconscious pilot was at the controls of an airplane which bore two men to their death on an unlighted field here last night.

From his bed in a hotel today, C. F. Lienesch, a veteran aviator, said he and the two passengers were overcome by carbon monoxide gas from the plane's exhaust heater over El Campo, a distance of 11 miles away.

"I don't remember a thing after we circled El Campo," Lienesch said. "E. C. Templeton and W. G. Gallagher, my passengers, complained the carbon monoxide gas from the exhaust heater was making them dizzy. I, too, felt odd and remember either trying to turn off the gas or actually doing so. Beyond that I don't remember a thing.

"In my subconscious mind I must have kept the ship's nose headed for the Wharton landing field and attempted to bring her down in the dark. I don't know what happened. I can't even remember the ride from El Campo here."

TWO HELD AS AUTO THIEVES.

Two youths, charged with automobile stealing, were held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Harold P. O'Connell. They are Jack Luna, 18 years old, 3138 Harrison street, and Albert Tenuta, 18, of 3239 Flournoy street.

BLAMES POLICE FOR FAILURE TO CONVICT GUNMEN

Judge Desort Replies to Crime Commission.

Judge Rudolph Desort in the Criminal court yesterday charged that the failure to convict gun toting gangsters and hoodlums is to be blamed on the police and not on the courts. The judge made this answer to a statement issued by Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago crime commission, who said that the judge overlooked an opportunity to make a test case on gun toting when he failed to convict Frank Diamond, well known hoodlum, who was liberated last week.

The Supreme court decision in the Jack McGurn gun toting case, the judge added, also answers the criticism made by the crime commission director in a letter sent to Frank J. Loesch, president of the commission. Chamberlin said that there is a lack of uniform action on the part of the judicial authorities.

Says Law Is Plain.

"It is not the fault of the courts that the police will not follow the law as expounded by the Supreme court of this state," said Judge Desort.

"The law is plain. If the police will testify that they arrested a gun toter because they suspected him in some felony case then a search is legal and a conviction can be obtained. The Oak Park police followed the law in arresting Jack Kral, a Capone gunman, and I sentenced him to two years in the Bridewell. They testified in that case that they suspected him of contemplating a robbery.

"It is not my fault that certain Chicago police officers will not show the same tact as the police of Oak Park. All decisions in gun cases are identical. It is the duty of this court to follow those decisions until such time as they are changed."

Illustrates His Point.

The judge then illustrated his point by calling attention to the Supreme court decisions in several gun cases. The Chicago policemen in each case are the same, William Drury and John Howe of the detective bureau. In the Anthony [Red] Kissane case they testified they arrested the defendant because they figured he might answer the description of a man wanted in the Lake View Trust and Savings bank robbery. Kissane was convicted and served one year for gun toting.

In that case the defense argued that the officers had referred to the Lake View bank robbery only to make the arrest legal; that in fact they had no reason to suspect Kissane and that he was never identified in the robbery. The Supreme court said:

"Where an arrest is made under such circumstances the officer has a right to search the arrested person without a search warrant. We cannot accede to the argument that we must reject the officer's testimony as falsehood, and our opinion is that the arrest and search were proper."

The McGurn Case.

The same policemen testified later against McGurn, who is a more widely known gangster than Kissane. They refused to say they suspected McGurn of participation in any crime. The Supreme court said:

"At the time of the arrest McGurn was restrained of his liberty and detained from going where he wished, without any warrant or without any sufficient legal authority, and his arrest was therefore unlawful. If officers who have taken an oath to support the constitution openly violate it how can they expect to retain the confidence and respect of the people for the administration of law."

The next appearance of Drury and Howe was in the Diamond case. Like McGurn, he is reputed to be a main cog in the old Capone machine.

The policemen testified they had no reason to suspect Diamond of any crime. Judge Desort, therefore, suppressed the evidence and the prosecution had no case.

Chamberlin's letter called attention to the number of continuances in the Diamond case and also to the fact that Judge Harry Fisher had tried to obtain a Supreme court decision on the right of a policeman to arrest a man whom he suspects of carrying a pistol. With this in mind Judge Fisher convicted Bob Macklin, colored, and ordered the public defender to make a test case of it. The case has not reached the Supreme court but the crime commission said that Judge Desort could have obtained a decision on the same point in the Diamond case.

In reply Judge Desort quoted from the McGurn decision as follows:

"Even if the person arrested, did, in fact, have a pistol concealed about his person, the fact not being discoverable without a search, the offense of thus carrying it was not, in legal contemplation, committed in the presence of the officer, and the latter violated a sacred constitutional right of the citizen in assuming to exercise a pretended authority to search his person in order to expose his suspected criminality."

Walker Keeps in Seclusion at Hotel on the Riviera

CAP D'ANTIBES, France, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Former Mayor James J. Walker of New York is keeping in seclusion at a hotel here. The former mayor expects to spend the winter at Cap d'Antibes, but he refused today to discuss reports that he will eventually go to Paris to live. "Any work there is to do will be done here," he was quoted as telling friends.

DEMANDS POLICE APPEAR IN CASE OF 8 GANGSTERS

Judge Frank M. Padden yesterday continued the hearing of a conspiracy charge against eight Chicago gangsters until today and ordered that the arresting policemen be brought into court. The defendants are Murray Humphries, alleged cleaning and dyeing terrorist; Charles Fischetti, once chauffeur for Al Capone; Marcus Looney, labor racketeer; William [Klondike] O'Donnell, west suburban gang chief; Patrick Sullivan, brother-in-law of the slain George Barker; William Martin, associate of James [Fur] Sammons; William [Three Fingered Jack] White, labor racketeer, and Sam Alex, minor hoodlum.

They were seized in a raid on an office suite at 1 North La Salle street and charged with conspiracy to collect campaign funds to influence an election unlawfully. Defense attorneys argued that no crime is alleged in the complaint and asked that the charge be quashed.

Prosecutor Russell Root told the court that he was unable to argue the case because the arresting policemen, Detectives John Howe and William Drury, had "kept it a secret."

"Why aren't they in court?" Judge Padden asked.

"I couldn't find them," the prosecutor said. Judge Padden communicated with Chief of Detectives Schoemaker and continued the hearing after ordering that the detectives appear.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY.

V. Power.

As was pointed out in a previous editorial, it is impossible to reckon the savings which American consumers of electricity may expect from the St. Lawrence seaway because no one can yet say what the power will cost or to whom the power will be distributed.

This much, however, can be said with considerable assurance: the power, if it is to be economically employed, will have to be sold in some considerable part to industries using enormous amounts of current, situated close to the generating plants; and much of the rest will have to be sold in the populous centers of New York state and southern New England.

It would be helpful in any consideration of the problem to know just what industries can be expected to consume as much as 250,000 horsepower on the American side of the St. Lawrence. Obviously, they must be one of two kinds, either metallurgical or chemical industries, which use enormous amounts of power. The assumption pretty generally has been that these industries will be found without difficulty. Possibly; but if so, the expectations should have something more than hope behind them. One of the large services which the senatorial committee investigating the St. Lawrence treaty can perform is to discover what companies are in the market for St. Lawrence power at the source and what they are willing to pay for it.

In this connection it is important to observe that there is a huge reserve of power in northeastern United States and in Canada which has not been developed, though no doubt some of it would cost considerably less than will be spent in laying concrete barrages across the St. Lawrence. In Canada alone the rivers are said to offer 12,000,000 potential electrical horsepower, of which only 3,000,000 has been developed; and even for that 3,000,000 some difficulty has been experienced in finding a market. Certainly it is fair to conclude that if the industries which employ electricity in brutal amounts were in great need of additional power resources they would not have had to wait for the treaty to get what they need. For example, the aluminum company built its own power plant using St. Lawrence water. It is true that some industries may come if the power is waiting for them; but again, they may not. And if they do it is fair to conclude that they will not be willing to pay an extravagant price for it. St. Lawrence power must be sold to them cheaper than they can get it anywhere else, proximity to raw materials and markets being taken into the reckoning.

The rest of the power must be sold where a market for it exists. The New York authorities talk a great deal about supplying electricity to the farms and railroads, but their talk is still vague. It seems fair to conclude that most of it will have to be sold in the New York and Boston areas. And here the whole question of power transmission enters, a question which will be handled in a subsequent editorial.

CONCERNING A CORRECTION.

President Hutchins of the University of Chicago says that a recent TRIBUNE editorial in which a speech of his was commented upon requires correction. He is, of course, welcome to space in the Voice of the People today to state his position. A careful rereading of his Rotary club address does not lead us to the conclusion that the views he expressed at the luncheon were misrepresented in the editorial. He now says, for example, that he did not advocate "the income tax or something like it" for local revenue. In his address he had said, "As long as a person who does not own real estate but has an excellent income may make no contribution whatever to the support of these [local government] units while the farmer who owns real estate but gets no income at all sees his property sold for taxes we may expect to hear that the cost of government must be reduced." Possibly we were not warranted in interpreting that as advocacy of "something like the income tax" for the raising of local revenues, but we must confess we can make little else of it.

There is no wish on our part, however, to quibble over the meaning of the original address. Obviously Mr. Hutchins knows what he meant. A relatively rich community like Chicago, he thinks, could find the money required for adequate schools if it were not for an antiquated and inequitable system of taxation, misgovernment and a fantastic organization of local government.

There is more plausibility than sense to what Mr. Hutchins has to say. Our taxation system is antiquated, as has often been said in this place, but it does not follow that a less antiquated tax law would yield materially greater revenues. The decline in revenues from income taxation so closely parallels the decline in revenue from property taxation as to suggest the probability that, when real estate owners cannot pay their taxes, incomes from other sources are also greatly reduced and with this reduction the taxpaying capacity tends to disappear, whatever the base of taxation may be.

Misgovernment and the fantastic organization of local government are, as he says, fruitful sources of the waste of public funds. But if that waste were stopped tomorrow it is doubtful if as much revenue could be safely allocated for school purposes in Chicago as is now being spent. The last bills sent out by Cook county in the spring called for a total collection of 290 million dollars. Almost exactly 160 million had been collected in mid-November. At only the present rate of expenditure the schools absorb about half of this income. Perhaps 50 million dollars more is earmarked for bonds and interest, leaving only 30 million dollars and the hope of collecting more as the means of financing all the other services of government for three million people. One wonders where the reallocating Mr. Hutchins talks about would begin.

Mr. Hutchins is in the education business and quite naturally wants his educational appropriations. People in the police business, the fire department business, the park business and the public welfare business take much the same view of the matter with respect to their appropriations. All of them refuse to see that spending money which is not collected because the people haven't got it is, in effect, mortgaging the future and gambling that the future will be enough brighter than the present to pay off the debt. That is the kind of financial management which went a long way toward precipitating the present depression.

THAT'S GRATITUDE.

Mr. Hoover carried Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Connecticut; in other words, one of the never-die Republican states, a border state, and four from New England. None of these states has had anything particularly juicy from Uncle Sam's well spread banquet table. New England had a perfect record of having asked nothing from the Reconstruction Finance corporation until just before the election, when New Hampshire put in a request for a bit of poor relief. Pennsylvania with Pinchot as governor, he being a maverick as viewed by orthodox Republicans, had felt itself notoriously slighted by the federal relief agencies. Mr. Pinchot had pointedly been told by the R. F. C. to go home and dig into the state's own resources before he came back for alms. He had made a point indignantly of the federal government's treatment of his state as if it were regarded in Washington as a pariah in the Union.

Elsewhere throughout the country the benevolences of the federal administration had rained on various sections. California, the residence not only of the President but of the secretary of the interior, had been fairly floated on subsidies. They turned water to wine and also into gold. They produced wine bricks in the valleys of the vineyards and gold bricks in the valley of the Colorado river. The government gave a dam at Boulder dam and didn't give a damn in the wine country, releasing the Volstead cup that cheers. All this generosity didn't get a vote. Mr. Hoover lost California.

The discontented western farm states had the good intentions and the money of a dozen federal organizations putting the cash of the United States into every, or nearly every, wild scheme which could be thought of to dissipate the federal taxes in agricultural relief. There were loans for farm mortgages, loans to commodity organizations, credit banks for loans on farm products, emergency drought relief, seed loans, loans for feed, for fertilizer and live stock, and a half billion dollars to peg cotton and wheat prices. The doors of the treasury were enlarged to get these beneficences out of the vaults, and the net result was not a single electoral vote for the Republican ticket.

There may be some encouragement in the fact that the most tremendous efforts of American government ever made to placate political discontent with the benevolent idea of relieving human distress paid nothing in return at the polls. Where the government was not asked to pull an individual out of a hole or where it turned a fishy eye of skepticism upon the demands, it got some votes. Where it conducted itself as an inebriated Santa Claus it got nothing. That's gratitude for you, but it's also something in the way of a sound moral for future observance.

PROHIBITION IN VERMONT.

[New York Times.]

Why is Vermont, which used to be content under local option, somewhat kinder to prohibition than might be expected? With the old stock, descended from thirsty Puritans and dogged individualists, are blended other strains that have no objection to looking on the wine when it is red or even when it is white. From the hill of Burlington the editor of the Free Press and Times, averting his eye from Lake Champlain as now all too ominously symbolic, satisfies curious outlanders. Of the moral aspect of prohibition he says not a word. Is the old halo quite faded? And is he ironical or not when he declares that > every state can and will decide for itself whether the peace of mind of its population requires easier access to liquor than we have had in the last twelve years?

He is speaking for and to a canny and hard headed folk:

> Any man who removes money from the pockets of many Vermonters has a hard task to convince people that he is a public benefactor.

To deprive Vermonters of prohibition is to take money out of their pockets. Millions of tourists use Vermont as a bridge to Quebec. Multitudes of them may abate their love for scenery if they are able to get a drink at home. If beer and wine are made legal in several eastern states, will not the Vermont hotel business decline and fall off? That is economic reason No. 1. Economic reason No. 2 is that prohibition has helped the Green mountain milk producers:

> We know of one milk route of 1,500 quarts a day where the proprietor states that 300 quarts go out in pint form to factory workers and construction and other laborers for noonday lunches. When beer was licensed for sale in this city these 300 quarts were not sold. A pail of beer was the general rule for noonday lunch.

"Perhaps these will be called narrow views." To the milk drinkers under compulsion they may seem narrow. At least there is no nonsense about them. They may be severely local, but they are none the worse for that. They don't rest upon emotion and fervor. They are addressed to the pocketbook. The Free Press isn't trying to make men better by statute and constitution. It merely insists that prohibition is making some Vermonters better off. "Perhaps Vermonters should sink their own welfare into a larger common good. The arguments for such common good will need to be powerful."

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE G. P. U., the secret police of the Russian republic, have just stood six farmers up against the wall and shot them to death for holding out grain. Whenever the iron handed czars and grand dukes pulled off a stunt like that the moans of the Russkies for liberty were loud and heart rending. Now the czars are dead and gone and the grand dukes are doormen in front of American hotels (if they're lucky) and Russia is a Republic and a Republic is Liberty personified. Still, things keep happening in Russia that make us wonder what Liberty is after all. Man has yearned for it since time began, but when he gets it he finds out that it's very much like a buzz saw: of great service when handled properly, but it's not to be monkeyed with.

SUNRISE.

A SONG FOR CHILDHOOD.

And watched the moonlight wane.
A stillness filled the place with gray

The sunlight woke and stretched in bed.
He saw the day was good.
He tossed aside his crazy quilt
And dropped it where I stood.

"CONVICT SWINDLER Swindles Other Convict Swindlers in State Penitentiary."—Headline. Which is a very comforting item, as it makes us realize how true it is that "Great fleas have little fleas upon their backs to bite 'em: And little fleas have lesser fleas and so ad infinitum."

AS WE READ the front pages these days, boy murderers, torture bandits, kidnapers, holdups, and so on, we wonder with everybody else about what causes them. As to the boy bandits, we wonder if home training of children occupies as much attention as it used to and just what part, if any, is played by the auto, the movies, the stock market, and the depression. It's a terrible problem, but we can't help remembering how the prohibitionist orators in the churches used to say, "Pass a national law forbidding the making and drinking of alcoholic liquor and within a week you can tear down your jails, your poorhouses, your divorce courts, your asylums, and your police stations. All crime, all misery, all unhappiness in the world is caused by the Demon Rum. Destroy the Arch Fiend and all these things will be no more." In some of the cases of juvenile crime attracting attention lately whisky doesn't appear to have had much direct influence. Is it barely possible there are other causes of crime and misery besides old Demon Rum? Perhaps the temperance spellbinders were pulling our leg. But, no, they wouldn't do that, would they?

PASTEL OF WINTER.

Winter came suddenly and unexpectedly, as it always comes, even as death comes. Although we had prepared for it and awaited its approach, it took us unawares at last. We might have known—we did know—but, as mortals, could not quite comprehend. The birds had gone away, the leaves had fallen, the harvest was over. We knew; but who of us ever conceives the end of anything? Or the beginning? Tomorrow, perhaps, but not now—not just now. But winter came. Winter is now. Cornstalks stripped to ghostly skeletons. Meadows barren, sodden, polluted. Trees rigid, leafless, lonely, decked only with occasional birds' nests, once so cunningly concealed, now so patently exposed . . . The little creek still hides in its sanctuary among the sycamores and willows; but it no longer tells its pebble beads; no longer lisps a gentle litany; chants ineffable arias no more. It has become cold, congealed, comatose—a part of the silent cloister that closes round . . . Crows gather gloomily about in mournful sable vestments. Drab sparrows flit here and there . . . Bleak, bloodless winter . . . Rain. And what is so prodigally, arrantly wasteful as rain in winter? The nude trunks of the sycamores are laved in it; the willows ceaselessly drip. Rain that refreshes nothing; for which no eager mouths are open; from which there is no protection. Rain that chills, drenches, drowns . . . Then, at last, snow. Snow, the all-forgiving, the comforting, the compassionate; more merciful than the gentlest dew. Snow that exorcises all evil spirits and pardons all transgressions. All that is bleak and unbeautiful is blotted out. A benediction upon fields and woods. The trees are majestically robed in ermine; the cornstalks decently, whitely draped; the meadows made chaste and virginal again . . . Snow, sleep, dreams, forgetfulness, peace. Peace that passeth understanding. Winter.

The sheen of your auburn hair,
The glint in your cold gray eyes,
Your smile of devil-may-care,

Have banished my hard-won peace,
Have brought back the old-time fret,
Have kindled a long-dead fire,
I do not want you . . . but yet

I am forced for a little space
To consider the ancient bliss,
To fall from my present grace
For the gift of a frozen kiss!

THE TELEPHONE system in Sweden has been extended to the Arctic circle, so that it will be possible to call Santa Claus up and talk to him as man to man instead of writing letters. Santa is a lucky guy. Nobody that calls him up is going to say, "Don't you wish you knew who this is?"

How to Keep Well By Dr. W. A. Evans

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

WHAT DOES THE TONGUE SAY?

WE old fashioned doctors may know mighty little about these new fangled diseases, but we were expert at judging how our patients were progressing by watching their tongues. Examining the patient's tongue was one thing we never failed to do. If we went to see a man with typhoid fever and we found his tongue dry and red we knew he was in trouble, or headed that way, even though some symptoms pointed the other way.

If the tongue was swollen, showed the pits of the teeth on the side, and had a coat on top, the patient was given a purge and probably got no food for a while. If the coat, instead of being white, was brown and dry the indications were more serious. A pointed red tongue caused us to look for trouble in the abdomen.

These up-to-the-minute doctors have so many fine laboratory tests that they are disposed to forget the help they might get from having the patient stick out his tongue for examination. Drs. W. H. Oatway and W. S. Middleton want to get the tongue back into the physician's amphitheater.

They propose to make a picture of the tongue of certain patients and to file it as a part of the record. A piece of glazed paper is smoked and thus covered with carbon. The tongue is dried and the paper is pressed down on the tongue, removed, shellacked, dried, and put in the files. A duplicate piece of freshly shellacked glazed paper, unsmoked, is immediately applied to the tongue. The carbon left on the tongue in the first test is picked up by the shellac, making a picture that is even better, in most cases, than the first one. One of these is called the negative, the other the positive.

These picturegraphs show the size of the tongue, the irregularities of the surface, the prints of the teeth. Using these pictures, they classify tongues as normal, smooth, furred, and scrotal.

One of the earliest and most characteristic symptoms of pernicious anemia is burning of the mouth and sore tongue. This is a long continued disease, lasting five to ten years, and it is an advantage to keep a permanent record of what the tongue revealed. In Hunter's anemia, and in some other anemias, the appearance of the tongue is important. In pellagra, burning of the mouth and sore tongue are early and prominent symptoms. It, too, is a chronic disease—one that is curable and, at the same time, is quite subject to relapse. Then there is the group of stomach and liver troubles that speak through the tongue.

It is possible that the dentist has an interest, since plates, bridgework, and such may be contributing factors.

VARICOSE VEINS.

C. E. H. writes: I am troubled with varicose veins. I wear an electric stocking, but it does not give me relief. I am 45 years old and in good health. I am employed in a large office doing clerical work, sitting at my desk. I suffer the most pain when I stoop down to pick up anything. What foods should I eat?

REPLY.

Why punish yourself by dieting when that has nothing to do with the case? Also, what is an electric stocking except hokum? A simple elastic stocking, such as you can buy over the counter, suits many cases. Some require heavy elastic stockings made to order. Some need bandaging. Others are most satisfactorily treated by injection of the diseased veins. In some, it is best to remove those veins.

MAY BE MIGRAINE.

L. M. writes: About every six months I have dizzy spells. Half my vision blurs, and for about two hours I can see only half of everything I look at. When this clears up zigzag streaks flash in the corners of my eyes before I can see again.

REPLY.

You should have this investigated. Probably the symptom is due to migraine. Migraine is very annoying, uncomfortable, and disabling, but otherwise it is not as serious as it seems. However, epilepsy, glaucoma, and some other disorders should be considered.

VOTING AND CHARITY.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About 300 people have lost their votes in Maine because they accepted charity. 1. Is this the first presidential year that their votes are taken away, or has it always been a law in Maine? 2. Why is this done? S. A.

1. As far as we know it has been the law for a long time.

2. Presumably from a feeling that in ordinary times persons who are dependent on charity do not make the best type of voters. The contrary argument that persons who are temporarily submerged by the present breakdown of our economic system ought to be permitted to express their disapproval by ballot rather than by violence is entitled to considerable weight.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CAN TAKE JUDGMENT HERE.

Oak Park, Ill., Nov. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A note was given in Indiana in October, 1923, and, not being paid, judgment was served in March, 1928, in Minnesota, where the man who gave the note was then living. He has since moved to Illinois, and while some portion of the note has been paid, it is still owing. 1. What steps could be taken by the ones who served notice of judgment in Minnesota? 2. When is this outlawed, or is it still possible to force payment? M. E. H.

1. They could take judgment against him here, if that is what you mean to ask.

2. The Illinois limitation period on a note is ten years. We could advise to better advantage if you had stated your relation to the facts.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 23, 1916.

LAKEWOOD, N. J.—Charles E. Hughes, Republican candidate for President in the recent election, tonight sent to President Wilson a telegram congratulating him upon his reëlection. In his telegram Mr. Hughes said: "Because of the closeness of the vote I have awaited the official count in California, and now that it has been virtually completed permit me to extend you my congratulations upon your reëlection. I desire also to express my best wishes for a successful administration."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Wilson was at a theater with Mrs. Wilson when the telegram from Mr. Hughes reached the White House and did not know of it until he returned. There was no comment. Some of the hundreds of messages of congratulation received during the last ten days and withheld from publication until Mr. Hughes should be heard from probably will be given out tomorrow.

BERLIN.—The Austro-German invasion of Rumania is proceeding unchecked, says today's announcement from the war office. Rumanian attacks were defeated and ground was gained on the Rothenthurm pass road and in the Alt valley. On the Macedonian front between Lake Ochrida and Lake Presba and on the Monastir plains vanguards of the entente forces came within reach of the German and Bulgarian positions. East of Paralova German rifles of the guard recaptured a height and maintained it against several strong attacks. Northeast of Monastir [Serbia] entente attacks failed against the German-Bulgarian front.

PETROGRAD.—In the region of the Ilfuksi the Russians made a successful gas attack, which caused some alarm in the enemy's trenches. Along the Stokhod river in the region of Kuhar and Great and Little Porsk an artillery bombardment took place. In the region northeast of Korytnitza the gallant commander of a battery, Col. Jagellovitch, was killed in an advanced observation post. On the remainder of the front there was the usual firing.

ROME.—On the Trentino front the enemy made feeble attacks in the Astico valley, which were repulsed. On the Julian front the activity of the artillery increased. The enemy dropped bombs on Goritz and Monfalcone. Bad weather interfered with large scale operations.

PARIS.—The bulletin issued by the war office announces an intermittent artillery action along the greater part of the front, more spirited in the region of Vaux and Douaumont. Nothing of particular importance took place on the Belgian front. There was activity on the part of patrols in the region to the north of the Avre and in Lorraine to the east of Armaucourt.

VIENNA.—Austria is under a new ruler tonight, the heir apparent, Archduke Karl Franz Joseph, assuming the guidance of state affairs automatically. It is not likely that festivities of any kind will usher in his reign, certainly not during the war. The death of the old emperor, Francis Joseph, had cast gloom over the city today, and there was little inclination toward rejoicing over the assumption of the throne by the new heir. Details becoming public of the last hours of the aged emperor showed the end was peaceful. He died as though sinking into sleep.

SANTA ROSA, Cal.—Jack London, best known of California's authors, died at his Glen Ellen, Cal., ranch near here at 7:45 o'clock last night, a victim of uremic poisoning. London would have been 41 years old on Jan. 12. Mr. London's life was as adventurous and strenuous as those of the heroes of which he wrote. He went to sea before the mast and worked up to a master's rating, he journeyed to Japan, and joined seal hunting expeditions in the Bering sea, and tramped throughout the United States and Canada to study sociological and economic problems. He was correspondent for American papers in the Russian-Japanese war and in half a dozen or so of the Central American revolutions. Two of his earlier stories, "The Call of the Wild" [1903] and "The Sea Wolf" [1904], have been pronounced the most virile of his writings.

CHICAGO.—James E. Wetz, speculator in eggs, admitted last night that he is the egg king of the United States of America. He made the admission in answer to charges by the New York Mercantile exchange, which contends he controls egg prices through his holding of 72,000,000 eggs, or 200,000 cases.

IT'S OUR FAVORITE SHOW.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Hundreds of Chicago firms, clubs, and commercial and trade organizations, fully aroused to their responsibilities, are working hand in hand with this association and the management of the International Live Stock exposition to assure a large attendance, especially by residents of Chicago, at the event scheduled for Nov. 26 to Dec. 3 of this year.

The splendid publicity which THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is giving to the exposition has been noted with very considerable interest and deep appreciation.

You are rendering a most needed service at a time when all agencies must combine their efforts to direct all public attention on this great international event—a fitting testimonial to Chicago's largest industry.

In behalf of the business interests of Chicago we thank you sincerely for all past support. We hope that you will continue to make prominent mention of the exposition throughout the remaining days of this month and up to the close of the show.

GEORGE W. ROSSETTER,
President Chicago Association of Commerce.

ATABOY, MAX.

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 30.—The problems, interior, exterior, which since a long time the leading persons, institutions of the world are willing to solve, I solved them long ago. During more than 40 years I am addressing myself or personally, or by letters to the prominent gentlemen, institutions of your country, England, France, Germany, Japan, Austria, Switzerland, Vatican; always meeting with ignorance, proudness without reason, vanity. These most important, urgent problems will not be solved by the Briands, Stresemans, Kellogs, Stimsons, Mac Donalds, Bimarks, Gambettas, Lincolns, Washingtons, Roosevelts, Coolidges, Poincarés, Herriots, Seipels, Macchiavellis, Talleirands, Gladstones, Hoovers, Hardings, Metternichs, Cavours, Morgans, Rockefellers, Leverhuimes, Rothschilds, Maharadjahs, bankers, boursiers, Fords, Michelins, Cotys, Krupps, all journalists, professors of the university, Insulls, Kreugers, poets, painters, musicians, singers, composers, comedians, boxers, Nurmis, tennis-golf players, generals, admirals, kings, emperors, dictators, saints, demagogues, deputies, senators, and so on; no, never! But only quite like every other invention, discovery: by the special inventor, discoverer; in this case by him of impeccable descendence, strong physic, mental health, highest, profoundest studies, experience; equipped with the special genio. Fortunately those problems are not the most difficult ones; also there must be solved others which are more complex but they are of minor importance, urgency; I solved some of them, too. The first mentioned problems are more important than for instance the inventions of Edison, Marconi or another inventor.

With all esteems,
ENGINEER MAXIMILIAN KATZ.

WHIPPING FOR DRUNKS.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 16.—Now that we may expect beer each state should make getting drunk punishable by whipping, for if something is not done neither the life nor limb of any one will be safe on the streets with all the drunken drivers running about town.

WM. NASH.

FROM PRESIDENT HUTCHINS.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Your analysis of my remarks in your editorial entitled "Mr. Hutchins on Public Finance" requires correction. You state my position as follows:

1. "That the endowed schools are hard up."

This is accurate if by schools you mean colleges and universities.

2. "That local communities lack the means to maintain adequate public schools."

Some of them do. Others, like Chicago, have the means to maintain adequate public education, but are unable to make them available for that purpose because of misgovernment, an antiquated and inequitable system of taxation, and a fantastic organization of local government. On this last point see Prof. Merriam's recent report.

3. "That subsidies for public schools from the federal government are desirable."

An adequate system of public education is desirable. If it cannot be secured in some communities without federal aid, then federal aid is desirable. On this point see the report of the national advisory committee on education appointed by the President. The report is entitled "Federal Relations to Education," and was published in October, 1931.

4. "That something like the income tax is needed to raise local revenues; with it, it will be more nearly possible than it now is to raise the additional sums which an edequate public school system requires."

I did not advocate the income tax or something like it. I said that the general property tax is preposterous and unjust. It is. I leave to experts the question of what is to be substituted for it.

You add that "Mr. Hutchins proposes to increase local taxation also . . ."

I did not propose to increase local taxation, but local expenditures for education. I made it clear that in my opinion this could be done by getting good government, well organized government, and a decent system of taxation. I favor the reallocation of governmental expenditures through reducing certain items and increasing others. One of those that will have to be increased is public education.

ROBERT M. HUTCHINS,
President, the University of Chicago.

SELF-HELP.

Waverly, Ia., Nov. 19.—I wish that your great paper would give recognition and commendation to the work of the orderly organization of the unemployed in many of our cities.

In Waterloo, Ia., for example, these men are organizing to help themselves and others who are in need. They offer their services to the farmers in exchange for food and fuel. In the same way they went to Minnesota and brought home carloads of potatoes for use of their families. In various ways they are aiding in the problem of relief. This organization of the unemployed might not be so feasible in a metropolitan city, but the spirit of these men is one which deserves wide publicity. It will counteract communistic tendencies.

To me this outgrowth of the depression is an exemplification of the finest attributes of American character. This is the spirit which has made America a great nation.

JAY COOKE, 60, HOOVER'S FRIEND, DIES IN ENGLAND

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Jay Cooke, 60, retired banker, Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania, intimate friend of President Hoover and grandson of the man who helped finance the civil war, died today at Andover, England.

Word of his death, caused by heart disease, was received by his son, Jay Cooke 2nd. The body of Mr. Cooke will be returned on a liner due in New York next Tuesday.

Mr. Cooke was a grandson of Jay Cooke, founder of the First National bank of Philadelphia, who came to the aid of President Lincoln during the dark hours of the civil war and by his financial genius raised funds which helped save the Union.

During the world war he was appointed federal food administrator for Philadelphia, under the direction of Herbert Hoover.

Among his properties was a 5,000 acre game preserve northwest of Williamsport, Pa., where President Hoover was a visitor several times—both before and after he became President.

Carl Sandburg Writes Life of Mrs. Lincoln

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

CARL SANDBURG.

IN the spate of books about Abraham Lincoln there has been a marked absence of authentic material about his wife. Reports of her character and her actions have been so divergent as to be almost irreconcilable. Until Dr. William A. Evans recently published his exhaustive volume on her the medical and psychological basis for her actions was almost disregarded or merely hinted at. However, any real understanding of Lincoln demands at least a knowledge of the psychological facts about the woman who shared his life and held his hand in death.

To my mind the most intensely understanding book ever written about Abraham Lincoln is Carl Sandburg's "Prairie Years," the biography of Lincoln during the years that he was rooted in the soil which gave him birth, the years when he was the flowering of a great sectional spirit, the years up until the time when he went to Washington as the elected President of the United States. Mr. Sandburg has done in "The Prairie Years" one of the great biographies of American literature.

Naturally Mary Todd Lincoln appeared in those pages, and in them she was treated with understanding. But since "The Prairie Years" was the history of the statesman and the public man rather than the story of the lover and the husband and the father, Mary Lincoln was not the principal ingredient of its pages.

It was inevitable that Mr. Sandburg should some day write the story of Mrs. Lincoln [especially as he has been concerned for the last few years with the material for the last two volumes of the Lincoln biography and thus came to know as intimately as possible the details of the strange life of the woman who was not always Lincoln's helpmeet]. Often she was a sore trouble to him! He had finished the volume published last Thursday just at the time that Dr. Evans' book came out and it is extremely interesting to note that the lay investigator and the medical researcher both came—from different points of view—to the same conclusions, that Mary Todd Lincoln was never a normal person mentally.

The path to those conclusions Dr. Evans stated without artistic elaborations. Carl Sandburg points out the same path, but in his book the journey is one of artistic beauty. There is, however, in "Mary Lincoln" little of the ecstatic writing that made "The Prairie Years" so pulsant with sheer beauty of creative literature that it would have been a joy forever even if the material had not been so fine as it was.

"Mary Lincoln" is a succinct, symmetrically set down record of a strange life, without the bombs of startling beauty of phrase that burst throughout the unforgettable pages of "The Prairie Years." It is written with infinite understanding but a remote, almost Jehovahlike lack of sentiment. Justice is in every page, judicial impartiality. It seems like the work of a different pen than the one which wrote the passionate life of Lincoln.

But in such a fashion thus judicially can the story of Mary Todd Lincoln best be told, and Mr. Sandburg tells it memorably. He does it in 160 pages as a companion half to the publication for the first time of the documents relating to Mrs. Lincoln, letters [of which three previously unpublished here see the public light for the first time], bills, the testimony at her insanity trial, all sorts of things connected with her. Those documents are edited by Paul M. Angle, secretary of the Lincoln Memorial association.

Bryant Troupe Goes Back to Proper Field

"A BIRD IN A GILDED CAGE."

THE CAST

Harold Vincent	Sidney Sloan
Maurice Delmore	Clyde Shafer
Michael Casey	Billy Bryant
Tony, Rev. Ellison	Vernon Gilmore
Edith Vincent	Florence Bryant
Mona Desmond	Josephine Bryant
Biddy	Violet Bryant
Elsie Vincent	Betty Bryant

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Billy Bryant's Showboat troupe has abandoned its dumb and daffy burlesque of "Hamlet" and returned to its proper trade, which is the slow-motion acting with heroic gestures of the folk melodramas of the Chester A. Arthur period. A concoction called "A Bird in a Gilded Cage" is now their bill at the Cort theater, and audiences are giving the show the sophisticated, big-city ha-ha in a manner that is encouraging to the box office boys. Free beer is served back stage between the acts, and the customers are invited to be sociable and tease the mummers to their heart's content.

One of the privileges that Mr. Bryant offers his patrons is an introduction to his pet goat. This horned ruminant is a graceful, biscuit colored nanny with an interesting history. She was given to Mr. Bryant when he invaded New York last season as a bribe to leave town, and he thinks so highly of her that he refuses to make a curtain speech without her collaboration and presence. He insists, moreover, that she lends a certain atmosphere, a touch of strength as it were, to his dramatic offerings. Her diet, they say, consists largely of press notices and critical comment upon the Bryant enterprises.

Mr. Bryant attributes his failure in "Hamlet" to the fact that he hired a strange actor for the role of the melancholy Dane at a salary of $35 a week in the hope that he would be as bad as the other members of the cast. To his surprise and embarrassment, however, this wandering histrionic turned out to be good. It was announced in print under the signature of a trained observer that if he had a chance this Hamlet would be better than Fritz Leiber's, and this foul stroke at the ancient Bryant tradition of utter badness broke the sturdy Bryant heart.

"A Bird in a Gilded Cage," which is now being given the showboat treatment, is a work of unknown or doubtful origin. Papa Bryant says that he imported it from England many years ago at great care and expenses. When asked to explain the absence of an author's name from the program, he declared that he had forgotten who wrote it.

Anyway, "A Bird in a Gilded Cage" sounds like a combination of "East Lynne" and "The Villain Still Pursued Her." It contains an outcast wife, a remorseful husband, an angel child, male and female villains, a pair of faithful Irish servants, and a snowstorm. The Bryants are completely at home in this vehicle. They are not content with their laurels, however, and are threatening to revive "Camille."

An extra performance of "There's Always Juliet" at the Erlanger theater is announced for next Sunday night.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his case-book covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try you wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

ON TOP OF THE WORLD.

The Midland Mortgage and Loan association on the third floor of the mighty skyscraper had been held up by a masked bandit who had escaped with $20,000.

In a pent house on top of the building lived wealthy Morris Stanhope whose affairs, at the moment, were of interest to the police.

Prof. Fordney was whisked upward in Stanhope's private elevator and cordially received. After an exchange of greetings he got to the purpose of his call.

"That was a bold bit of business downstairs, eh, Stanhope?"

"Hadn't heard about it. Might as well be in another city living in the clouds as I do."

"It took nerve. He got away with $20,000, single-handedly. Clever fellow . . . knew his business all right. It's going to be hard to identify him."

As Stanhope adjusted his tie Fordney found it difficult to restrain the excitement he felt! Now, he had it! Stanhope was no other than Nick Devoe, who, ten years before had collected damages from an oustanding New York newspaper when the police arrested him and then were unable to make the charges stand! Well, it was a long shot but he'd take it!

"Come, Stanhope, you were seen on the third floor just before the hold-up!"

"You're wrong there, my friend. I have'nt been out this morning."

"Well, anyway we'll go down and see if they can identify you."

"How, absurd, when the fellow was masked! You better go easy or . . ."

"You'll collect damages, eh . . . Devoe? Not this time. Apparently the clever Devoe is slipping! I know you're implicated in this!"

DO YOU KNOW WHY?

Complete Outfits Shown in City's Shops.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Have you been appointed first assistant or pinch hitter for Mrs. Santa Claus and are you dreading the unusual task of dressing dolls in fashionable apparel that will have to pass the critical inspection of a certain small fashion wise doll collector?

You can stop fretting at once . . . for whether you need a regular layette for a small bisque infant or the kindergarten variety for kindergarten size dolls you can find them all in the new Christmas doll clothes collections.

Any kind of a suitable doll wardrobe can be selected . . . you can buy baby clothes that are tiny replicas of regular infants' wear. Christening robes with yards of real val lace, tiny tucks, and embroideries and bonnets with lace trimmed ruffles that match the long coats.

You will find fur trimmed ensembles of bonnet and coat with mittens on a string. These are cunning little things of blue, pink, and light green wool trimmed with soft fluffy furs that will make any doll mother sing with joy.

Rainy Day Outfits Shown.

You can prowl around for a day and discover some of the most enchanting things any grown-up ever looked at . . . perfect rainy day outfits, a swanky little slicker, made just like the smart French creation you have in your own wardrobe, a rubber beret of the same material, and last, and everything but the least of all this rainy day glory, is a real honest to goodness umbrella, not any longer than five inches, that opens and closes smoothly without half as much fuss as the grown-up styles.

And whether you believe it or not, this year the best dressed dolls are fitted with rubbers and galoshes with zippers that zip. They are perhaps the smallest things you have ever seen but they are trim and smooth and fit every size of dolly you may have to buy them for.

If your offspring is the proud possessor of doll twins you can have an exciting time buying a double wardrobe—from wisps of unmentionables to coats and hats and frocks with smocking and other trimmings so dear to childhood. They even have brother and sister outfits with a strong English accent . . . cunning little tailored coats and shorts and shirts for the doll brother and sweaters that match the sister outfits.

Lovely Garments For Lazy Dolls.

You can even indulge a lazy doll, for they are showing bed jackets and negligees and lounging robes in all the well filled doll departments. These offerings will make you frankly envious of such Lilliputian splendor. Such bed jackets! Velvet on the outside and white, snowy ermine-looking fur on the inside. Any kind of a doll would gladly spend the winter in bed with such luxury wrapped around her shoulders!

The doll that yearns to travel has been provided for in a most thoughtful manner . . . first you buy the wardrobe trunk that holds enough for a world tour and then the fun begins . . . you buy the loot that goes into each separate drawer and on each hanger . . . coat, suits, frocks and accessories, a place for each. And all these wardrobes are fashionably correct to the last tuck or ruffle or puffed sleeve and guimpe.

If you insist upon making your own doll clothes you can dash down to the pattern departments and buy some new numbers that are as easy to fashion as anything you have ever tried to do, besides being the most fascinating trifles you have ever cut and pinned and sewed together!

Many Prelates at Meeting of Catholics Here

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

At the annual meeting yesterday of the Catholic Extension society, 180 North Michigan avenue, the largest representation of the hierarchy of the country since the Eucharistic congress was assembled. Seven archbishops, 57 bishops, and Cardinal Mundelein, who presided at the sessions, were present.

The Catholic Extension society is an aid agency in carrying on the home missionary work of the church. The sessions of the conference were largely taken up with the reports of the missionary bishops who seek financial aid from the society. Funds amounting to about $1,300,000 were then allotted to sees by a committee of five headed by Cardinal Mundelein.

Other members of the committee on allotment are Archbishop Albert C. Daeger of New Mexico, Bishop F. C. Kelly of Oklahoma, Bishop H. C. Boyle of Pittsburgh, Bishop John N. Noll of Harrisburg, and Archbishop Michael J. Curley of Baltimore. It was stated that new building projects which aggregate an expenditure which will reach $15,000,000 were started during the last four months.

The session yesterday afternoon was the meeting of the American Board of Catholic Bishops. This includes all the bishops of the church in America. Each year a special offering for missions is received by each bishop. This is a separate fund for church extension, and it was reported that it reaches approximately $600,000 annually.

The Church Extension society was founded by Bishop Kelly of Oklahoma 27 years ago. While it was founded on the gift of a single dollar, yet the society has expanded so that now it has an endowment in excess of $5,000,000 and an annual expenditure of more than $3,000,000. The 1932 allotment made yesterday was only 10 per cent less than that of 1931.

BARTER AND SAIL

By HENRY C. ROWLAND

SYNOPSIS.

Roberta Millbank runs away from a pair of gloomy relatives. Peter Cavan, trusted employe in her father's bank, until it failed and her father died, offers to drive her to her old school to apply for a job as athletic instructress. They stop at a lake on an abandoned farm. The sole occupant of the farm, Capt. Henry White, owner of a four-master, tied up through lack of business, offers them shelter from a storm. The captain also offers a billet for the night to a hungry young motorcyclist.

INSTALLMENT III.

ADRIFT IN THE SAME BOAT.

The kitchen was bare but clean with an old cook stove of the model invented by Benjamin Franklin, and bearing in fact his illustrious name. The cupboard yielded some few staples. Roberta quartered and peeled her fruit and set it on to stew. The captain took a big bowl in which he mixed flour, canned milk, shortening and baking powder and beat up some biscuits. The bicycle hiker brought in an ample mess of perch with a couple of small bass, neatly cleaned.

"What name?" asked the captain.

"You ought to be a gardener, then you might have a job."

"Well, my namesake lost his job, too."

The captain's frosty eyes twinkled. He looked at Peter. "How about you, mister?"

"My name's Peter Cavan. I was assistant cashier in a mill town bank until we were all told that we might take an indefinite vacation, without pay."

"My father owned the bank. I was more or less of a liability until the bank closed . . . and my father died . . ."

A French naval officer came in.

"There, there . . . I'm sorry . . ." The captain frowned at Peter. "And you letting her swim offshore like that . . ."

Peter said shortly: "She didn't ask my permission. Not that it would have mattered."

The captain nodded. "And now you're struck adrift in the same tin boat. Well, that happens sometimes."

There was a brief silence, then Roberta asked: "Is this your farm, Capt. White?"

"On paper, until interest day. Then they'll be lucky if they can get half the amount of the mortgage for it. My family has owned it for over a hundred years." He opened the oven door and peeped at the biscuits. "I own a four-masted schooner the same way. Only she's worth even less. You can get somethin' to eat off a farm if it's only garden truck. It don't grow on four-masters."

The supper was presently shifted from the stove to the table. The captain excused himself and went down cellar, returning with an earthen demijohn. "Hard cider with a dash of dandelion. Another reason for living on the farm. All you could get down below aboard the schooner would be bilge-water."

Hunger silenced the castaways. Presently Roberta said: "You've saved our lives, Capt. White."

"Yes? The last time it was a party adrift in an open boat. No difference, except in longitude."

"It's always done at sea, I suppose. But not so often ashore."

He answered simply: "I'm a sailor, wherever I am."

Supper was finished. The captain produced a tin of tobacco and cigaret papers. He rolled a cigaret deftly and offered it between his strong fingers to Roberta, who moistened and lighted it.

"Why do you stay here?" she asked, directly.

"Who owes you something?"

He shook his head. "Not exactly." He rose and went out through the door that led into the main body of the empty house. Adam Eden, on whose hollow cheeks a tinge of color had appeared, said in his deep voice: "There's a man I'd follow to the world's end."

Peter nodded. "I'll bet he knows his stuff."

"At sea," Roberta amended. "But the land sharks have got him from underneath."

"His era was a hundred years ago," Adam said, "when being master and owner of your craft was a sound asset."

The captain returned. He laid on the table a small sheet of paper that looked as if torn from a pocket notebook. "I'm waiting for a man to bring me the cross bearing on this."

The three heads drew together. On the paper was written clearly and legibly a north latitude bearing in degrees, minutes and seconds.

"I don't know. Fortune maybe, in one shape or another."

"Is it time for this person to come?"

"Over time."

Peter looked up. "What's it all about, captain . . . since you've told us this much?"

"When the war broke in 1914 I owned a tidy three-masted schooner that I was working up and down this coast and to the West Indies and Central and South American ports. An elderly gentleman came aboard me in 1915 in Norfolk, Virginia, and chartered me to carry a cargo to La Rochelle, France. He knew all about the risks of gettin' torpedoed—more than I did. He was a Tahiti Frenchman and a grand old sport, because he came along for the voyage."

"We made it all right, but not into La Rochelle. The funny part of the business came after we got ashore. We were having a fine dinner in a little restaurant upstairs in a private room. A French naval officer came in. It didn't need the way the old gentleman hugged him to tell me that the man was his son." The captain took a swallow of cider. "I couldn't follow what they talked about after that because my French is the port kind that's part English. Good enough for wranglin' with lighters and loaders and no call for any answers or arguments. It was plain though he was tickled to death that the old gentleman had run through a full cargo of food staples."

"You must have made a clean-up on that voyage," Peter said.

"Enough to buy the schooner, and then some. Comin' to the business on the table, before we parted, the old gentleman asked where he'd be surest to locate me at some future time, and I gave him this farm address where my old folks figgered to end their days . . . and did, for that matter. Then Mr. Mordecai . . . might as well tell you his name . . . took out his notebook and wrote this latitude and tore out the leaf. He said: 'Capt. White, if somebody comes to you some day with the next page of this diary, number 57, with a longitude written on it, you will find it well worth your while to follow the instructions on the other side of the page.' And he went on to tell me how as there was no man living in whose honesty and ability he could feel the same confidence he did in mine. We were to share fifty-fifty on what we found."

The mariner paused for so long that Roberta asked: "And now you've heard from him after all these years?"

"Yes. Three weeks ago today I got a cable from Paris that read: 'If you will be at farm to check to longitude page 57 on Aug. 1, cable yes to A. Mordecai, Hotel Lucretia, Paris.' I did that thing, and it's now Aug. 22 and no more news."

S-o-u-p, c-o-u-p, soup, soup, soup! That's just an old college yell, but it gives an inspiration for today's culinary chat. Football and oysters aren't the only joys that return with the fall R months—cream soups reëstablish their popularity at this time, too. On chilly autumn days when the family members flock to the table hungrily expectant, serve them concentrated warmth and vigor in the form of a bowl of steaming cream soup. Then watch that s-o-u-p, c-o-u-p spirit sparkle in their eyes.

Made with milk, butter, a cooked and sieved vegetable, perhaps some leftover meats or bits of cheese, cream soups form a substantial part of any luncheon dinner or supper menu. Personally, I vote for milk soup at luncheon or supper. If you serve sizable helpings of the soup plus a crisp salad and some kind of crunchy bread, butter [preserves, too, if your family has a sweet tooth], your planning worries for that meal are dispatched.

Although not difficult to make, there is a technique involved in the preparation of cream soups which is acquired through practice and an appreciation of flavor. There are two general methods for proportioning said soups. One method calls for three cups of thin white sauce to each cup of cooked, mashed, or sieved vegetable plus seasoning toned to the family's demand.

The second method requires one cup of thin white sauce to each cup of meat or vegetable stock and one-half cup of mashed or sieved vegetable. To make the thin white sauce, melt one tablespoon of butter in a sauce pan, blend in one tablespoon of flour, and gradually stir in one cup of cold milk. Stir constantly until smooth and slightly thickened. Add the desired seasoning.

The garnish is an important part in the serving of cream soups. If the vegetable or meat which forms the basis of the soup fails to add color, chopped parsley adds interest to the dish as does a sparse sprinkling of paprika on the top of each serving. Grated cheese or a bit of melted butter added to each bowl of soup contributes flavor, attractiveness, and food value.

The vegetables most suitable for the cream soup base are spinach, celery, mushrooms, cauliflower, peas, carrots, tomatoes, broccoli, and potatoes.

One vegetable which has enjoyed little popularity as a cream soup possibility is the beet. Cream of beet soup is recommended by soup fans for its exceptionally fine flavor and color. When the soup pot makes its next appearance in your kitchen, surprise it, and, incidentally your family, by trying cream of beet soup. This is how it is made:

CREAM OF BEET SOUP.

1 small onion, sliced
2 tablespoon butter
2¼ cups water
1¼ cups finely chopped fresh cooked or canned beets
½ cup meat stock
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1¼ cup thin cream
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ cup meat stock
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper

Cut the onion fine and cook in the butter until soft and yellow. Add the water, beets, and meat stock and heat to the boiling point [If meat stock is not available, a beef or chicken bouillon cube may be dissolved in ½ cup of boiling water.] Add the salt and pepper and the cream and again reheat to the boiling point. Remove from the fire, add the vinegar, and serve at once.

CREAM OF CAULIFLOWER SOUP.

2 cups cauliflower
1 small onion, sliced
2 tablespoons butter
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 quart milk
Grated cheese [may be omitted]

Cook the cauliflower in an uncovered kettle in enough boiling salted water to cover. Only about 10 minutes of cooking is required. Drain the cauliflower and chop fine. Cook onion in butter until soft and yellow. Add the milk, seasoning, and cauliflower. Serve piping hot with strips of toast. Grated cheese may be sprinkled over the top of the soup if desired. Yield: Five servings.

CREAM OF SPINACH SOUP.

2 tbsp. butter
2 cups meat stock
2 cups cooked sifted spinach
2-3 cup dry bread crumbs
Pepper
1 teaspoon salt
3 tbsp. cold water
1½ tbsp. flour
2 cups milk
½ cup cream

Cook the onions slowly in butter until soft and yellow. Add the meat stock, bread crumbs, salt, pepper, and simmer twenty minutes. Mix flour with the cold water to a smooth paste and stir slowly into the soup. Cook ten minutes, then add the spinach, milk, and the cream. Reheat and serve at once. Yield: Five cups.

WOMEN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

There is no doubt that the tunic in the smart seven-eighth length makes a figure appear tall and slender. The shoulder width of this dress is given through dolman sleeves, cut in one with the modish square yoke of the front bodice. Gray tweed woolen with black and the dull and shiny surfaces of crinkly crêpe satin are pleasing suggestions.

The pattern, No. 3245, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material with ⅜ yard of 39 inch contrasting, and 1¼ yards of 36 inch lining.

many friends in Chicago since he was appointed to the consular staff here a few years ago. He was graduated from Winchester academy and received his master's degree from the University of Edinburgh.

Although the Ralph R. Richardsons went to their Virginia residence a week ago to be there until about Dec. 15, they are going to entertain their sons-in-law and daughters and two little grandsons at dinner in Chicago tomorrow. The former Bluford Richardson and her husband, Frederick L. Spencer, and their little boy are coming in from Barrington, and the former Frances Richardson and her husband, Walter W. Crawford, and their baby son are going from their residence at 1510 Dearborn parkway to the Richardson residence at 1235 Astor street to have turkey and all the fixin's tomorrow.

The Spencers and Crawfords had hoped to join the Richardsons at Rose cottage in Gaylord for the holiday, but business prevented the men leaving the city and so their wives decided to stay at home, too.

Mrs. Wat T. Cluverius, wife of Rear Admiral Cluverius of the Great Lakes Naval Training station, has gone to California and will not return until the middle of December, so she will not be at the Great Lakes for her usual at home day the first Sunday in December. Admiral Cluverius will be in Washington on temporary duty at the same time.

Miss Helen Gurley and Miss Margaret Conover have returned from a ten day visit in the east.

Mrs. Allen Reed is in the east to spend Thanksgiving with her daughter, Nancy, who is at Miss Shipley's school this winter. Mrs. Reed will return early next week and rejoin her four year old twins, Frances and Frank, in Riverside, where they are spending the winter with Mrs. Reed's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Faurot. The Faurots' other daughter, Mrs. Gustave I. Tolson (Julia Belle Faurot) and her little boy also are with the Faurots this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Colvin of Evanston arrived at home yesterday from a two months' trip to the orient. They were accompanied by Mrs. Colvin's three sisters—Mrs. A. C. Smith of Highland Park, Mrs. William H. Moore of New York, and Mrs. L. J. Knight of Santa Barbara.

Yankee Circus Groups to Meet.

Mrs. William S. Monroe, general chairman of the old time Yankee circus to be held on Dec. 16 and 17 at the Chicago Stadium under the auspices of the women's division of the Salvation Army, has called a meeting of the chairmen of coöperating groups at 4 o'clock today at the residence of Mrs. C. K. Corsant, head of the women's division, at 3400 Sheridan road.

Mrs. Edward R. Fifield is ticket chairman for the circus; Mrs. Joseph M. Harris is in charge of concessions and Mrs. Norval H. Pierce is treasurer. Mrs. Charles S. Clark, vice president of the women's division and president of the Conference of Club Presidents and Program Chairmen, is a member of Mrs. Monroe's committee and has taken charge of the disposal of tickets through the organizations affiliated with the conference.

Mrs. Mellen C. [Clarita] Martin is to give a program of the Spanish dances, for which she has won fame both here and abroad, this evening at the Winnetka community house for the benefit of the charities of the community house. Reservations for the performance have been made by many Winnetka dwellers, for nearly everybody in the suburb is interested in the projects of the community house and in seeing the talented dancer.

Out west in Geneva tonight there is to be a dinner dance at the Geneva Golf club given by the vestry of St. Mark's church to raise funds to help defray this year's operating deficit of the church. In Hinsdale there is to be a country fair at the Hinsdale club for the benefit of the Infant Welfare society.

Mrs. Frank G. Logan is entertaining a party of friends at the matinée of "When Chicago Was Young" Friday afternoon at the Goodman theater. This is the last week of the play. Mrs. Logan has been much interested in the production and has loaned lovely tapestries that are used in the third act and several of her beautiful old hats and gowns are on display in the foyer.

Lecture on India Monday.

The Chicago Council of Foreign Relations and the English-Speaking Union will be joint hosts at a luncheon next Monday at the Palmer house for Mrs. Patricia Kendall, author of "Come with Me to India." Mrs. Kendall is to speak on "The Economic Consequences of Mr. Gandhi."

In inviting Mrs. Kendall to talk, the Council of Foreign Relations is carrying out its policy of impartiality with respect to the controversial issues that are discussed by and for its fashionable members. A recent speaker on India was Vithalbai J. Patel, Indian nationalist. Mrs. Kendall, while sympathetic with the aims of the nationalists, has become impressed with the difficulties which stand in the way of their early realization.

The annual supper dance to benefit Misericordia Infants' home will be held on Saturday evening, Dec. 10, at the Drake hotel. Mrs. William Davis is president of the auxiliary group in charge of the benefit and Mrs. Harry J. Ramshaw and Mrs. John C. Tully are co-chairmen of the dance. A committee of debutantes and post-debs will sell cigarets and flowers.

The Kenwood Social Service club, which gives a theater party annually for the benefit of the Infant Welfare society, has secured for this year's party the performance of Ed Wynn's "Laugh Parade" on the night of Dec. 14, and the club members all feel that their ticket sale should be brisk with such a well known star as the chief attraction. Mrs. Carl W. Defebaugh is chairman of the benefit committee, Mrs. Kenneth F. MacLallen of tickets, and Mrs. Alan Lockhard, flowers. Mrs. Dorothy Tillinghast is president of the club.

Hitherto the club has always had for its benefit a play with a woman star for whom the members gave a luncheon or tea some time before the benefit. This year, if Mr. Wynn agrees to attend, they will give a tea at the Tavern club, to which both men and women will be invited.

Husband Stands with His Family Against Wife

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am married, going on three years. I was living very happily until the day I had an argument with my husband's mother and sister, neither of whom I speak to now. My husband took their part instead of mine. I never expected him to do so because I have tried my best to make him happy.

"I have been working since I married. I get his meals and have loved him very much. Since the argument with his family I am unhappy to think my husband did not take my part, giving them the satisfaction of seeing this happening. I tell him why I am cold to him now, but he will not admit he is sorry. MARGOT."

So, now, "Margot," you're going to punish that man of yours for the rest of your life. You're going to keep on thinking of yourself as the victim of a terrible injustice. And you're going to have a grand time keeping the trouble cauldron stirred.

Well, that's one way to meet a crisis! It's a way that is practised by young matrons frequently in contact with the in-laws. Maybe there is justice in your claim that your husband should have stood by you. But you're going at this thing in a tight, narrow and pretty childish manner. You write me because you want sympathy. You're probably trying to earn it from other quarters. Which is getting off on the wrong foot and threatening the future of what might be an idyllic little married romance.

Be a big girl, "Margot!" Don't be small and petty about life. There are things you'll have to take as you go along. Things you won't like a single solitary bit. We've all met them who've been hanging around the earth any length of time. Yours is one thing. Mine, another. But they're tribulations we have to meet. And the only way of getting fun out of life is by positively refusing to make mountains out of these tribulations of ours.

Maybe, now, you were in the wrong from your husband's point of view. But let that go by. His mother and sister are flesh and blood kin and while he may want to be the soul of loyalty to you, he has a lifetime of loyalty built up toward them. Wait until you have a grown son of your own and deny your right to his loyalty! You simply can't force human nature into this and that ethical channel, so you must learn to understand the vagaries of human beings.

And don't expect a man to say he's sorry. Let him prove it in his own way, and be content with that as many another woman has learned to be.

Careless Remarks Have Lasting Effect.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The parents of over-tall children, especially daughters, should read with sympathetic interest the following letter:

"At the age of 12 I sprang up, as it were. Up to this time I attended regularly a gym class and enjoyed it immensely, but now I heard this 'My, how you've grown' more and more and gave up gym without apparent reason. But down in my heart it was because I was afraid the exercise would add to my growing powers, so took off to a library, having decided that if I sat more it would help stunt my growth. Every night I would lie with my knees hunched up to my chin, no matter how uncomfortable this position became to be. Some one had said people grow while sleeping!

"At high school I had a very dear girl friend who just reached my shoulder. We were inseparable, but O, how I suffered when one of the dear teachers labeled us Mutt and Jeff!

"Well do I remember admiring the high heeled slippers on other girls, but buying only the very flat (not military) heeled slippers myself. One of the girls once told me she thought I never would stop unfolding when I applied at the office for a position.

"When I started having boy friends folks always took great care to see if they measured up to me and I remember how fiercely I denied it when some one said I was slightly taller than any of them. I had always longed for a wonderful wedding and all that goes with it, but having become engaged to a man I was not sure was quite as tall as I, I was married as unobtrusively as possible, for well did I know that I would have to wear high heeled slippers otherwise. One of the things I did after I was married was to measure my husband and myself in our stocking feet (much to his amusement), and it was pure joy to find that he was 5 feet 8½ and I 5 feet 8. O, that half inch!

"Even now people often say to me: 'I believe you're still growing,' and I find that it stings to the quick as of old, although when I am alone I glory in being straight and strong, and enjoy my stride while walking, and use my long arms and legs to great advantage in the swimming pool.

"I am afraid this is a long and probably tiresome letter, but hope you have read it and that you will write on this subject from time to time, for you are in a position to let other mothers know what an ordeal their above average height children are subjected to and tell them that it goes on and on ever in the background of their entire life."

How to help these children is another story. But understanding surely is the first step in that direction.

Bleached Hair Requires Extra Good Shampoo, Says Antoinette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You cannot shampoo a bleached head of hair with the same nonchalance you attack hair that has not been bleached. In fact, a lot of the discolored streakings that mar bleached hair may be laid to the careless manner of shampooing. Perhaps because some people do not realize that bleached hair should be shampooed in an especial manner.

You must remember that once the hair is bleached it is not a normal tone or texture you're handling. The bleaching agents weaken the hair and dry it. Your soap can't be just any kind of soap. You can't use an alkaline soap or soap mixture on the hair without further removing the natural oil. A good castile [and I mean good castile, since there are inferior grades of this kind of soap on the market] is softening.

Work up a good lather and let this remain on the hair for a few minutes before you begin to rinse. Three rinses, at least, are required. We would advise the bleached blondes to use a spray for the rinsing. And as the final touch, use a cold water rinse. This latter precaution does much to give luster so needed by bleached hair.

Then at the very end of the rinse you can apply a little brilliantine to the hair with good effect. Hand dry the hair, or at least towel dry it. Keep it away from dryers turned on full blast, or from any hot air waves.

If by any chance your hair has been bleached over a long period of time and the color needs toning down the shops give what they call a drab rinse for this purpose. When brushing bleached hair it is urged that two clean brushes be kept in operation. You simply must not use a soiled brush on this type of hair. After every few strokes of the brush wipe it off on a clean towel so that none of the dirt, oil, or gumminess that comes off on brushes is rubbed back into the hair again.

Here's a worthwhile tip for the bleached sisterhood. You cannot go by another's formula for the requirements for your head. A solution that will bleach one head successfully may be too much for another. The natural blonde whose hair is gone a bit muddy has quite a different bleaching problem on her hands than a brown haired or brunette girl.

Tweed Suit with a Bolero Blouse Shown in Paris

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Paris dressmakers have a special dictionary of their own when it comes to the interpretation of dress terms. Their description of a bolero, for instance, would probably never be recognized by a Spanish toreador. A bolero, to the dressmaker, is an elastic term for any little jacket blouse that stretches over the rib region of the anatomy.

If you will look at the right hand figure, shown in the sketch today, you will see a bolero blouse which seems to bear very little resemblance to its generic term. This bolero blouse has a V-shaped neckline and balloon sleeves which fit to the elbow. In black crêpe silk, it ends just below the bust. It is worn with a high topped red and black tweed skirt with a black belt at the waistline.

The dress, shown on the large figure, has a bolero jacket with exactly the same sleeves as the blouse. It is in red and black tweed, the chevron stripes of which are worked horizontally on the jacket, and on the bias on the skirt, which have a yoke around the hips. The jacket has a small collar and tailored revers.

Eunice Norton Wins Acclaim at Symphony

Pianist in First Appearance with Orchestra.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Eunice Norton of Minnesota made her first appearance with the Chicago Symphony orchestra as its piano soloist, and won a large amount of applause for her dealings with the Saint-Saëns Concerto in G minor yesterday.

Naturally she had many things in her favor by playing a work so brilliant, tricky, and full of attractive melody. But discounting this fact as much as possible, Miss Norton would seem to be a pianist to be heard from in the future. She has the musical equivalent of dynamite and electricity at her fingers' ends, she is expert in rhythm and learned in accent, and she knows most of the lore of putting multitudes of rapid notes in their proper places. It is true that she does not give as much consideration to the visual element of piano playing as the auditory, having permitted herself to fall into a number of mannerisms while at the keyboard. The point is mentioned only because she runs the danger thereby of distracting attention from her actual performance, which is good enough to deserve attention for its own sake.

Following the custom which would seem to be fairly general in the United States this season, Mr. Stock paid his respects to Jean Sibelius, Finland's most famous composer, by reviving his first symphony. Some five years or more had passed since the work was last heard here, and the revival was altogether worth while. This is a symphony with many good points. It is full of energy throughout. Sometimes the energy is manifested in attractive melody, sometimes in the sub-arctic gloom which affects much of this composer's music, but at all times it holds the attention. By no means the least of his merits is that he has decided views on the virtues of brevity. He may not consider that a symphony should be the shortest distance between two points, but apparently he objects to making it the longest. After all, to say fully what one has to say and then realize that it has been said should be one of the precepts taught in every composition class.

Youngsters Begin Coming for Club Congress.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The boy and girl picked as the most outstanding among 950,000 farm youngsters, who are members of 4-H clubs, will attend the national club congress, which opens Monday in conjunction with the International Live Stock exposition, which opens Saturday at the Union stockyards.

The two young champions are Maurine Knouse, 19 years old, who lives on a farm near Emporia, Kas., and Vernon LeRoy Baldwin of Alden Freeborn county, Minn. Twelve hundred boy and girl delegates are to attend the club congress, it was announced yesterday by the national committee on boys' and girls' club work.

Baldwin is now a freshman at the University of Minnesota. He earned his college expenses by nine years' club work, during which he produced outstanding crops and farm animals. He and Miss Knouse will be presented with national leadership trophies given by H. A. Moses, Massachusetts manufacturer.

Girl Wins Editor's Praise.

Maurine in five years of leadership among 4-H youngsters in Kansas, was recently paid high editorial tribute by William Allen White, famous editor of the Emporia [Kas.] Gazette. She influenced 38 boys and girls to join 4-H club projects and trained many local and state winners in health and cultural contests. Her own ability in completing 20 projects in clothing, baking, food preparation, canning, room improvement, poultry and beef raising, netted her $501.70.

Many outstanding youngsters of the nation's farms began arriving yesterday to exhibit poultry in the Coliseum poultry show and to prepare their calves, pigs and lambs for the grand International Live Stock show competitions starting Friday and Saturday. By Monday a small army of them wearing head or arm badges with the four H's will invade Chicago. The 4-H symbol stands for betterment of the head, hands, heart and health.

Saturday, official opening day for the largest live stock show ever assembled at the stockyards, has been named "Chicago Day" in a proclamation issued by Mayor Cermak. Added to the 12,000 blueblood stock and 5,000 samples of farm crops on display will be a daily, afternoon and evening horse show in the main arena.

Nation's Best Horses in Show.

According to O. T. Henckle, manager of the horse shows, the best in horse flesh the nation has produced will compete for cash prizes. Many Chicago stables have been entered in the events, which include saddle and buggy horses, gaited and high school horses.

For the first time in its 32 years of existence in Chicago, the stock show will be open all day Sunday, with special horse shows in the afternoon and evening. Another new feature this year will be a theatrical staged by the 4H club youngsters in the Auditorium theater, Wednesday, Nov. 30. A touch of romance is thus added when farm youngsters occupy the stage of former operatic achievements and the entire main floor. The public will be admitted to the balcony and galleries.

Among the farm youngsters to be fêted in Chicago next week will be two from Wisconsin, who together produced farm products and earned prize money totaling $5,671 in 4H clubwork. Donald N. McDowell, 16 years old, of Montello and Frances Mae Good, 19 years old, of Browntown, will each receive a silver trophy offered by President Hoover, honorary chairman of the national committee sponsoring the club congress.

WOMEN'S DEANS TO MEET NEXT WEEK AT U. OF I.

The 13th annual conference of the Illinois Association of Deans of Women will be held on the University of Illinois campus at Urbana on Dec. 2 and 3. Dr. John A. O'Brien, director of Newman foundation at the University of Illinois, and Miss Thyrsa W. Amos, dean of women at the University of Pittsburgh, will speak at the opening session of the conference.

Mrs. W. W. Ramsey of the Illinois League of Women Voters will speak on Dec. 3 on "Training the Young Citizens." Miss Mary L. Mutschler, dean of women at Rockford college, will address the college and university section, and Dr. Norman E. Richardson of the Presbyterian Theological seminary of Chicago will speak before the high school section.

Skippy, a bulldog owned by Mrs. Della Evans, 8245 Langley avenue, is suffering grandmother interference in her efforts to raise her eight pups. Mamie, mother of Skippy, will not let the mother dog nurse the pups, which seek out the grandmother when they are hungry. Nature has sided with the grandmother, Mrs. Evans said, as Skippy has no food available for the family.

CHICKEN RAISERS OPEN SHOW, CROW OVER GOOD TIMES

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Depression has no place in a chicken fancier's heart, and down at the Coliseum the amateur chicken enthusiasts who hope to retire some day to a small acreage and try their hand at chicken raising yesterday learned with delight that there is no economic depression in the chicken business.

Not only is the twenty-fourth annual Chicago Coliseum Poultry exposition bigger and better than ever, say the chicken raisers and exhibitors, but they are not complaining about hard times.

"The man today who has a few acres paid for and four or five hundred or a thousand chickens, is a king," said O. R. Ernst, of Waverly, Ia., who is to act as a judge in egg contests. "Egg prices are up, feed is down to almost nothing and the man who has a chicken farm can sit back, eat his eggs and chickens and watch the world go by."

200 Turkeys on Exhibition.

Turkeys have an important part in this poultry show, 200 of them being on exhibit, ruffling their feathers, strutting and eating, oblivious to the approach of Thanksgiving and its import.

Three wild turkeys, including two rather modest females and one elegant parading mule, may be seen in one large coop with a background of spruce to simulate their native haunts in Michigan.

During the last few years, experts explained, the turkey has been publicized to such an extent that North Dakota alone shipped out $184,000 worth last year.

Almost under the aristocratic noses of the turkey gobblers were the geese, waddling about comfortably and issuing strident cries in chorus.

"Aren't these magnificent geese?" said Mr. Ernst, the judger of eggs. "They are Toulouse, the largest of geese, and they are even larger than turkeys. This one weighs 25 pounds. I like geese," he added, caressing one. "They're so responsive."

Bantams and Pigeons There.

A three-legged duck, a duck with a Roman nose, a three-legged hen and a four-legged hen are being exhibited. Japanese silkies are shown. These are birds whose blue black skin is covered with snow white hair instead of feathers. They have saucy topknots and resemble game fowl.

Before the end of the poultry show, which closes at 10 p. m. Sunday, a prize winner among all the prize winners will be picked.

FAMED HERD TO BE SOLD; LOW MILK PRICE TO BLAME

One of the outstanding Holstein cattle herds of the nation, at Silver Glen farm, near St. Charles, on the Fox river, will be sold at auction next Monday and Tuesday by the owner, E. J. Baker, wealthy Coll man of St. Charles.

Although every animal in the herd has been given the highest recommendations of government experts, the sale has been ordered because the cows' upkeep is more than an already flooded milk market will return at the present low price of milk. Most of the cows in the herd produce in one year as much milk and butter fat as average cows produce in their lifetime.

Mounting taxes in years when farm products are selling at the lowest prices in decades have overcome a lifetime's work of building up the Baker herd's production, its management declares. Unhampered by credit limitations, every effort has been made to see that the Silver Glen dairy produced in volume and in quality.

Kane county dairymen see in the breaking up of the famous herd one result of the government's urging increased farm production in one department and reaching out through another department to take more in taxes than the increased efficiency could produce.

Burglars Force Woman to Call Off Dog, but Flee

Two burglars attempted to enter the flat of Mrs. Belle Dickey at 6504 Maryland avenue yesterday by climbing through a window. One was attacked by Mrs. Dickey's dog, known as Rin. The second burglar thrust a pistol at Mrs. Dickey and compelled her to call off the dog. The pair then fled without getting anything. The battle aroused Rin's fighting tendencies, however, and he attacked two policemen who arrived later to investigate. Mrs. Dickey called him off.

$50,000 BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT IS GIVEN TO JURY

A jury before Judge Paul McWilliams in the Superior court retired last evening to consider the suit of Miss Pearl Norris, 53 years old, 4305 Greenwood avenue, against Albert E. Felton, 64 years old, 5742 South Union avenue, for $50,000. She charged breach of promise, testifying that she began living with Felton as his wife in 1911. He made yearly proposals of marriage to her, she asserted, but they never got around to having the ceremony performed. In 1930, she testified, she found out that he had married another woman, and left him. The jurors were instructed to seal their verdict, to be opened in court today.

HARRY NEWMAN NAMED MOST VALUABLE AT MICHIGAN

1932 Season Best of His Career.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Harry Newman, the stocky little Jewish quarter back who passed Michigan into a tie for the Big Ten titles in 1930 and 1931 and who as both a passer and running back provided the punch which gave Michigan a clean claim to the championship this season, was named the most valuable player on the Michigan squad this afternoon. Votes were cast for four players in the poll, but Newman took first honors without serious opposition.

Newman joins William Cassels of the University of Chicago as a candidate for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's ninth annual silver football trophy award. His selection wins him a white gold watch fob, a token which each western conference athlete so named will receive.

Stanley E. Fay, Detroit, regular half back for the last two years, was elected captain of the 1933 eleven. Fay succeeds Ivan Williamson of Bowling Green, O.

Makes a Comeback.

Newman's performance this season was something of a comeback. He had gone great guns in 1930. Last year he was unable to get started, and many critics "rode" him unmercifully. Then in the Michigan State game, which opened this season, he started on a whirlwind campaign in which he personally scored all of the points in the last three contests of the year.

Newman played first at Detroit Northern High school, where he worked two years as quarter back and was an outfielder on the baseball team.

As a freshman at Michigan, Newman's work soon caught the eyes of the coaches. In his sophomore year Newman was second string quarter back at the start of the season. Came the opening 1930 conference game with Purdue. Newman was called on in the second quarter when the Boilermakers led, 13 to 0. He threw two passes for touchdowns and kicked two goals, which gave Michigan a lead it never relinquished. That started the fireworks.

His Passes Beat Ohio.

Against Ohio State the next week he threw two touchdown passes and kicked a goal, Michigan winning, 13 to 0. The following Saturday, against Illinois, he threw four passes which figured in the scoring and kicked a field goal. The final score was 15 to 7. A pass to Hudson, which gave Michigan its lone touchdown, brought a 6 to 2 victory in the Harvard game. And in the final contest, against Chicago, he played most of the game with a broken right hand and by his running helped to give Michigan a 16 to 0 victory.

In 1931 two touchdown passes and his goal kick gave Michigan a 13 to 7 victory over Chicago. His work in the Illinois game included interception of a pass and a 35 yard runback for a touchdown. In the Indiana game he threw two touchdown passes which contributed to a 22 to 0 triumph.

Michigan opened this year by beating Michigan State, 26 to 0, and it was Newman's generalship and passing which kept the Spartans dizzy. Against Northwestern he ran back Olson's punts a total of 170 yards, looped a long pass over center to Fay for the winning touchdown and set the Michigan fans at rest by kicking a field goal.

Revives Attack Against Princeton.

Ohio State was turned back when Newman's touchdown passes to Regeczi and Williamson and his points after touchdowns produced 14 points. He and the whole team appeared off their game early in the Princeton contest, but finally he clinched the issue by throwing an aerial to Ward in the end zone. The score was 14 to 7. In the Illinois game his long pass to Williamson for a touchdown broke the defense of a valiant team of Illini and started a rout which ended 32 to 0.

Against Indiana Newman could not pass successfully, but he went around end for 35 yards to put his team in scoring position, and after Indiana had made a goal line stand for three downs, went across for the touchdown on an out of bounds play. He added the goal. A 76 yard return of a punt for a touchdown and a 27 yard gallop around end for another added 12 points to his total in the Chicago game and gave Michigan the contest.

Against Minnesota Saturday he put his team in scoring position with passes, and when the Gophers dared not break up a pass defense to try to block his kick, he booted one over the crossbar for the only 3 points of the game.

Plays His Share.

Newman played 427 minutes out of a possible 480 this year, being runnerup to Bernard and Petoskey, who each worked 446 minutes. Newman is 23 years old and weighs 178 pounds.

Fay, the new captain, came to Michigan with a brilliant record made at Detroit Northwestern high and at Lake Forest academy. He was regular on the physical education freshman team two years ago, then stepped into a first string berth at right half back last fall. From the start coaches regarded him as a typical man for the Wolverine style of football, being strong defensively, a good pass receiver and a fine blocker.

In the Wake of the News

COLLEGE LETTER BOX

DEAR WAKE: Albert Martinelli's comment in this Letter Box column regarding selections for the silver football "And for Iowa, I give up," must indeed get under the hide of Hawkeye supporters. Perhaps competition offered by Iowa the last few years has been below Big Ten standards—and below Iowa standards, too—but what caused this condition? Need I recall the gloomy days following the 1930 suspension, the consequent ebb in spirit, the constant decrease in material—all as a result of this unfortunate condition? Who can forget the championship teams of 1921-'22? Those champion elevens will come again under Ossie Solem. Iowa is not licked! IOWA FIGHTS!

W. Howard Lloyd, '31.

Harve: Your correspondent looking for material at Iowa, is a close follower as he claims, must have missed Magnussen, Moore, Moffitt, Schammel, and others. If not all-Americans, they at least would grace any man's eleven. Iowa has produced its share of great Big Ten players—Locke, Devine, Miller, Slater, McLean, Roberts, and Glasgow, the latter a CHICAGO TRIBUNE Silver Football winner, and many others. Here's to the Hawkeyes and their inevitable comeback.

Eugene McGreevy.

HTW: For the first time in history Miami U., at Oxford, O., birthplace of the Miami Triad, captured the Buckeye title. We scored victories over De Pauw and Wabash, and in our own state Denison, Wittenberg, Ohio Wesleyan, and Ohio U., which had beaten Navy. Our only loss was to Illinois, our first game under a new coach. Don't we rate a boost?

F. Kennedy of Evanston, '36.

Wake: There is one player who has not been given enough credit for his three fine years of play at Northwestern. That's Dick Fencl, not showy but always alert and on the job. In the Notre Dame game it was Fencl who hurled himself into the Irish running attack on his side of the line, breaking up the interference and leaving the carrier open to the Purple secondary. On one play he not only spilled three interferers but managed to grab the carrier's heel while lying with a Notre Dame man on top of him. He was one of the several reasons why I walked out of the Notre Dame stadium unashamed, although the Irish won, 21 to 0.

Somebody Will Be Somebody Else After This Game

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—A new "co-ed" will appear on the campus of the University of Missouri or the University of Nebraska within the next few days.

Betram Johnson, an engineering student here who feels confident of a Missouri victory over Nebraska at Lincoln, Neb., on Thanksgiving day, offered to wager on the game. Lawrence Ely, center on the Nebraska team, "called" Johnson's bet today.

Melinkovich, Brancheau, and Harris Out.

There is practically no chance of either man getting into the Army game at New York Saturday. Both were reported as running temperatures of 102.

In the face of these developments, Coach Hunk Anderson continued to drive the squad. Scrimmage was ordered for the first three teams and blocking again was stressed in an extra session.

Drill on Pass Offense.

While he continued to maintain that the running attack would work against "any defense, if the players will block," Anderson worked for some time with the pass offense, indicating that if stopped at the line, the Irish will take to the air.

The new mascot, Shaun Rhue, a full blooded Irish terrier, arrived from Cleveland today, where he was presented to Anderson at the Navy game. The newcomer poked around alone, refusing to warm up to the football squad.

ARMY WORKS LATE.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Army's football squad went through a prolonged practice on the Plains today, preparatory to the Notre Dame game Saturday. The workout was held in secrecy, with a detail of military police patrolling all approaches. Huge arc lights flanked the playing field on both sides and permitted the practice to be extended into darkness.

The varsity underwent a few changes, particularly at left end and quarter back, where there seems to be some hesitancy on the part of the coaches to make a final choice. The broken leg Dick King suffered in the Harvard game has made it necessary to try out several new end men. Both Lawlor and Edwards were tried today.

Joe MacWilliam has been starting at quarter back in most of Army's contests this fall, but Felix Vidal has been coming so fast of late that it apparently has not yet been determined who will start against Notre Dame in the Yankee stadium. MacWilliam and Vidal took turns today driving the team. The line included Armstrong, left tackle; Summerfeldt, left guard; Evans, center; Jablonski, right guard; Lincoln, right tackle, and Kopcsak, right end.

What Price Pneumonia? Or 40,000 Human Fish in a Bowl

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—It is not my purpose to sneer at the 40,000 people who sat through the rainstorm at New Haven last Saturday watching Yale beat Harvard, because this is supposed to be a free country, and if 40,000 people wish to sit out in the rain on a November afternoon, that is their own business.

This was not any nominal rain, or newspaper rain. It was raining rain which swept in from Long Island sound in vertical layers of sheets. Beyond that I do not believe it will be necessary to describe the storm. Everybody knows what a rainstorm is.

It was natural to wonder, however, as the 40,000 sat and the rain rained, just what would have been their frame of mind if they had been compelled to do this by force of poverty or some breakdown of the public services. If the scene had been a breadline instead of the Yale bowl, would they not have been very sorry for themselves and indignant against society, and might they not have begun to rip and tear and smash things as a protest against their plight? And, moreover, would not public sympathy have gone out to them and condoned their violence in such case on the ground that they had been tried beyond human endurance?

Some Would Be Sick.

Or suppose that by some failure of the railroad the same 40,000 people had been dumped out of the cars miles from any cover and exposed to the same weather for the same length of time, approximately two and one-half hours. How many investigations would now be under way, local, state and federal, as the formula is, to fix the blame? What proportion of the unfortunate victims would now be down with pneumonia? How many attorneys would now be preparing to file suit for damages and how much would the railroad's claim agents have dealt out already in full compensation for minor cases of the sniffles and chills?

Once, toward the end of the game, my attention rested on a slim young thing sitting in the cataract about half-way down the bowl. She had thought the weather was blurring and had come to the ball grounds wearing a stylish cloth coat. Over this she was now wearing one of those lengths of kitchen-shelf oilcloth with a neck-hole cut in the middle which some unsung genius first improvised at some other football game years ago and which has since become standard at rained-on games in all parts of the country. But the wind whipped the oilcloth away from time to time exposing her back to splashes of ice water and it also ran down her neck, and, anyway, what is a slim young thing profited if she shall keep her shoulders moderately dry and park herself for approximately two and one-half hours in an ice-cold sitz bath?

Now in New York.

If the same young woman had sat on a bench in Bryant park, New York, under similar conditions because she had nowhere else to go, the Sunday papers, I am sure, would have published her face and she would have been by this time overwhelmed with medical service and offers of asylum, employment and matrimony, for she was one of those Yale football girls of whom Franklin P. Adams once wrote a hankering poem called "Where Do They Go Between the Games?"

To prosecute my idea, which seems to be that self-pity is the principal ingredient of woe, I suggest that the same young woman would have found some other place to go if it had only been the far end of an East river dock.

Any man who had tied any horse, dog, cow, or mule to a stake for that length of time in that rain could have been up in court on a complaint of the Humane society and convicted and scolded from the bench, and any individual from among the crowd who had insisted on sitting out on a concrete bench in his own back yard alone that afternoon would have been surrounded and taken away for observation at the request of his loving relatives and friends who would have said the worry and strain of these trying times had finally got him.

Maybe It's the "Medicine."

It may be that the cause, the frame of mind, and the occasional jolts of hootch set up in the football crowds an immunity to the otherwise almost certain consequences of their conduct. Something must protect them, for in my time in the sport business millions of people, including presumably a due proportion of delicate women and men, have exposed themselves to rains, sleet, blizzards, mud, overexertion, and, in the pitcher-and-bowl football centers, to privation as well; and the rather retentive morbid side of my memory does not remind me of a sin-

A. A. U. ADOPTS METRIC SYSTEM IN TRACK EVENTS

Re-elects Avery Brundage for Fifth Term.

New York, Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The metric system for track and field events was adopted unanimously by the Amateur Athletic union today as its forty-fourth annual convention came to a close. This move came as a distinct surprise since it had not been on the agenda, but sentiment in favor of the metric basis has been increasing with every year. The change becomes effective on Jan. 1.

This step overshadowed all other business, such as the election of Avery Brundage of Chicago for a fifth term as president, rejection of the proposal for an Olympic tax on tickets to sport events, and the awarding of the men and women's track and field and men's outdoor swimming meets to Chicago.

The action of replacing the traditional yardage distances with the metric system came as a surprise to the delegates. For years the matter has been discussed, but the movement never had received any impetus.

Hailed as "Great Advance."

The change was hailed as a "great advance" by Past President Gustavus T. Kirby, A. C. Gilbert of Yale, Johnny Magee of Bowdoin and other exponents of the plan.

Prior to today only the United States and the British empire conducted athletic meets on a yardage basis. All other countries used the metric plan and this was one of the strongest arguments for its adoption. Mr. Gilbert pointed out that few Americans were numbered among the world's record holders on the continent because of the fact that the United States uses the meter only once in four years.

The change could not be extended to include swimming because it would involve the scrapping of present plants. Nearly all pools in the United States are either 25 or 50 yards in length and therefore could not be altered to fit in with a change. But in track and field the change merely means moving the start of a race up a few yards on the standard 440 yard tracks.

The only sports governing body of any size in the United States that will adhere to the former distances is the National Collegiate A. A. Pressure will be brought on this group to swing into line.

Retain Brundage's Assistant.

Mr. Brundage became the first man in the history of the union to receive five terms. His assistant, J. Lyman Bingham, was the cause of almost an hour's debate when the proposal was made that the office of "assistant to the president" be eliminated. By a vote of 84 to 40 the convention retained the position.

These vice presidents were selected: Martin A. Kline, New York, first vice president; Al Sandell, San Francisco, second vice president; John J. Magee, Bowdoin, third vice president; John H. Rafferty, Houston, Tex., fourth vice president.

Daniel J. Ferris of New York was reelected secretary-treasurer.

Men's basketball—Kansas City in March.

Gardiner	8	8	12—28

Boston, Mass., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins tonight broke the first place tie in the American division of the National Hockey league by routing the Chicago Blackhawks, 5 to 1, in a wide open game which was much closer than the score indicates.

The Hawks were fast and aggressive, but only one break came their way. Dit Clapper scored three of the Boston tallies and the others came from the sticks of Nels Stewart and Harry Oliver. Paul Thompson provided Chicago's only score by slashing the rubber through his goal tending brother early in the game.

Eddie Shore and Donnie McFadyen started a roughing match along the wall in mid ice and continued it in the penalty box, where police broke them up when they started using their gloved fists.

Thompson Opens Scoring.

After Paul Thompson opened the scoring with a thrust which caught the Bruins off guard, Stewart faced off with Johnny Gottselig and beat him to the puck, which sailed over to Clapper. Stewart was in front of the Chicago cage and slashed the return pass in from the sideboards. Clapper's first tally was on a play with Shore. His second came on a shot fired from the blue line. Oliver's tally was almost as long.

The Blackhawks had several openings, especially in the final period when Oliver and Art Chapman were penalized within seconds of each other, but faulty marksmanship stopped them.

The Blackhawks were in an aggressive mood and after a bit of preliminary skirmishing, Johnny Gottselig lined up his wings and headed for the Boston zone. He carried over the middle of the line and passed to Ted Graham, who poke-checked down the aisle and fed Paul Thompson a pass as he cut in from the left. Thompson banged the rubber at his brother Tiny and it dropped into the Boston cage for the opening goal.

The Bruins tied the score on the resulting face off. Nels Stewart beat Gottselig to the puck and sailed it over to Dit Clapper.

Bruins Break Tie.

Clapper went down the right wall, held his pass until Stewart was in front of the Chicago cage, and the play ended in Chuck Gardiner's net, just 15 seconds after the Hawks scored.

Late in the period, when the Bruins gambled with a five man rush, Mush March beat the pack to the puck in the middle zone and had a clear path to the Boston cage. He swept up a bit too fast and his open shot was wide by feet. The pursuing Eddie Shore got the puck on the rebound and carried it back, passing to Clapper for the goal which put the Bruins in the lead. Just before the bell Taffy Abel peppered the Boston goalie with several hard shots.

The Bruins nursed their lead and put on an air tight exhibition of defensive hockey for the first 10 minutes of the second period. March made several deep invasions with the puck without getting a threatening shot. The Hawks redoubled their aggressive efforts when Lionel Hitchman was benched for interfering with March.

Clapper Scores Again.

Tommy Cook and McFadyen slipped through the Boston guards, and the former poked a shot which the Boston goalie brushed away from the lip of his cage. Cook then became involved in a private argument with Barry and both were penalized. The game tamed down during their absence.

Would Raise Mutuel 'Take' to 8½ Per Cent.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.] A bill to increase the daily license fees of race tracks in Illinois $1,000 a day was passed by the house today. The bill also provides that the pari-mutuel take be increased from 6½ per cent to 8½ per cent.

The $1,000 added daily license fee will go into the emergency relief fund. This will add about $175,000 to the relief fund, provided there is as much racing in Illinois next season as there was during the season recently closed.

According to the provisions of the bill, race tracks in counties of 1,000,000 population will pay $3,500 a day instead of $2,500. This takes in all of the tracks in the Chicago district except Aurora, in Kane county, and Lincoln Fields, in Will county. License fees for tracks in counties of less than 1,000,000 population will be $2,500 a day instead of $1,500 a day.

At the University of Illinois, when the football stadium was new, there was a game between Illinois and Chicago under weather conditions so vile that Mike Tobin, the Illinois press agent, who has a statistical twist, released a bulletin next day day giving the exact measure in bushels of ladies' shoes which had been sucked off by the mud as the crowd went home in the dark and abandoned and salvaged by the groundkeepers when daylight came.

There were no sore throat statistics, however, which must have meant that the sore throat count was negligible, for otherwise Mr. Tobin would have statisticized them.

They May Lose Their Pants.

In fact, the only serious consequences of a crowd's exposure to bad weather at a sport event which I can recall ensued in Philadelphia on the morning after the first of the Tunney-Dempsey prizefights. In that case, hundreds of unfortunate males lost their pants, some of them permanently, and the hotel lobbies that morning were a strange congress of mournful and embarrassed gentlemen sauntering about with their hairy shanks showing beneath their bathrobes and importuning all the help please, in humanity's name, to go find out what that tailor had done with their pants. There is something so piteous about a male without his pants that the scene in these hotel lobbies was harrowing in the extreme.

Returning from the prizefight in a dripping condition they had called for bell-boys and sent out their clothes to be dried and pressed, and the result was such a run on the pressing facilities of Philadelphia that some of the suits were farmed out to pressers as far as Camden. The victims had just popped in, traveling light, for a one night stand and had no pants with them. They were willing to forego their coats and vests, but could a man board a railroad car and return to his home in New York, Baltimore or Pittsburgh without his pants?

I never heard the outcome. Mr. Harvey Woodruff went home to Chicago in golf bloomers, but his soul was scarred by those hours in the lobby waiting, waiting, as thoughtless ladies, passing by, laughed cruelly at his limbs.

HENRY NEEDS NO GUN; HIS CALL CAPTURES GOOSE

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—The hunter who is able to bring down a nice fat wild goose with his gun is proud of his success, but here's a story about two men who, by imitating its familiar honk, coaxed one right into their arms. When Henry Diesenroth and Robert Cramer discovered a gray goose circling around high in the air they cupped their hands and emitted the sound known the land over as the chief encouragement for bringing a goose to ground. So well did Mr. Diesenroth imitate the call that suddenly the big goose zoomed down and struck him in the back. Its flight only partially broken, the big bird then flopped over into the arms of Cramer. Uninjured, the goose struggled for freedom, but Cramer held onto it and soon had the fowl safely caged.

Cramer, debating what to do with the goose, finally thought of a farmer friend, to whom he gave it and it now is living contentedly with a flock of tame geese on the farm.

Pilgrim Brings $4,500 to Top Old Glory Sale

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Topped by Pilgrim, a full brother of the famous Invader and Guy Fletcher from the blue grass of Kentucky, more than 150 potential trotting and pacing champions passed under the auctioneer's hammer at the opening of the Old Glory horse sale in Squadron A armory today.

The little bay son of Guy Axworthy and Hilda Fletcher, a member of the 50 yearlings consigned by Ogden M. Edwards' Walnut Hall farm of Donerail, Ky., was knocked down for $4,500 to Lyman A. Brusie of Hartford, Conn., acting as agent for Fred Holsapple of Chatham, N. Y., and A. C. Garner of Copake Falls, N. Y.

Drives Both Horses to Records.

Brusie drove both Invader and Guy Fletcher to their respective records of 2:04¼ and 2:01, placing the former second to The Marchioness in the rich 1932 Hambletonian at Goshen. Guy Fletcher was sold to a foreign buyer several years ago.

Thomas J. McKinney of Buffalo, N. Y., stepped into the ring to pay one of the highest prices of the day, bidding $2,000 for Retainer, a promising son of San Francisco and Worthy Spirit, also from the Walnut Hall farm. McKinney also bid in Past Master, an offspring of Volomite from the consignment for $1,400.

Another Walnut Hall youngster, Full Tilt by Peter Volo, went to E. J. Kirby of Goshen for $1,700.

With the yearlings bringing considerably less than last year, the Walnut Hall youngsters sold for $18,825, an average of $376 a head. Last year the entire consignment of 83 from the Donerail breeding farm averaged $548. The remainder of the Walnut Hall yearlings, considered the best of the group, will be sold tomorrow.

Calumet Eminent Brings $675.

The first half of the consignment from Warren Wright's Calumet farm of Lexington—36 in number—was knocked down for $6,965, an average of $193, far below last year's figures. A daughter of Peter the Brewer known as Calumet Eminent brought the highest bid of the lot, going to Alfred Drinkwater of Hackensack, N. J., for $675. The Schlenker Motor Co. of Kutztown, Pa., purchased Calumet Edna, by the same sire, for $585, while E. Roland Harriman of Goshen, N. Y., president of the Grand Circuit, paid $500 for Calumet Eleanor, also an offspring of Peter the Brewer.

NAVY SELLS OUT ITS ALLOTMENT OF ARMY TICKETS

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Capt. J. W. Wilcox Jr., director of athletics, stated today that all of the Navy's consignment of tickets to the Army-Navy football game, to be played on Franklin field, Philadelphia, Dec. 3, had been sold. Information here is that the allotments of the Army and University of Pennsylvania also have been sold, assuring a capacity crowd of 78,000.

The Naval academy squad put in an active afternoon in preparation for the game today, including a short scrimmage in which nearly all of the regulars participated. Chung Hoon, left half, and Brooks, left tackle, were the only regulars not in the lineup.

Coach Rip Miller has determined to have his regulars engage in some scrimmage this week and will use both squad B and the plebe team as the opposition. The latter has completed its season, but will be kept together this week to oppose the varsity. Squad B has been drilled in Army formations by scouts.

29 SOUTH BEND PREPS MAKE TRIP TO WHITE PLAINS

Despite the fact that interest has been decreased because of the defeat of the White Plains team by New Rochelle and of Central by Elkhart, the game is expected to draw the largest intersectional prep crowd of the season.

White Plains scored a total of 28 consecutive victories before the New Rochelle game last Saturday, and Central had 24 straight triumphs when it met Elkhart on the same day. Central finished second in the eastern division of the northern Indiana high school conference. White Plains is in second place in the A. I. A. A.

CLEVELAND NETS $23,239 IN RENT FOR NEW STADIUM

Cleveland, O., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The city of Cleveland made a net profit of $23,239 from the 32 big league baseball games played in the Municipal stadium during the latter part of the Cleveland Indians' 1932 season, a complete audit showed today.

The stadium seating nearly 80,000 persons, was leased to the ball club for home games after the middle of the season. Next year the Indians will play all 77 of their home games at the stadium.

Bowie, Md., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Mrs. John D. Hertz completed a double today when Valenciennes, a 5 year old mare ridden by E. Steffen, won the Bouquet purse, the feature here by a length and a half over the favorite, J. W. Y. Martin's Con Amore. A. C. Bostwick's Scuttle was third, a half length behind the second filly. The time was 1:47 for a mile and 70 yards.

Winner Returns $14.70.

Valenciennes was coupled with Seven Veils. Meade helped in the teamwork for the entry by going out with a fast pace, with Con Amore second and Scuttle third. Valenciennes moved up to third on the first turn and coming into the home stretch went to the front and drew away. The entry paid $14.70.

Another Hertz Victory.

Mrs. Hertz's Pairbypair had to be ridden out to win the Aero purse, third race, by a neck from Scout Master, running six furlongs in 1:12 4-5.

STAR SWIMMERS WILL WED TODAY AT PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Margaret Ravior, Philadelphia, and George Young of Toronto, Can., marathon swimmers, today obtained a license to marry. The wedding will take place tomorrow at the home of Miss Ravior's uncle, George Kellerman. Miss Ravior refused to announce the time of the ceremony.

The couple will live in Toronto following a short trip. Plans for future swimming competition "are uncertain," they said.

Announcement of their engagement was made following Miss Ravior's third consecutive victory in the annual 10 mile Canadian marathon swim in Toronto last summer. The couple recently completed an exhibition swimming tour. Miss Ravior's fiancé is the former champion in the Catalina swim.

Both gave their occupation as "professional athlete" in taking out the marriage license. Their birthdays were on consecutive days, they said. Miss Ravior said she was 25 on March 3 and Young 23 on the following day. Scotland was given as Young's birthplace.

TWO ST. MARY'S STARS BANNED; BREAK TRAINING

Moraga, Cal., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Angel Brovelli, full back, and Mike Steponovich, guard, of the St. Mary's college football team, were under temporary suspension today as the result of breaking training rules.

Two other stars, Charley Baird, half back, and Garry Vivaldi, end, were reinstated after having been previously ordered off the squad. The four were ordered to turn in their suits after they stayed in Los Angeles without permission after the game there Nov. 11 with the University of California at Los Angeles.

Louis Lefevre, graduate manager, said the action was one of athletic discipline. He said Baird and Vivaldi had been reinstated because of their fine scholastic records, but that some action would be taken in the cases of Brovelli and Steponovich. This will be considered tomorrow by Lefevre and Coach Ed Madigan.

Lefevre declared that while Brovelli and Steponovich would be disciplined it had not been definitely decided whether to keep them out of the Thanksgiving day game with the University of Oregon in San Francisco.

DARTMOUTH CUTS ALL FROSH SPORTS EXCEPT FOOTBALL

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—All freshman sports, with the exception of football, were abolished today at Dartmouth by action of the athletic council. This edict is the most sweeping yet in the council's policy of retrenchment.

It is estimated that upwards of $15,000 will be saved by the abandonment of freshmen basketball, hockey, track, and baseball, together with other freshmen sports which were dropped last spring. Sports which were discontinued at that time were soccer, tennis, lacrosse, swimming, golf, and cross country.

Consider the Fox: He's Better Than His Reputation!

BY BOB BECKER.

Fox hunters are giving three cheers these days as a result of the almost completely clean bill of health given old Reynard by an exhaustive study of his food habits. This scientific survey of the Michigan fox exonerates the animal on the charge of being the killer of farmers' chickens or the sportsmen's game birds.

Dr. Ned Dearborn of Michigan conducted a study, which took him two years to complete, on the food habits of the predators of Michigan. Besides the fox Dr. Dearborn also included in his survey such furbearers as the opossum, raccoon, coyote, wildcat, weasel, mink, and skunk. Dr. Dearborn examined more than 3,000 specimens of the viscera and other evidence from the furbearers to make his case for or against them.

Inasmuch as we still have a few foxes in Chicagoland, and because there is a tendency among some outdoor fans and land owners to condemn Sir Reynard as a furbearer without any of the finer qualities, it is of especial interest to find that Dr. Dearborn gives the fox almost a clean bill of health. Mammals, principally rabbits, rats, and mice, insects, and fruits constituted the bulk of his food in 1930 and 1931, according to the study.

The examination of more than 500 specimens showed less than 11 per cent of bird remains and little more than a trace of birds' eggs in the fox's food. Dr. Dearborn estimates that a fox may eat two grouse a year in regions where the birds are plentiful. He adds that this isn't much of a toll to take in return for eating many rodent pests.

There is no inclination to give the fox a complete coat of whitewash, since the animal may, in the course of a year, pick up a chicken or game bird. These occasions, however, are not frequent. The fox sticks close to its diet of mice, rats, fruits, insects, and rabbits.

Another surprising part of this study of Michigan predators is the evidence which Dr. Dearborn obtained on the skunk. Strange to say, the reputation of the skunk should benefit by the investigation.

According to Dr. Dearborn, this animal has been accused of destroying the eggs of poultry and game birds from exceptional rather than frequent evidence. The examination of 1,700 specimens collected in the last two years, giving a line on the food habits of the skunk, disclosed from 87 to 89 per cent of insects and vegetable matter, 1 per cent of mammal remains, much probably consisting of carrion, only 2.35 per cent of bird remains, and one-tenth of 1 per cent of eggs. The shells of the eggs were easily identified and none proved to be the eggs of game birds.

MRS. WHITNEY'S HORSES WIN IN CANADIAN SHOW

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. J. H. Whitney of Upperville, Va., today won two places in the event for Green lightweight hunters at the Royal Winter Fair Horse show, taking first with Two Leggings and third with Hopeful Jim. Mrs. McNeil Davis of Bryn Mawr, Pa., captured second place.

Locke Brown of New Orleans took another first prize as the Band Wagon led in the class for saddle horses over 1,500 pounds with Moyor Coffee, owned by the Green farms of Clarence, N. Y., second.

A ride-off was necessary before Cinnelli, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Untermeyer of Greenwich, Conn., and ridden by Hugh Duffus, defeated Red Tape, owned by R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, Ont., and ridden by Mrs. Churchill Mann, in the course six jumping stakes. Each had a clean performance the first time.

Blackhawks Routed, 5 to 1, on Boston Ice

posts on the Chicago cage. The rubber rebounded to Stewart and, after circling the net, he passed out to Clapper, who served his second goal of the game.

The Blackhawks opened the third period with a determined push and the situation brightened a bit when Harry Oliver was ordered out for holding. The Chicago wings, however, persisted in getting offside on every rush and the short handed Bruins managed to hold fast. As soon as Oliver quit the box Chapman went in for charging.

The Hawks ganged the Boston zone. Ripley tested Goalie Thompson with several hard shots and during the scrimmage Galbraith was penalized for holding. With his team two men shy, Oliver hooked a loose puck near his own cage and, after poke-checking through his own zone, cluttered with five Blackhawks, beat the enemy back to their own territory and fired from the blue line into the Chicago cage for the Bruins' fourth tally.

Shore, McFadyen Fight.

Paul Thompson came on with the Hawks' first line and almost burned up the Boston ice trying to get the puck through his brother. Barry hooked the puck out of a wild scramble and dashed the length of the rink. His shot rebounded from the backboards out to Clapper, whose long shot went through Goalie Gardiner for his third score of the game.

Shore and McFadyen roughed each other along the wall in mid-ice and started punching it out when they reached the penalty box. The game was halted until they were separated. During the closing minute, with the Bruins' first line rushing, Gardiner had to make two sensational stops to keep Marty Barry from increasing Boston's lead.

Wiseman Scores His 1st National League Goal.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings matched speed with Montreal's flashing Canadiens here tonight, showed a better defense, and beat them, 4 to 2, in a spectacular National league hockey match before 10,000.

The Wings opened up an unexpected burst of speed in the second period to score three times, after Howie Morens, Canadien speedster, had scored in the first period. Eddie Wiseman, Red Wing forward, got his first National league goal, during that rally.

AMERICANS WIN, 5-2

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Aided by an injury to the opposing goalie right at the start, the New York Americans defeated the Montreal Maroons, 5 to 2, in a poorly played National Hockey league game tonight.

Flat Walsh, Montreal goalie, was forced out of the game when he was struck over the eye by Nick Wasnie's skate. Hugh Plaxton, rookie winger, took his place and performed creditably, but his inexperience contributed largely to the American scoring.

Bill Brydge, veteran New York defense man, was high scorer with two goals and as many assists. Normie Himes, Johnny Sheppard, and Wasnie made the other New York scores, while Jimmy Ward and Glen Brydson tallied for Montreal.

Forget the Price, Smoke QUALITY

"WHY.. UH-H" gets you into more trouble than you can smoke

WHEN you open the conversation at the cigar counter with a "WHY.. UH-H," your taste has learned to be suspicious of the result. Most five cent cigars get off to a smooth start but they sort of "burn out a bearing" before you finish. They just miss being good enough to take on for another lap.

And that's where New Bachelor passes all your expectations of the ideal five cent cigar. It is so cool and smooth and refreshing that you just coast along from one New Bachelor to another. When you turn to New Bachelor you'll find the open road to smoking pleasure—with no detours. It's the blend that sends you back for more.

BEARS, CARDINALS DECIDE CITY PRO TITLE TOMORROW

Two New Men Play First Game for Cards.

The Bears and Cardinals will renew the oldest feud in big league football tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at Wrigley field. It will be the 25th meeting between the teams, and not only will the championship of the city be at stake, but the outcome will be of vital importance to the Bears in the National league pennant race.

The Cardinals purchased the contracts of two players in the east. They will appear with the Cardinals for the first time tomorrow.

Homer Ledbetter, who went from Arkansas university to Providence, will start at full back in place of Irv Hill, who is on the disabled list. Barney Flynn, a former Holy Cross star, in his second season in the National league, is the other. He came from Stapleton. Barney is a 155 pound quarter back.

McNally Back in Shape.

Frank McNally, one of the best centers in the game, has recovered from injuries after three weeks and will oppose the Bears, but there is some doubt that Lou Gordon will be available. Joe Lillard, too, is hardly likely to play.

The Bears are keyed up to a high pitch, for since the Giants defeated the Packers the north side eleven is in a position to win the title. But despite any other incentive, the Cards and Bears need only to step onto the gridiron to assure a spirited sixty minutes.

Their game earlier in the season offered no possible point of comparison, as the field was too muddy and the scoreless tie was not surprising. However, no mud is in prospect for tomorrow, and both teams are much improved since the first test.

The Cardinals rank as the best defensive team in the league, The Bears show the second best pass offensive, being topped only by the Giants. The Cardinals are not far behind.

Bears Hold Edge.

Since the series began in 1920 the Bears have won 13, the Cardinals six, and five have ended in ties. All the ties were scoreless and three of them occurred in the annual Thanksgiving day games.

Next Sunday the Cardinals will meet the Boston Braves, the new entry in the league this year, who will show Ernie Pinckert and Jim Musick, former University of California stars.

The Bears have designated Dec. 4 as ladies' day, with the New York Giants the visiting club. Ladies are instructed to mail their requests for tickets to the ladies' day ticket office, Chicago Bears Football club, Wrigley field, Chicago. It is necessary that a self-addressed and stamped envelope be inclosed. Applicants must be over 16 years of age.

Minnesota Sees No Need to Cut Sport Program

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Decreased football receipts this fall will not bring a curtailed sports program to Minnesota, Athletic Director Frank McCormick said today.

Despite a sharp drop in revenue, McCormick said his department can carry on by making some operating economies. Minor sports, he asserted, will not be dropped.

Reduction in available competition through retrenchment in other Big Ten schools alone would force a change in the minor sports program here, the director said.

Minnesota would be particularly sensitive to any curtailment at Wisconsin and Iowa because they are the nearest rivals geographically and send more teams against the Gophers than other Big Ten members.

Balfanz, Wells and Langley, ends; Deems, Bush, Rice, and Gold, tackles; Perretz, guard, and Berwanger, Nyquist, Alesanskas, Siess, and Nacey, backs, have been impressive against the varsity.

SHAMROCKS ARE OUTWEIGHED BY CINCINNATI TEAM

The Chicago Shamrocks, professional football team, will be outweighed, both in the line and back field, when it meets the Cincinnati Blues in the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue, Saturday night.

Chicago's line will average about 190 pounds, which is ten pounds less than the Ohioans' figure. The heaviest man in the Shamrock line will be Ken Wendt, who weighs 240 pounds. Wendt attended De Paul academy and later starred at Marquette university. Joe Nash, formerly at Notre Dame, will be at center.

Other linemen who will see service include: Phil Brennan and Mossie Enright at ends; Jim Mooney, Frank Lutz and Gordie Krafts at tackles; Joe King and Sig Greleus at guards and Bob Clark at center.

The starting back field will be Wally Durkin at quarter back, Bernie Leahy at full back and Bucky Dahman and Art Bramhall at halves.

OREGON STATE IN DETROIT FOR U. OF D. GAME

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Oregon State college's 31-man football expeditionary force worked out in the Coliseum at the Michigan State fair grounds today in preparation for its Thanksgiving day game with the University of Detroit.

The workout was held in the Coliseum because of the condition of the Detroit playing field. University of Detroit officials said today that they had cleared the field of ice and snow and that it was in fair shape. The field is expected to be in good condition for the game.

University of Detroit football stock went up a notch today with the return to the team of Clifford Marsh, quarter back, who was absent from the Michigan State game last Saturday because of the illness of his mother.

INDIANS BUY INGRAM, WING, FROM BRUINS

Cleveland, O., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Manager Harry Holmes of the Cleveland hockey club announced today the Indians, members of the International league, had purchased Frank Ingram, a right wing of the Boston Bruins of the National league.

Holmes said Ingram would report in time to play at London, Ont., Friday and here against Syracuse Saturday night.

Ingram, who is 26, was one of the leading scorers of the National league in 1930-31, when he made 17 goals for the Chicago Blackhawks. He was farmed out for a few weeks early in the 1931-'32 season to Pittsburgh, then was recalled to finish the season with Chicago. He was sold to the Bruins at the end of the 1931-'32 season.

Ice, at Last, and Schroeder Dons Skates

Schroeder, a product of Chicago's south side, hopes to reach the best of condition before he sails for Europe next month. He has hopes of competing for and winning the world's championship, which also is to be decided in Norway during the first part of February.

Eddie, who is only 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 130 pounds, skated lightly for the first time but says he will bear down tomorrow if the ice remains firm.

Schroeder is known for his endurance and stamina. For this reason he is favored over the other three American skaters, who will make the trip, against the rugged Norwegians. The other members of the U. S. squad include Eddie Wedge of Detroit and Herb Taylor and Carl Springer, both of New York.

The Chicago star has been in training all summer. His favorite sport during the hot months, is golf. When cool weather set in Eddie took to the highways on his racing bicycle in daily practice spins.

HARVARD SPORT REPORT FOR YEAR SHOWS A SURPLUS

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 22.—(AP)—The financial report of the Harvard Athletic association announced today by Henry L. Shattuck, treasurer of the university, showed that for the twelve months ending June 30, 1932, the association had an excess of income over expenses of $36,729.36.

This excess resulted despite a decrease in net receipts of $138,585.84 from the previous year. The report showed that the association's surplus was gained through economy in all sports and elimination of nearly all expenses for permanent improvements.

Football again was the only sport which showed an excess of income over expenses. The income from varsity football was $483,756.98, as against an expense of $110,776.97.

Boys' Football Teams to Play for Charity Saturday

A charity football game between two boys teams, sponsored by the Play Clubs of Chicago, will be held Saturday afternoon at Stagg field, the University of Chicago. The teams, known as the Play Club Wildcats and the Beverly Hills Rangers are composed of boys between the ages of nine and 12.

Don Birney, captain of the 1932 University of Chicago football team will officiate. Proceeds will be used to feed hungry school children and for infant welfare work. Tickets are 50 cents and may be obtained at the office of the Play clubs, 5445 Hyde Park boulevard.

Loyola U. Opens Basketball Drill with 4 Lettermen

Four letter men and twelve other squadmen greeted Coach Leonard D. Sachs yesterday when he began his tenth season as basketball coach at Loyola university. Loyola will open its season with Davis and Elkins college of Elkins, W. Va., on either Dec. 13 or 14.

Only two regulars remain from the 1931-'32 team which won fifteen games and lost two for the best record Loyola has had since its undefeated season of 1928-'29. Capt. Don Cavanaugh is back for his third and final year at guard, while James Hogan will play his second year at forward.

Eddie Connelly at forward and George Silvestri at guard won letters last year, although neither played regularly. They are expected to take the places of Dick Butzen and Bob Schuhmann, who were graduated.

Harold Mots, 6 foot 2 inch center, who prepped at Mount Carmel High school and came up from the freshman team, is being groomed to play the pivot position. Bob Ohlenroth, a junior dental school student, is also slated to receive much individual attention.

Joe Frisch, James Hoey, Rod Doughtery, Jerry and John Byrnes, Joe Schuessler, Bud Ash, Bill Blenner, Phil Nolan, and Ed Garvy comprise the rest of the squad. Frisch and Hoey saw some action last year. The rest have come up from the freshman team.

Sixteen games appear on the Loyola schedule so far. Arrangements are being made for eastern and mid-western trips. Wisconsin, Davis and Elkins, Franklin, Western State Teachers, and University of Western Ontario, Canada, are feature games on the schedule.

SUTHERLAND AND WARNER RECORDS ALMOST EQUAL

In that span Warner of Stanford has won 71 games, lost 15, and tied in eight; Sutherland of Pitt has won 62, lost 13, and had eight ties.

Jacobus New President of Pro Golf Body

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—George Jacobus, young professional at Ridgewood, N. J., was elected president of the Professional Golfers association today. Jacobus, the first native born American to hold this office, succeeds Charles W. Hall of Birmingham, Ala., president for the last two years, who tendered his resignation.

Selection of the 1933 Ryder Cup golf team to play a British team at Leeds, England, on May 15, was postponed. Due to the press of business matters the executive committee decided to choose the United States representatives by mail later.

Wilson Represents Chicago.

J. B. Mackie of Long Island, N. Y., was reelected treasurer, and R. W. Tracy of Milwaukee, Wis., was elected secretary. Harold Sampson of Burlingame, Cal., was reelected vice president from the Pacific coast; Dan Goss of Birmingham, Ala., vice president from the south, and Thomas Boyd of Long Island, N. Rimann of Kansas City, Mo., were chosen as vice presidents at large.

Alex Pirie of Chicago resigned as honorary president in favor of the retiring president, Mr. Hall, and Bobby Jones of Atlanta, Ga., again was named honorary vice president.

A resolution mourning the death of Robert M. Cutting, presidential nominee, was adopted. Two important amendments to the constitution also were unanimously adopted.

Two New Rules.

One provides that only the original qualifiers for the annual P. G. A. championship tournament may play, ruling out alternates and substitutes. The other opens the way for foreign professionals who wish to compete in the yearly tournament.

COLUMBIA KEEPS LOU LITTLE AS FOOTBALL COACH

New York, Nov. 22.—[Speical.]—Lou Little, head football coach at Columbia university since 1929, has signed a new contract for "a further period of years." This was announced today by Dr. Edward S. Elliott, director of athletics.

It was believed for some time that Little had signed a new contract for three years at an estimated $15,000 a year, but university officials declined to confirm the report.

The new salary is said to be a reduction of $3,500 a year from the sum Little is reported to have received under his previous three year contract. Two of Columbia's most successful football seasons have been enjoyed under the Little régime. In the season just closed Columbia lost only to Brown, 7 to 6, and defeated Princeton, Cornell, Navy and Virginia among others. Columbia played a scoreless tie with Syracuse.

Charity Workers Hope Preps Will Play for Title

Charity workers were still hopeful last night that complications preventing the city championship football game between Morgan Park, Chicago Public High school league champions and Mount Carmel, Catholic league champions, would be overcome and that the teams would meet for the benefit of the Board of Education's Needy School Children fund.

Such a game, charity workers predicted, would draw in access of $15,000 to provide lunches for pupils of impoverished families. Morgan Park declined to participate in the game after beating Englewood for the league championship on the grounds that parents of several of its players objected to having the season extended.

Morgan Park has canceled its annual Thanksgiving day game against the alumni for this reason, it was announced yesterday.

The annual St. Rita-Tilden Tech game tomorrow will mark the fifth time these two schools have met on Thanksgiving day. Tilden holds the edge, having won three out of the four games, losing for the first time last year, 8 to 6. This winds up the season for both schools. The game will be played on St. Rita's field at 11 a. m.

The high school championship of northern Indiana will be decided at East Chicago tomorrow afternoon when Washington, winner in the west section, meets Elkhart, champions of the eastern division.

Four public high school league teams have out of town games tomorrow. Harrison goes to Spring Valley to play Hall Township, Crane meets Fort Dodge, Ia.; Roosevelt goes to La Grange, and Hyde Park travels to Pekin, Ill.

Haberski, 1931 118 pound champion, was Christy's first victim, losing in three rounds after trailing almost from the first bell. Marcy gave Christy more opposition, but likewise was thoroughly whipped at the end of the three rounds.

Oscar O'Hanion, flyweight champion in last year's tourney, advanced to the semi-finals in his division by whipping Segundo Olalde. Max Marek, middleweight title holder in 1931, who has moved up to the light heavyweight division this year, defeated Alex Radull in one round, the referee stopping the bout, and then outpointed Jules Bracke. Marek is from St. Josephat parish.

Ginter Keeps Title.

Bud Ginter, who eliminated Christy in the quarter finals last year, knocked out Joe Mennecci in 15 seconds, to retain his north side championship in the 118 pound division. KATAN, TORONTO WRESTLER, SIGNS ON FRONTON CARD

John Katan, heavyweight wrestler from Toronto, has been signed to appear in the semi-windup of the five match card at the Rainbo fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue Tuesday night. An opponent has not yet been selected.

The main event is a return match between Jim McMillen and Hans Kampfer. Kampfer defeated the Illinois star in St. Louis recently after tossing him from the ring five times.

Supporting Card Is Completed for Carnera Show

Four bouts, two at 10 rounds, one at six and one at four rounds, will support the Primo Carnera-King Levinsky match at the Chicago Stadium next Wednesday night.

George Nichols, light heavyweight champion, will face Martin Levandowski of Grand Rapids, Mich., in a 10 round contest at 176 pounds, one over the championship limit. The match will be Nichols' first in Chicago since he won the title at the Stadium several months ago when he defeated Billy Jones, Dave Maier, Don Petrin, and Lou Scozza. Levandowski knocked out Joe Doktor recently. Nichols' bout with Jess Akers at Indianapolis scheduled for last night has been postponed until Dec. 6.

Young Terry, Trenton, N. J., middleweight, and Young Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., have accepted terms for the other 10 round contest. Terry was stopped by Frankie Battaglia at the Stadium Nov. 4 after giving the Canadian slugger a hard fight. It will be Stuhley's debut at the big west side building. He will leave today for Clinton, Ia., where he meets Sammy Mandell Friday.

Tony Cancela, stablemate of Levinsky, and Les Marriner are slated to meet in a six rounder. The four round match will bring together Ray Trambile, Rockford, Ill., 160 pound boxer, and Jack Moran. Trambile arrived yesterday to begin drills.

The show at White City scheduled for Friday has been postponed until next Monday because Promoter Mique Malloy could not obtain an opponent soon enough to battle Tommy Paul, featherweight champion, in a non-title bout. Young Geno, La Salle, Ill., boxer, yesterday agreed to meet Paul. Geno is in Detroit to fight Roger Bernard tonight. The La Salle boxer has had six matches in Chicago, winning five. His most important achievements are victories over Paul Dazzo, Hymie Wiseman and Kid Lebr.

Eddie Gill, St. Charles, Ill., 160 pound fighter, and Kid Pancho, who boxed among the amateurs as Alphonso Escamilla, signed last night to fight in a six round match at the Rainbo Fronton Friday. Paddy Waitler and Danny Neenan will meet in another contest at six rounds. A third six round bout will bring together Johnny Phagan, 1932 international Golden Gloves welterweight champion, and Hamburg Wiskany, who has changed his name to Henry Hamburg. Hamburg won a close bout from Phagan two years ago. He has had 21 professional matches, winning all but seven. Four matches at four rounds will complete the card.

Jimmy Bidwill, boxing coach at St. Philip High school, announced yesterday that his team is in perfect condition for the contests with St. Alphonsus of the Catholic Youth organization at St. Philip gymnasium Friday. The St. Philip team is undefeated in three tournaments.

Gene Weiss, Chicago featherweight, and Bobby Hermance of Genoa City, Wis., will meet in a feature bout on the amateur card at the 24th Ward club, 3242 Roosevelt road, Friday. Seven other matches will be arranged by Matchmaker Harry Weiss.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—With the exception of high grade railroad and public utility issues, which gained moderately for the most part, today's bond market lacked a definite trend.

There was also some strength in treasury obligations, particularly short term issues, reflecting the shifting of funds into temporary investment. Long term treasury bonds, however, sold off a trifle as speculation on the possible purchase of discount bonds by foreign debtors dried up.

Advances of a half point or more were numerous among the best class of rails and public utilities, including Santa Fé general 4s, Virginian 5s, Burlington 3½s, New York Central 3½s, Chesapeake and Ohio Central 4½s, American Telephone 5s of 1960, Duquesne Light 4½s, Consumers Power 5s, Consolidated Gas 4½s, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington 4s, and Utica Gas and Electric 5s.

Poorer Grades Indefinite.

The trend was indefinite in low priced rails and industrials. While lower prices were being accepted for Youngstown Sheet 5s, Southern Pacific 4½s, Southern Railway 6s, Skelly Oil 5½s, Soo Line 5½s and 6s, and Lehigh Valley Coal 5s, traders were reaching up to get a long list of others, including United States Rubber 5s, Western Union 5s, Republic Iron 5s, Pressed Steel 5s, and American Writing Paper 6s.

Considerable weakness developed in the foreign list, where losses of one and two points were not uncommon and where some issues declined even more. Argentine bonds registered declines up to as much as four points, and without more than a nominal amount of bonds coming into the market. Australian 5s were off about two points. Japanese 6½s declined a point in the early trading on a few sales and then became dull. Weakness was visible also in Serbian 8s, Dominican 5½s, Colombian Agricultural Bank 6s, Czechoslovak 8s, Finnish 6s and 6½s, and Haitian 6s.

Wait Debt Conference.

The question of what action President Hoover and President Elect Roosevelt would take at their conference on war debts this afternoon was of dominant interest to bond traders as well as to the investment community at large.

It is conceded that a tolerant attitude toward European debtors, leading toward modification of the existing debt agreements, would prove a boon to the bond market in general and to the foreign dollar issues in particular.

Besides the war debt question, the many issues to be threshed out at the approaching session of congress remain as a disturbing element in the Wall street mind. Federal December financing also is a market factor.

Individual First Mortgages.

All individual mortgages are not safe investments. The investor should inspect the property before purchasing a loan of this nature. Location and transportation are the first consideration; be certain the man on the paper is conservative and the man on the paper is of good credit standing. Home loans not only involve the physical value of property, but the moral risk as well.

Insurance companies, the largest investors in first mortgage loans, prefer individual home loans because of their intrinsic soundness and certainty of income over a long period of time.

Heretofore, home loan investments have been in a class by themselves because over and above the dollar and cents value they pay additional dividend in pride of ownership, self respect, and independence.

Why does a real estate mortgage pay a higher income than many first grade bonds which offer no greater safety? Slow liquidity is the answer. The relatively high interest rate of 5½% of 6% which the investor receives from the real estate mortgage represents an extra profit due to the fact in an emergency he may not be able to convert his investment into cash. The speculator is not interested in mortgages. Mortgage loans are strictly an investment, slow moving, but relatively stable at all times.

Slow liquidity is an advantage to the individual property owner. It safeguards his equity by giving ample time to protect his equity. If individual first mortgages are a sound investment for conservative investors, then a real estate equity is the best investment for the average individual.

All wealth has its origin in land. Land and buildings essential to all human activity provide one-third of man's vital needs—foods, clothing, and shelter.

Remember, the merits of an investment are considered by the record over a period of forty or fifty years.

LONDON WOOL MARKET.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The seventh wool auction opened today with a good attendance. The offering was animated competition and prices generally were unchanged from closing quotations of the last series except low sorts of Merinos and crossbreds, which were 5 per cent lower. A total of 8,809 bales of wool were offered today, of which 7,109 were sold.

BUTTER PRICES REACH NEW HIGH MARK FOR YEAR

U. S. Bureau Report Kept Value Down.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Climaxing a steady rise of several weeks, butter prices in Chicago yesterday reached a new high record for 1932 and coupled with advancement in egg values brought good news yesterday to thousands of farmers and small town business men who realize that 25 per cent of the national farm income is derived from the dairy business.

In the course of five months, during which grain prices set new all time low values, dairy and poultry farmers have done a "right about face" and, without artificial measures of any sort, have curtailed production, which has been the direct cause of mounting prices.

Prediction Hurt Prices.

Early last summer the federal department of agriculture issued data supporting its claim that this fall would see such a flood of milk production as had seldom been seen in this country. The prediction was made that farmers intended to increase their herds by 3 to 4 per cent and that there would be an increase of 15 per cent in the number of dairy cows coming into production this fall.

The statements issued from Washington, based upon figures compiled by a bureaucratic staff, served to depress market prices all during the summer. 90 score butter selling as low as 16 cents a pound in Chicago in June. Yesterday saw the same butter selling at 23½ cents, and for the sixth consecutive week there has been a marked decline in butter production throughout the nation.

Creamery Output Drops.

Instead of the flood of surplus milk, which is made into butter and which means that butter prices are the key to values in a 1¾ billion dollar dairy industry, creamery production last week was 13 per cent under the same period a year ago. And the storage stocks of butter last week were but two-thirds of the stocks in reserve a year ago.

Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota together produce about 41 per cent of the nation's creamery butter. Nearly half of the milk production in Wisconsin alone, ordinarily a leading cheese producing state, is now being made into butter.

Human Element Ignored.

Yet in spite of a fractional increase in butter consumption due to lowered prices this year, dairy farmers have voluntarily reduced their production. The human element, which in this case expressed itself in terms which the government statisticians had not reckoned with last summer, has offset the bearish influence of the summer governmental predictions, in the opinion of Chicago butter merchants.

Storage standard butter yesterday sold at 22¾ cents a pound, the highest closing quotations this year. The rise of 4 cents a pound since Nov. 2 has added $320,000 to the value of a week's butter production by central west farmers. It has enhanced by nearly 2 million dollars the value of butter in storage. And the 18,000 farmers supplying Chicago and its environs have been benefited by $1,450 a day by the rise in butter prices this week compared to the values quoted for their surplus production last June.

Balaban Tells Value of Local Movie Control

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The recent action taken by the Paramount Publix corporation looking toward the decentralization of its activities was explained yesterday by John Balaban, vice president of the corporation, who came here recently from New York to direct this work in the Chicago district.

JOHN BABABAN.

"The presentation of pictures and entertainment such as is given in our theaters is a highly specialized local retail business," Mr. Balaban explained. "This was amply demonstrated during the operation of all Publix theaters from the general offices in New York.

"Under the new system the manager of each group of theaters will have full responsibility for local entertainment and policy. Local control will work for greater efficiency and economy.

Cities Vary in Tastes.

"Entertainment tastes cannot be said to be entirely national. Theater patrons here in Chicago may like an act which would be a flat failure in New York, and vice versa. Under the old system each city had to take the entertainment furnished it regardless of the chances of its success.

"Now every city will construct its own shows. Those developed in Chicago which may have interest elsewhere will be sent on the road, but, generally speaking, shows built here will be for local consumption.

"Timeliness plays an important part in entertainment, and under the old system of central control this factor might slip. As an example, a Thanksgiving show might have been prepared for New York and put on the road at the end of the holiday. Well, it might have reached here on Decoration day. Needless to say, the patrons wouldn't care much about it.

Need of Quick Decision.

"Again, problems often arose in the various cities which required immediate decision. It might take a week for the officials in New York to be able to act, whereas a decision was wanted at once to be effective.

"For example, some weeks ago we considered reducing our admissions. We held a meeting of the officials in charge of the Chicago offices and put a reduction into effect with no delay. Had we found it necessary to put it up to New York the matter might still be waiting consideration."

Mr. Balaban gave as another example of what he means the action of the manager of the Des Moines theaters in calling him on the telephone yesterday to get his opinion as to a Christmas holiday policy. The answer was given in a minute. Under the old system an answer might have taken a week and any good might have been entirely lost.

385 Theaters in Circuit.

The centers affected by the new order include New York, Chicago, Boston, Minneapolis, New Orleans, Dallas, Des Moines, and Buffalo. The Chicago district embraces all of Illinois and the Dominion of Canada. It has in its circuit some 385 theaters.

Mr. Balaban said that up to a few weeks ago there had been a steady increase in attendance, but it had fallen off with the bad weather. However, while not gaining, attendance has not receded, he said. Despite the general reductions in prices, the cost of producing pictures now is higher than it was five years ago, he added. Sound pictures cost considerably more than the silent pictures, and maintenance costs of theaters equipped for sound are higher than for silent pictures.

Halt Meeting of Aviation Corp. Board

New York, Nov. 23. — Today's scheduled meeting of the directors of the Aviation corporation to select a new board of fifteen directors as previously agreed to between E. L. Cord and the management adjourned without taking definite action on the matter to permit the completion of some details, according to a joint statement issued by Frank E. Vanderlip and W. A. Harriman. The latter fomerly supported Cohu. The joint statement reads:

"An unadvised statement quoting Lamotte T. Cohu this afternoon does not present a correct view of the situation. Today's board meeting was adjourned to permit completion of the details before the matter comes before the board for approval. The whole matter is proceeding in an orderly manner precisely as agreed between the two parties and to the satisfaction of each."

Cohu Offers Explanation.

Earlier in the day Mr. Cohu said the meeting had been postponed owing to the inability of several directors who live in distant cities to be present. Another meeting will be held soon, he said.

Mr. Cord and L. B. Manning, who sought to wrest control of the Aviation corporation from the present management, reached here today from Chicago to attend the board meeting. They were engaged in conferences most of the day with their representatives in this city.

Under the compromise plan which Mr. Cord and the Aviation corporation management entered into last week, the present board will be reduced to fifteen members, of which each faction will elect five. The remaining five directors would be appointed jointly by the rival groups.

Merger Plans Called Off.

Stockholders of the North American Aviation corporation were informed today that the negotiations to consolidate with the Aviation corporation had been halted by the contest for control between Cord and Cohu. The statement added that "should any proposal be made in the future looking to a combination between your company and Aviation corporation the same will be given careful attention and you will be promptly advised with respect thereto."

After explaining that the North American board of directors had considered general features of the merger proposal, the statement added that a committee had been appointed to continue the discussions, but that no concrete plan had developed, and the discussions had been broken off when "Aviation corporation developed internal controversies."

AUTOMOBILE OUTPUT FOR WEEK REPORTED IN SHARP ADVANCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 23. — Automobile production again forged ahead last week, showing substantial increases not only over the preceding seven days, but over the corresponding week last year, according to reliable private figures.

The total for the week was 13,282 units, against 11,047 last week, 8,709 for the week last year, 42,858 in 1930, and 38,219 in 1929.

The gain during the week of 2,235 cars was due mainly to continued increases in the Plymouth program. That unit of Chrysler produced 5,750 cars, compared with 4,750 in the preceding week.

Of the other low priced lines, Ford produced 4,875 units, against 4,800 in the preceding week. Chevrolet plants again were closed, along with most other units of General Motors.

CLAIMS' DEADLINE SET ON EASTERN INSULL CONCERNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—Irwin Kurtz, referee in bankruptcy of the National Electric Power company and the National Public Service corporation, eastern holding companies in the Insull group, announced today that thousands of holders of debentures and other creditors of these companies have not yet filed their proofs of debt with him.

"Unless the creditors of National Public Service corporation file their proofs of debt by Jan. 7, 1933, and the creditors of National Electric Power company file their proofs of debt by Jan. 17, 1933," he announced, "they will loose their right to participate in any distribution of assets of these estates.

"It is absolutely necessary that all holders of debenture bonds of either of these two companies file a proof of claim, but it is not necessary that they, at this time, file their original bonds. They can obtain a blank for such filing by writing this office requesting same, and they must file their claims in my office on or before the deadline date, as set forth above."

USUAL DIVIDENDS AUTHORIZED BY 3 BIG CONCERNS

Regular quarterly dividends were authorized yesterday by three corporations in different branches of industry. The Texas corporation, large independent oil company, declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share, thus voting to maintaining the $1 annual rate which has been in force for some time.

United Fruit company and Gillette Safety Razor company voted the regular dividends on the common stocks. The former's disbursement of 50 cents is payable Jan. 3 to stockholders of record Dec. 5, while Gillette's payment of 25 cents will be made Dec. 30 to holdings of record Dec. 3.

Rules in Favor of Middle West Stockholders

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley yesterday authorized common stockholders of the Middle West Utilities company, Insull holding corporation, to intervene in the receivership litigation. In an order mailed from Danville Judge Lindley rescinded his former order that denied the holders of common stock the right to intervene.

JUDGE WALTER C. LINDLEY.

Claim Firm Can Be Sold.

The action was brought by the law firm of Taylor, Miller, Busch & Boyden in behalf of the stockholders' committee composed of Martin Lindsay, Melvin E. Emerick, Harry C. Edmonds, and Howland S. Davis. According to the petition, the committee controls 2,718,000 shares of common stock.

The intervening petition states that an audit and inventory has been filed with the court showing that "the corporate integrity of the company can be preserved and its unity maintained through reorganization and refinancing," It also said that the common stockholders should have the right to aid in shaping the policies of the company. Holders of preferred stock have been given the right to intervene in a previous ruling.

Propose Reorganization Plan.

Orville J. Taylor, a member of the law firm representing the committee, said in a statement issued last night that it was the purpose to formulate a plan of reorganization to be presented to Judge Lindley. The plan would contemplate the continuance of business activities and operations of the company and would accord the common stockholder a position that would enable him to benefit from a reëstablishment of the values of the securities in the event of any normal improvement in business.

The committee also plans to coöperate with the receivers in their efforts to obtain financial assistance from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, he said.

Plan Reorganiaztion of Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Corp.

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A plan for reorganization of the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel corporation, which owes approximately $11,000,000, was submitted today to stockholders by G. W. Kennedy, president. Kennedy said that under the proposal creditors would receive approximately $5,500,000 in bonds and the balance in stock. He said that the plan had already been approved by the company's creditors and a substantial proportion of the stockholders. A new company is to be formed to acquire the assets of the Kelsey-Hayes organization.

Canada Buys Trainload of U.S. Oil; First in Months

The train will provide 120 working days for railway employés in the United States and Canada. It is the first trainload of Seminole crude oil to be shipped to Canada in months. There used to be three a week.

John S. Keefe to Retire as Amer. Steel & Wire Head

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Retirement of John S. Keefe as president of the American Steel and Wire company on Jan. 1 was announced today. Mr. Keefe's successor, it was stated will be Charles P. Blackmer, now vice president of the steel and wire concern. The retirement of Mr. Keefe is in accordance with the pension plan of the United States Steel corporation, of which the American Steel and Wire company is a subsidiary.

STOCKS DRIFT IN DOLDRUMS OF LIGHT TRADE

Coca Cola, Homestake Sell Off.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—Interest on the stock exchange fell to a new seasonal low today. Volume hardly exceeded 500,000 shares and only a handful of the 1,200 and more stocks listed attracted any attention to speak of.

Heavy selling appeared in Coca Cola for a while in the early dealings, dropping the price nearly 4 points. Homestake Mining, the big gold mining aristocrat, tumbled 4 points on a slow turnover, and Zonite Products slumped more than 3 points—or about 35 per cent of its value—after the passing of its dividend, but later recovered about half its loss. General Foods was under pressure in the late trading, losing more than a point, and McIntyre Porcupine attained a new high for the year, but later took to the minus side of the line with the rest of the mining shares.

Motor Issues Firm.

Group movements were not clearly defined. The copper outfit was about the dullest of the lot, only a few sales taking place in any of its issues, but the price changes here were no narrower than in some other quarters where activity was a bit more pronounced. Talk of improved October earnings helped the rails slightly, and the motors preserved an appearance of firmness in spite of reminders of plants closed for want of buyers for their output.

In the oils department, Seaboard sold to a new high for the third day in succession. Public utilities moved within a narrow range and the group of specialties which came to the front on the slightest excuse were sluggish.

Some of the preferreds moved up at intervals. American Sugar, Pure Oil, and United States and Foreign rose 2 to more than 4 points, while Goodrich, Bangor and Arostook, Solvay and Radio preferreds dropped 3 to 5 or more.

Trade News Better.

Trade news of the day was of a more satisfying nature than the street is accustomed to read these days, including besides the estimates of better revenue freight figures, the Dun review showing a sharp decrease in business failures and some earnings statistics from here and there that did not go against the grain quite so sharply. The upturn in wheat was a mildly stimulating influence in the early part of the session, but most of the gains credited to the advance melted away before the close.

Traders generally had their eyes on Washington, where President Hoover and President Elect Roosevelt were scheduled to confer on the war debts problem, and hopes were entertained all around that something would come out of the confab to inject new life into a market.

FREE $16,415,000 OF EARMARKED FOREIGN GOLD

New York, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A decrease of $16,415,300 in earmarked gold held for foreign account, together with imports, brought about a net increase of $18,092,700 in the country's monetary gold stock, the New York Federal Reserve bank statement disclosed today.

This is the largest gain in the monetary gold stock for some weeks. The exceptionally large decrease in earmark account was not, in the opinion of bankers, related to the interallied debt situation. It was believed to reflect European central bank operations, mainly in the direction of strengthening balances here against recent weakness of European currencies.

In addition to the decrease in earmark account there were imports of $1,659,000 from India, $11,900 from Mexico and $6,500 from Switzerland. There were no exports.

India's Gold Seen as World Price Factor

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The gold hoards of India may play an important part in stimulating the recovery of world prices, according to the views expressed by some economists. These views—or hopes—are based on the expectation that the present decline in the pound sterling will lure more of the gold from India's treasure houses.

If any substantial amount of India's gold is placed in circulation because of the better price it is commanding it may have a material effect on the world price level. Other large increases in the gold supply such as those resulting from the discovery and exploitation of the rich mines in California, Alaska, and South Africa led to material increases the price level.

India's Gold Bothers Economists.

The Indian gold hoards in times past have been a source of bothersome annoyance to the gold standard economists who were trying to explain the workings of the gold system. Gold to the Indians has been something to look at. They hoarded it for its own sake although they also treasured it as an insurance against want. All classes have garnered the precious metal and the wealthy princes have accumulated fabulous stores.

Since England cut loose from the gold basis last September the export of the metal from India has increased. Exports were made at the rate of $20,000,000 monthly from October, 1931, to July of this year. These exports were an amount equal to more than 50 per cent of the world's production during the period.

Gold as a Commodity.

On suspension of the gold standard the metal became equivalent to a commodity which fluctuated inversely with the rise or fall of money. The depreciation of the pound was a powerful magnet in drawing gold from India. Gold reached its highest quotation in January this year when it commanded 129 shillings per ounce. The natural effect was to draw more gold to London, and even after the price receded from its high it was in sufficient demand to attract Indian sellers.

With the pound sterling now flirting with the low quotation established last December the prospect is for a further stimulation of Indian exports of the metal.

Hoards Are Incomputable.

It is extremely difficult to approach an estimate of the amount of gold held in India. The Hindu temples constitute one of the world's greatest storehouses of treasure. These houses of worship contain stocks of gold as well as silver which are incomputable. A conservative estimate of the number of temples is 1,500,000 and their annual income at something above $665,000,000. In recent years some of these temples have been brought under public supervision and control. But for every one of the so-called public temples there are reputed to be ten owned privately.

India has imported around $1,900,000,000 worth of gold durng the last 75 years. The incentive for private holders to sell their gold increases as the price of the metal rises and dealers are encouraged to secure private holdings for the market.

CUDAHY PACKING OPERATIONS ON PROFIT BASIS

E. A. Cudahy, chairman of the Cudahy Packing company, said yesterday that the company is operating on a profitable basis in all departments. The company's fiscal year ended Oct. 31 also resulted in a profit despite the decline in prices of hog products and hides, he added.

Prospects for the current year are brighter than at this time last year, he said. "Prices are so low," he said, "that it looks impossible for them to go any lower."

Directors meet Dec. 16 for dividend action. The common stock is now on a $2.50 yearly basis.

RAILROAD EARNS YEAR'S DIVIDEND IN 10 MONTHS

Norfolk & Western Covers Payment.

Earnings reports were issued yesterday by five railroads. Four of the roads reported greater net operating income for October than a year ago, while the fifth, the Union Pacific, reported income below the same month last year, but an improvement over September. The upturn reflects the October traffic gain.

The Norfolk and Western Railway company earned slightly more than its year's dividend requirements on the present annual basis of $8 a common share during the first ten months of the year.

Duplicates C. & O. Record.

The favorable performance of the road duplicates that of the Chesapeake and Ohio, which similarly covered its annual dividend requirements by Oct. 31.

Net income of the Norfolk for the first ten months totaled $12,217,201 after charges and taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $8.14 a share on the common stock. This compares with $18,097,978, or $12.32 a common share, for the like 1931 period. Net operating income for October was $2,685,744 as compared with $2,612,954 in the same month of 1931.

Union Pacific Reports.

Net operating income of Union Pacific for October amounted to $3,778,907, compared with $3,266,184 in September and $4,892,58 in October, 1931. Gross was $12,423,851, as against $11,330,839 and $14,934,314, respectively.

For the first ten months of 1932 net operating income amounted to $14,400,379, as against $18,534,678 for the similar period last year. Gross totaled $97,316,187, against $132,635,616.

Increases were also reported by the Alton, the Kansas City Southern, Nickle Plate, and the New York, Ontario and Western.

STERLING, FRANC WEAK, BUT POUND REGAINS ITS LOSS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 22.—The pound sterling and the franc weakened further today in anticipation of the adverse effects of payment of the December war debt installments.

Sterling sold down to $3.26⅝, the lowest price this year and ⅝c cheaper than the previous day's price, but recovered later to close unchanged at $3.27. The franc was off 5-16 point to 2.91 1-16 cents, the lowest price since July 28 last.

Reports from London to the effect that the British treasury might seek a banking credit here against the deposit of gold in London if it is compelled to meet the Dec. 15 payment were heavily discounted by bankers. Leading bankers said they had heard no word of such a plan and remarked that if the British government had any such idea in mind it would, presumably, have sounded out Wall street in advance.

For the first time in seven years western railroads reported total freight shipments turned upward in mid-November. The Milwaukee Road showed an increase of 12 per cent for the last week, the North Western 7, and the Santa Fé 2 per cent.

Union Carbide Maintains 30 Cents Quarterly Rate

The Union Carbide and Carbon corporation yesterday declared a dividend of 30 cents on the capital stock, payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 2. Similar payments were made in the two previous quarters.

CLOSED BOSTON BANKS TO PAY 25% BY CHRISTMAS

Boston, Mass., Nov. 22.—[Special.]—Boston storekeepers had a figurative preview of the 1932 Santa Claus today when it was announced that the receivers of the seven closed banks are to pay out $2,000,000 in dividends to depositors before Christmas. The Supreme court today authorized the bank commissioners to sanction the payments. Upwards of 70,000 depositors of the closed banking institutions will benefit by the disbursement of these previously frozen funds.

The court ordered dividend payments of 5 to 25 per cent. Six of the banks will have paid 25 per cent to savings depositors when today's order is complied with. The other, the Industrial Bank and Trust company, will have paid 42 per cent.

These payments have been hastened by borrowings from large Boston banks at favorable rates of interest under authority given Bank Commissioner Guy by the last legislature.

HEAVY BUYING SENDS PRICE OF WHEAT HIGHER

Report Cash Grain Storage Rates May Be Cut.

WHEAT PRICES IN GOLD

	Tues. day.	Mon- day.
Chicago, December	43¾c	42¾c
Winnipeg, December	39⅞c	39½c
Liverpool, December	50¾c	50¾c
Liverpool, No. 2 Man.	55¾c	55c
Buenos Aires, Febv.	39¼c	39¼c
Rotterdam, November	46¾c	46¾c

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Rumors that a movement was under way to lower storage rates on cash grain held in Chicago elevators started a short covering movement in December wheat yesterday, which swept the nearby future up 1¾c from the previous close to within 4¼c of the May delivery, against 5¼c at the finish on Monday. Buying of the nearby future, credited to short covering by several local professionals, absorbed the surplus in the pit early and later when the rumor started to go the rounds of the trade a general buying movement got under way.

Heavy buying of December against sales of May wheat was also in evidence, and the pit situation was the reverse of that of Monday, when there was little demand for the nearby future. The trade has been looking for the spread between the two months to widen to around 6c difference, and the sharp reversal of the action of the market was a distinct surprise to the local element.

Less Pressure on December.

It has been claimed for some time past that elevator interests generally were waiting for the December-May wheat spread to widen out before changing over hedges against cash grain into the distant future, and many local professionals were understood to have been short December and long May. It was the gossip of the trade that considerable backspreading had been done during the day and there was also buying of December wheat against sales of rye.

In addition to the rumor regarding the proposed change in storage rates on grain the trade had another rumor to the effect that the farm board needed cash grain to give to the American Red Cross and had taken the December in order to get it. The latter rumor, however, was scouted by interests who should be in a position to know.

Profit Taking Checks Bulge.

Selling against bids and profit taking made its appearance on the bulge in wheat and the December settled back toward the close, but finished ⅞c higher for the day at 43¾c, being about 4¾c under the May at the finish. The distant positions were ½c higher, with May at 48⅝@48½c to 49¾c and July 49¾@49¾c. The spread between the nearby and distant positions in Kansas City narrowed ¼c during the day, but at Minneapolis there was little change.

Routine news attracted little attention from the trade, and has been practically ignored for some time past. Liverpool closed ⅛@⅜c higher, with December at 50¾c, while Winnipeg was ⅝@⅞c higher. December in the latter closed at 46¼c in Canadian funds and at 39⅞c on a gold basis.

Reports of light frost in southwestern Argentina failed to bring in any buying orders for wheat, as no damage was claimed and the Buenos Aires market closed ⅛@⅜c lower, with February at 39¼c after selling within a fraction of the lowest price on the crop early in the day. Export demand was disappointing, although sales of 500,000 bu Manitobas were estimated in all positions.

Short Covering in Corn.

Strength in wheat was reflected to some extent in corn, but there was not the aggressive buying of December against sales of May so noticeable in the former grain. However, the spread in corn narrowed ¼c, with the December quoted around 47⅛c under the May at the last, against 5¼c at the close on Monday. Short covering lifted prices ¼@½c over Monday's finish. December showed the most strength. The latter closed at 25c, while May was 29¾@29⅞c and July 31⅝c.

Domestic shipping demand was only fair with sales of 50,000 bu, while the country sold 80,000 bu to arrive. Offerings were slightly larger owing to the relative strength in December corn. Weather over the belt was generally favorable for field work.

Oats showed increased activity and closed ¼@⅜c higher on commission house buying. December was 16⅜c and May 18⅝@18½c. Selling of rye against purchases of wheat by spreaders had a depressing effect on the former, which closed ½@⅝c higher, with December at 29¼c and May at 32¼c. Barley was ¼c higher at the last, but outside trade was relatively small. The Board of Trade has appointed a committee of 5 to work out the details incident to the delivery of malting barley on future contracts.

VESSELS FOR MONTREAL CANNOT GET GRAIN LOADS

Grain boats have been unable to obtain grain charters for Montreal within the last week and a half dozen or more steamers have been sent away for loads elsewhere, although they are said to have been willing to carry wheat or corn from Chicago to that port at 3½c. Reports from Montreal indicate that importing countries have booked all liner space available for Montreal this season and are already bidding for St. John liners for December loading.

Lake rates from Chicago to Buffalo are stronger, agents asking 1⅜c per bushel for wheat or corn and with 1½c bid. For a large part of the present season rates have been around 1¼@1⅜c per bushel. Insurance rates on hulls and cargoes advance at the end of November and carriers are slow to charter unless they get rates that cover expenses.

RUBBER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Crude rubber futures closed quiet. December, 3.33@3.35c; January, 3.39c; March, 3.50@3.52c; May, 3.57@3.58c. Smoked ribbed spot closed, 3.40c.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—SUGAR—Raw was easier today with spot prices off 8 points from the previous sale. Demand, however, was light, and the only sale reported was 18,000 bags of Philippines due Dec. 18 a local refiner at 3.00c. Continued evening up in the December position in advance of first notice day tomorrow was again the feature in the futures market. Although prices rallied from the extreme lows, particularly the late months, the undertone was unsettled. The day's transactions totaled about 81,400 tons. Prices follow:

	Open.	High	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.
January	.88	.89	.86	.86	.89

July	1.00	1.01	.98	1.00	1.01
September	1.04	1.05	1.03	1.05	1.05

Refined was unchanged. There were fair withdrawals on old contracts, but new business was light and supplied through resale offerings at around 4.15@4.17½c. Refiners' list prices were 4.25c.

HIDE FUTURES

Futures on the New York Hide Exchange showed a firm undertone with the close unchanged to 5 points higher. Sales were 320,000 lbs. Closing bids—old contracts—December, 4.00c; March, 5.35c. New contracts —December, 4.75c; March, 5.50c; June, 6.10c; September, 6.60c.

PRICES OF HOGS DECLINE; NEAR SEASON'S LOW

Cattle Market Also Sags; Lambs Do Better.

The market for hogs softened after Monday's mild rally and prices sagged 5@10c more yesterday, to close 10@15c under the preceding day and only 15@20c above the lowest spot of the year. There was nothing of an encouraging nature in news from the wholesale trade, where stiff competition from poultry has thrown the skids under pork prices, particularly the light loins that sold up to 15c at the high point two weeks ago. These show losses of 50@70c in ten days.

Yesterday's top hogs averaging 140@170 lbs at $3..0 showed 10c loss, while the general average at $3.30 was 5c under Monday's average. Few hogs weighing more than 200 lbs passed $3.35, while the majority of the 225@300 lb butchers late in the day changed hands at $3.25@3.30. Large local packers showed more willingness to buy after the market had weakened to this basis and few hogs were left in the pens at the close. Advance estimates indicated a lighter movement of supplies for today.

Cattle Sell Lower.

Cattle continued to drag into lower price channels, selling, on the average, at the lowest levels since 1911, considering the good quality of offerings and the large number of long feds in the receipts the first two days of this week. Many of the regular show exhibitors have been on the market with highly finished beeves that had been intended for the carlot exhibit, and this has helped to improve the general quality of beef offerings.

The trend of the cattle market is opposite that of a year ago and current quotations of top grades are $5.00 lower than at this time in 1931. In the last two months top cattle have declined $2.25@2.50. During the same period in 1931 top steers advanced $3.00. A month ago cattle were selling within $1.00@1.50 of the 1931 levels and two months ago top steers were 25c above 1931.

Reason for Decline.

Competition of relatively cheap pork and other low priced food products, as well as comparatively large receipts of cattle, are blamed for the poor showing of the market the last few weeks. The bulk of yesterday's supply of cattle sold in line with the low spot of Monday. Lightweights and yearlings ruled weak to 25c lower, moving slowly on that basis. A consignment of 18 steers originally intended for the show topped the market at $7.75, averaging 1,226 lbs. They were shipped to Sturtevant & Haley, a Boston house.

Twenty-eight prime yearlings averaging 1,021 lbs that were sorted from a string of cattle that will be exhibited in the carlot division sold at $7.50, the next highest sale of the day. Few others passed $7.00, with the bulk of steers at $5.25@6.75. Not many cows and heifers were offered, but demand was light and trading sluggish at weak to 25c lower prices. Calves advanced 25@50c.

Lambs Get Support.

Lambs got good support on yesterday's 25c bulge. Offerings were light and packers bought for numbers on the rise. The clearance was good in all classes. About 2,000 fed western lambs sold to packers and shippers under brisk competition at $5.75@6.00, six decks reaching the top. Natives bulked at $5.50@5.75, with city butchers paying $6.00 for hand picked selections. Matured sheep and yearlings ruled stronger. Good 100 lb native yearlings sold at $4.85.

According to reports from the wholesale trade the price of dressed lamb is evidently down where it is giving poultry some competition for the holiday consumer demand. Offerings have been held down to almost starvation proportions and the usual glut in evidence at this season has been averted this year.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 10,000 cattle, 17,000 hogs, and 13,000 sheep, against 11,537 cattle, 20,722 hogs, and 13,944 sheep the previous Wednesday and 12,261 cattle, 22,540 hogs, and 17,075 sheep a year ago.
